U. S. Loses Bill Johnson Tax Case

APPEALS COURT UPSETS 5 YEAR TERM AND FINE

Government to Ask for Rehearing.

In a 2 to 1 decision handed down yesterday, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the conviction and sentence of William R. Johnson, reputed Chicago gambling syndicate head, and five codefendants, who were found guilty last Oct. 12 of income tax evasion.

The effect of the decision will be to free Johnson and the five others unless the government is successful in obtaining a different decision upon a rehearing of the appeal, or unless it appeals the Circuit court's finding.

Albert Woll, United States district attorney, said yesterday he would file a motion for rehearing. If this is denied he will notify the United States attorney general, who will decide the advisability of appeal, Woll added. The government, however, almost never appeals a reversal in a criminal case.

Skidmore Case Parallel.

After reading the Johnson case opinion, legal authorities commented that two conditions upon which the reversal was based existed in the later trial of William R. Skidmore, partner of Johnson. Skidmore was convicted of income tax evasion last March 8 and sentenced to serve 2½ years in a federal penitentiary. His appeal now is before the Circuit Court of Appeals.

In the Johnson case the court's majority opinion, written by Judge J. Earl Major and concurred in by Judge Will M. Sparks, held that the six had been improperly indicted and convicted. Judge Evan A. Evans filed a dissenting minority opinion.

Johnson was sentenced by Judge John P. Barnes on Oct. 24 to serve five years in the federal penitentiary and to pay a $10,000 fine for the alleged evasion of almost 2 million dollars in income tax for the years 1936 to 1939 inclusive. The other defendants—with one exception proprietors of gambling houses—were convicted at the same trial of aiding and abetting Johnson in the evasion.

First Major Upset in 10 Years.

The reversal is the first major upset the government has met in more than 10 years of income prosecutions which have sent to prison Al Capone and many other underworld figures of the prohibition era.

Judge Major's chief attack upon the conviction was based upon the trial itself, tho many pages of the 28 page opinion were devoted to showing that the indictment was returned by an improperly impaneled grand jury. The conduct of the trial and the type of evidence submitted by the government came in for particular criticism.

"The offense charged was evasion of income tax—not gambling or operating gambling houses," the decision read in part. "A person reading the record, without knowledge of the charge, could reasonably conclude that the defendants were being tried on the latter charge."

This was an allusion to the long line of gamblers, gambling house patrons, shills, and others who testified at the Johnson trial. The wholesale volume of this type of evidence, Judge Major held, undoubtedly was damaging to the defendant and prejudicial to the jury. Much the same procedure was followed at the Skidmore trial, it was recalled.

"Undoubtedly" a Gambler.

"Johnson undoubtedly was a professional gambler and had been for years," the opinion went on. "He was not just an ordinary gambler, but one of towering stature among that fraternity. The co-defendants also admittedly were in the same business.

"It is of prime importance, however, to keep in mind that they were not charged with violation of any law pro-

BEAUTY GADGETS HIT BY PRIORITY

Hairpins Will Be Made of Wood or Plastics.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—Face powder, hairpins, cooking utensils, sporting goods, toys, electrical appliances, ash trays, and other gadgets on the counters of retail stores this fall are going to show the effects of the arms program, Office of Production Management officials said today.

Here are a few of the changes likely to be made:

Hairpins of wood or plastics instead of high-grade wires; cellophane, waxed paper and plastics wrappings instead of tinfoil for cheese, candy bars, chewing gum and tea; refrigerator trays of plastics or glass instead of aluminum; enamelware and iron utensils instead of aluminum.

Replace Nickel on Bicycle Lights.

The cork under bottle caps may be replaced with a rubber derivative or paper. The nickel in bicycle lights, horns and sirens may be supplanted by enamel steel.

Brass inflators for footballs will be supplanted by other metal; hickory shafts are likely to become more popular on golf clubs, for there will be little high-grade steel available; linen fishing lines may become scarce.

Stocks of toy trains, wagons, automobiles, coasters and scooters are reported adequate for the Christmas trade in most instances, but the production of roller skates is decreasing.

Curb Toy Phone Production.

One maker of toy telephone sets has curtailed production because of inability to get copper wire.

Zinc is the adherent base of much face powder, but manufacturers say that substitutes are being developed and consumers may not be able to discern the difference. Hair curlers and dryers and permanent wave machines are being made of materials other than aluminum.

Reports indicate that manufacturers are developing satisfactory substitutes for the metals used in toasters, waffle irons and other electrical products.

New Deal Plans $6,000 Limit on Homes; Cuts Auto Output

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—The Office of Production Management today ordered a 48.4 per cent slash in new automobile production next December, as compared with last December, and prepared to issue a priorities order curbing another major civilian industry—housing.

It was learned tonight that a new priorities order will be issued, probably tomorrow, placing "defense housing" ahead of other housing in the procurement of materials and fixtures. A ceiling of $6,000 will be placed on houses which cannot be considered part of the preparedness housing program.

Construction of homes above that figure will not be barred outright but because of a lower preference rating materials will be difficult to obtain and the effect will be virtually the same as mandatory restrictions. Cheaper housing will get priorities on materials, and equipment and construction of more expensive houses will be curbed.

Henderson in Control.

Both the new housing regulations and the automobile production slash came shortly after Leon Henderson, New Deal economist, obtained supervision over these industries last week.

Announcement of the automobile production cut was made after a meeting with Henderson of the automotive industry advisory committee and labor representatives. Manufacturers will be permitted to produce 204,848 passenger cars in December, against 396,823 last December.

OPM officials said the saving in materials, labor and facilities will be diverted to armament production.

Recalls Feud with Knudsen.

Henderson, who also holds the job of price administrator and heads the OPM division of civilian supply, was appointed head of OPM's automotive industry branch last Wednesday, giving him right of way over OPM Director General William S. Knudsen, in dictating automobile production.

A feud had developed over the procedure in switching automobile plants over to arms production. Knudsen favored a gradual change over as arms contracts were provided automobile companies, the amount of materials remaining to determine new automobile production. Henderson favored slashing production first and then converting plants to armament work.

These differences and growing criticisms of confusion in rearmament efforts finally prompted President Roosevelt last week to step in with a new plan which created the superagency, Supply Priorities and Allocations board, to oversee the program. Henderson emerged with greater powers.

Large Companies Suffer.

The OPM announcement said that the December curtailment will average 51½ per cent for the larger companies—General Motors, Chrysler, and Ford—but only 15.3 per cent for the other companies—Studebaker, Hudson, Nash, Packard, Willys-Overland, and Crosley—making the average reduction for all companies 48.4 per cent.

Together with the cut ordered previously, this means an overall reduction of 32.2 per cent for the first five months of the model year which began Aug. 1, or a total production of 1,023,217 new cars permitted, compared with 1,510,167 in the corresponding period of last year.

The OPM also announced that production of light trucks [those less than 1½ tons] for non-military purposes will be curtailed 9 per cent during the four months period of August to November, inclusive.

Plan New Restrictions

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, executive director of the supply priorities and allocation board, said tonight that the government would announce in a day or two a campaign to conserve materials, skilled manpower and machine tool capacity by simplifying the design of many items of consumer goods.

"We have only begun to feel the effects of this defense program," Nelson said. "We are compelled to use all of our materials, all of our men and all of our factories for the production of essentials. That means a lower standard of living for all of us."

GERMAN DRIVE TO SEIZE BALTIC ISLE REPULSED

Black Sea Ports of Rumania Raided.

MOSCOW, Sept. 16 [Tuesday] (AP).—Eight German vessels, including five troop-jammed transports, were sunk in the repulse of a Nazi landing attempt on the Baltic island of Oesel and in a clash in arctic waters, a soviet communique announced today.

Four transports and two destroyers were reported sunk last Saturday by soviet naval, air and shore units which smashed the Germans attacking Oesel, an island of 1,010 square miles area off Estonia where the Russians left strong forces after withdrawing from the Estonian mainland. The landing force was wiped out, the communique said, and an additional two transports and several torpedo boats were badly damaged.

Oesel lies athwart the entrance to Riga bay and guards the approaches to the Gulf of Finland. It has an irregular coastline, affording numerous hiding places for Red warships on the alert against any German effort to bottle up the soviet Baltic sea force. The northeast tip of the island is only about 15 miles from the Estonian mainland.

Bomb Rumanian Ports.

In the Arctic, off the far northern Finnish port of Petsamo, still another transport was declared sunk along with an escort vessel. The date of the action was not given.

Apparently out to smash any German effort to launch large scale operations in the Black sea on the far southern front, the Red air force heavily pounded Constanta and Sulina, on the Rumanian coast, and Galati, oil port on the Danube, last Saturday.

The defenders of Odessa, strongly supported by sailors of the Black sea fleet, were reported to have smashed redoubled German and Rumanian efforts to breach the besieged port's defenses. One Rumanian regiment was annihilated, the communique said.

The available information was to the effect that the soviet army of the northwest still was successfully defending Leningrad fortifications.

[German dispatches told of the Russians' fierce defense of Leningrad; but claimed repeated Red counterattacks with heavy tanks were beaten off and the Nazi forces were pressing in on the city in a yard by yard struggle thru formidable field forts. Story and maps on page 2.]

Little News of Dnieper Front.

As to the south, where the soviet command had acknowledged the fall of the railway junction of Kremenchug, on the Dnieper 175 miles below Kiev, there was little news.

[An authoritative quarter in London declared that the Russian evacuation of Kremenchug and a developing German thrust into the Perekop area to the south apparently had laid open the River Don, with its great industrial basin, to a German thrust which would meet no natural obstacles of consequence. Perekop lies 50 miles southeast of the lower Dnieper river on the narrow land neck connecting the Russian Crimea with the mainland.]

Red Guerrillas Effective.

Red guerrilla activity, it was declared, was becoming so much more effective that skeleton Nazi forces occupying 52 communities had been annihilated and several German expeditions sent to punish the raiders had been forced to return to base with great losses, leaving the guerrillas in control.

Listing specific areas where Russian irregulars had been active, the communique reported that in the Polessyc region alone guerrillas had blown up 20 ammunition dumps, 46 oil depots, 115 provision transports, and 47 supply transports.

German garrisons withdrawn for forced marches to the front, it was added, were in many cases "replaced by village elders recruited from among former kulaks [land owners], White guards and criminals. No sooner had the German garrison left the district centers and neighboring villages than guerrillas began to eradicate the Fascist [Nazi] appointees. Some of them fled; many were shot."

LEGION PRO-WAR STEAM ROLLER GETS UNDER WAY

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15.—Opponents of intervention tonight charged that the pro-war machine oiled by national officers had begun to roll in the opening session of the American Legion national convention.

They pointed to the warlike demands made by opening day speakers, and they called attention to the makeup of a subcommittee of the foreign relations body appointed to prepare a convention resolution on war or peace.

State Senator Nicholas Hubbard of Illinois, a delegate to the convention, reiterated his charge that Legion officers are prepared to steamroller a strong war pronouncement thru the meeting in return for administration favors. Hubbard pointed to the day's program as substantiation of his charges.

"Not Neutral," Says La Guardia.

After Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox had announced that the American navy tomorrow will begin convoys to Iceland, Fiorello La Guardia, mayor of New York and director of civilian defense, told the Legionnaires to "make no mistake—this country is not neutral."

Before these speeches National Commander Milo J. Warner had urged unquestioning support of President Roosevelt.

"It looks like the only chance for the 80 per cent of the Legionnaires who want to stay out of the war is a fight on the floor of the convention," said Hubbard. "And there seems to be a slim chance of that in this convention."

Hamilton Fish Stalks Out.

Congressman Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], who wrote the preamble of the Legion constitution, a surprise visitor at the opening session, was reported to have stalked out of the hall after hearing part of the proceedings. He is opposed to intervention in the European war.

Hubbard and other opponents of the warlike attitude of the convention leadership viewed with dismay the makeup of the foreign relations subcommittee. This body, as appointed today, includes Louis Johnson, former assistant secretary of war; Clint Broome of Nebraska, John D. Ewing of Shreveport, La.; Ansell McCook of Connecticut, Charles S. Cook of Pennsylvania, Drury Phillips of Texas, and Ray J. Murphy, former national commander of the Legion and newly appointed regional director of civilian defense under La Guardia.

The members were charged with the duty of submitting on Wednesday morning a single resolution on foreign relations for consideration by the entire committee. This will entail the weeding out, boiling down, and rewriting of a series of controversial resolutions on war or peace.

Expected to Echo Knox.

It was not explained how the committee could consolidate resolutions on opposite sides of the controversial question into a single resolution. It was reported that the committee in reality will come back with proposed legislation echoing the words of Knox and La Guardia.

"A number of these resolutions were on convoys," said Johnson tonight. "These, of course, are outdated since the speech of Secretary Knox which made convoys an accomplished fact."

While the opening session speakers were demanding war, the convention proper, with its 1,454 delegates, nearly 100,000 visitors, colorful parades, and raucous fun makers, got under way with a flourish.

Hear Welcome Addresses.

The Legionnaires heard addresses of welcome by Julius P. Heil, governor of Wisconsin; Mayor Carl Zeidler of Milwaukee, Frank L. Greenya, president of the convention corporation, and George A. Weber, retiring state commander.

Senator Harold H. Burton [R., O.], in greeting the convention visitors, asserted that to preserve America's freedom means to preserve our 48 states, insular possessions, the western hemisphere, and our ideals.

"This does not mean," he added, "that we will fight some one else's wars. It does mean, however, that we will unite in keeping secure, at all costs, all of the territory and all of the principles for which our fathers and our comrades have sacrificed so much."

They participated in an impressive ceremony in tribute to the Legion dead. Lucy Monroe, the Star-Spangled Banner soprano of service organizations, sang, and the mournful notes of taps sounded thru the auditorium.

As an adjunct to the convention the colorful 40 and 8 parade of Legion fun makers drew an estimated 100,000 to the streets. A continuous volley of shots from parade equipages kept the spectators alert.

F. D. R. AND AIDS PUSH WAR DRIVE ON WIDE FRONT

Confer on Revising Neutrality Law.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—Plans to pour billions of dollars into the war against Germany and Italy and to send armed American merchant ships directly to the ports of the British Isles were discussed with congressional leaders by President Roosevelt today. The day's developments in the President's war program included:

1. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, in an address to the American Legion convention in Milwaukee, Wis., announced that beginning tomorrow the United States navy "will provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies" between America and waters "adjacent to Iceland." The speech was interpreted as an announcement that American ships will be placed in convoying service. [Details on page 4.]

2. The state department announced a ruling by Attorney General Francis Biddle on the 1939 neutrality act which would permit American ships to carry war supplies and passengers to all parts of the British empire except the United Kingdom, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and areas included in "combat zones" proclaimed by the President. [Details on page 3.]

3. The President discussed with congressional leaders the proposition of repealing or modifying the neutrality act in order to permit the arming of American merchant ships and their entry into the war zone around the British Isles. Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] said no conclusion was reached, but other sources said congress soon would be called on to deal with the neutrality law.

4. Congressional leaders were told that on Thursday Mr. Roosevelt will send a message to congress requesting additional lend-lease funds aggregating about 6 billion dollars for aid to foreign countries.

5. Mr. Roosevelt transmitted to congress a report on the disposition of the 7 billion dollars already appropriated under the lend-lease act of March 11, 1941. It disclosed that a total of $6,281,237,421 has been allocated, $3,555,587,895 has been obligated for expenditure, and only $388,912,115 has been spent.

Senate Reaction Missing.

As these new moves were being disclosed, not a word was uttered in the senate respecting the President's momentous announcement of last week that American naval forces would shoot first to protect the lines of supply to the enemies of Adolf Hitler from attack by axis war craft.

There were only scattered references to the President's declaration in the house. Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] said the President had declared a "shooting war on the high seas" in "complete disregard of his oath of office, of his constitutional power, and of what the American people want."

Senate noninterventionists said they would hold their fire until confronted by legislative steps—the new lend-lease appropriation and the proposal to repeal the neutrality act.

Hopes for Congress Check.

Representative Stephen A. Day [R., Ill.] said the constitutional power of congress to declare war had been usurped by the President, but that congress could assert its authority thru its control of the purse strings. He said he would oppose any further lend-lease appropriation and would offer an amendment forbidding use of such funds to aid communist Russia.

Some members of congress said the President's message reporting on the disposition of lend-lease funds thus far appropriated sounded like a fireside war chat, with more emphasis on argument than on figures.

"The people of the United States know that we cannot live in a world dominated by Hitlerism," the President said.

"To those peoples who are gallantly shedding their blood in the front lines of this struggle we must offer not only a shield but a sword, not merely the means to permit the stalemate of protracted defense but the tools of a final and total victory.

"This country has evolved the

NAZI ARMY TELLS OF LENINGRAD'S FIERCE DEFENSE

Claim Repulse of Big Tank Counter-Attacks.

BERLIN, Sept. 15 (AP).—The German armies claimed tonight they had beaten off repeated Russian counterattacks supported by heavy tanks in a great and continuing struggle yard by yard for possession of powerful modern fortifications of Leningrad.

The semi-circular line of men and steel seeking to throttle that second largest city of Russia steadily pressed inward, the high command said, but was meeting the most stubborn resistance from inner Red positions which were pictured in other accounts as obstacles fully as formidable as any ever breasted by German forces.

Against numerous soviet bunkers [field forts] in great depth—some bunkers had steel and concrete walls 6 feet thick and were equipped with revolving gun cupolas—the Germans hurled their heaviest artillery, tanks and bombers and sent crack infantry surging in behind.

Within 15 Miles of Center.

At some points, informed sources said, German troops have pushed to within 15 miles of the center of Leningrad.

To reach these positions, it was said, the Germans had to break thru 75 miles of defenses in which tank traps 9 feet wide and 6 feet deep forced the advancing Germans virtually to discard mechanized warfare in favor of close quarter combat.

Felled trees have been laid as obstructions and within the forests wires have been strung from tree to tree. Also thousands of land mines must be removed by engineers ahead of the German advance.

Some sources estimated that 4,500,000 persons are trapped in the Leningrad region in a space roughly of 1,900 square miles.

The Nazis declared they can take the city house by house, if necessary, in which case they said losses would be "extremely bloody."

Bomb Reds on Island.

Ranging over northern waters, German airmen "effectively attacked" Red army forces still clinging to Oesel island, at the mouth of the Gulf of Riga, DNB, the official news agency said.

As to the second major Russian city besieged, Odessa, in the far south on the Black sea, authorized persons said that it was being approached by German experts in flame-throwing and bunker-storming and that house-to-house fighting was bringing the Germans forward step by step.

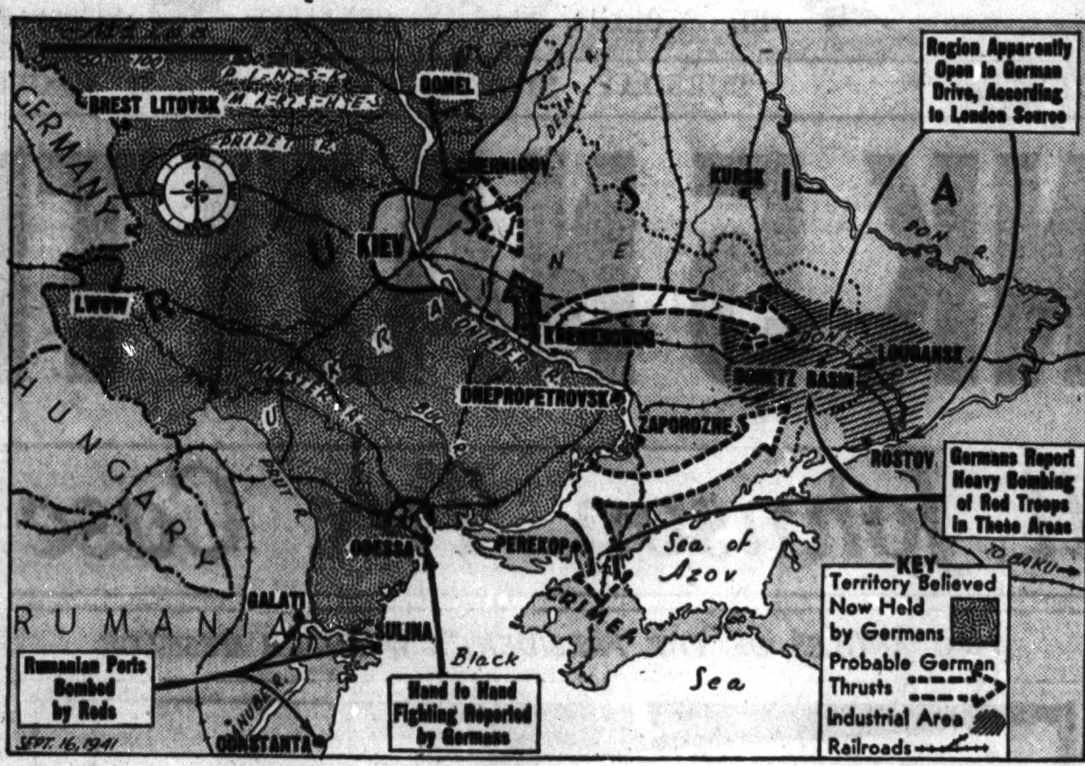
Nazi dive bombers were attacking soviet artillery emplacements and troop concentrations in the Donetz valley, east of the Dnieper river, and on the isthmus connecting the Crimea to the Russian mainland.

"Deadly Havoc" in Leningrad.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 15 (AP).—Great fires have been set inside Leningrad by a steady German artillery pounding which is creating deadly havoc in parks and streets crowded with refugees from outside the city, Finnish army correspondents reported tonight from the front.

Developments in German Drive on the Ukraine

(Stories on page 1 and in adjoining column.)



Captions indicate developments in the Ukraine sector of the eastern front, where Russian forces are fighting desperately to stem the German drives toward the Ukraine. HARRIMAN AND BRITISH CONFER ON ARMING REDS

W. Averell Harriman.

LONDON, Sept. 15 (AP).—W. Averell Harriman rushed into conferences with the British tonight to find out how many guns, tanks, and planes from the United States they will spare to Russia. The American delegation, which he heads, wants to obtain this information before it hurries on to Moscow for British-United States-Russian conferences to complete a plan of deliveries.

Within an hour after he and other top members of the United States mission arrived from the bombers which flew them across the Atlantic, Harriman had begun conversations in which Prime Minister Churchill and British army, navy, and air experts were expected to participate. He dined with Churchill tonight.

The pressure for speed was indicated by announcement of expanding British aid to Russia and by reports from the German-Russian front indicating acute danger for the Red army in the Ukraine.

Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, said that every tank turned out from British factories next week will immediately go to the eastern front.

Harriman said:

"We are anxious to get to Moscow. We shall have consultations with Lord Beaverbrook and then hope to get away as soon as possible."

Harriman's big job during his stay in London will be to establish equipment priorities satisfactory to both Britain and Russia.

The Russians, who have been expending vast amounts of material and whose own production has been cut by German gains in the Ukraine and threats to Leningrad and Kiev, are pressing for everything they can get. They are said to be anxious particularly about the availability of supplies for campaigns next spring.

The British consider Britain's needs no less urgent and declare they expect violent renewal of the German air offensive this winter. They contend also that movements of axis convoys in the Mediterranean and activity on the Libyan front are forerunners of big campaigns in Africa.

The British economic mission to Moscow, with Lord Beaverbrook as its head, was appointed. It includes a military mission now in Moscow—Lieut. Gen. F. M. Mason-MacFarlane, Rear Admiral Miles, and Air Vice Marshal A. C. Collier—and these other members from London: Capt. H. H. Balfour, undersecretary of state for air; Maj. Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay, and Maj. Gen. G. N. MacReady.

Olson, of Concord, Neb., and Boise, Idaho, was listed as "missing and believed killed in action." The others are Sergt. E. J. Masse of Taunton, Mass., wounded in action, and Sergt. G. R. Menish of Salina, Kas., Sergt. C. Deges, Second Aircraftsman Class E. R. Jack, and Sergt. E. A. R. Thompson, missing. The home towns of the last three were not stated.

30,000 NANKING TROOPS MUTINY AND KILL 600 JAPS

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 15 (AP).—Thirty thousand Chinese troops of the Japanese-dominated Nanking regime mutinied in north Honan province last week, killed a number of Japanese officers and began fighting under the banner of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chungking government, the national military council reported tonight.

The council said the troops mutinied during an inspection by 50 Japanese officers. Many of these officers were killed and those who survived were taken prisoner, it added.

After the uprising, the Chinese were said to have attacked Japanese troops at the Yellow river town of Wenhsien, killed 600 of the foe and occupied the town.

Another Chinese announcement said Chinese troops dislodged the Japanese garrison from Tungshan, highway center in southern Hupei province, and killed 800 of the invaders.

ARGENTINE VOTE OF CENSURE MAY OUST NAZI ENVOY

Edmund von Thermann.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 15 (AP).—The Argentine congress voted with but one dissenting voice today for the expulsion within three days of the ringleaders of Nazi undercover organizations. Among them, as listed by a congressional committee investigating subversive activities, is the German ambassador, Edmund von Thermann.

The Nazi envoy was not mentioned by name in the ouster resolution, but it censured him for abusing diplomatic privileges in a form that holds him persona non grata in Argentina.

Vote 79 to 1.

It was the first time since the war's outbreak that an axis envoy of top rank has been the target of such drastic action by a neutral nation in the western hemisphere.

The vote was 79 to 1. The dissenter, Conservative Daniel Videla Dorna, contended the demand was an unconstitutional legislative intrusion into executive power.

The ouster resolution was addressed to Ramon S. Castillo, acting president, for action immediately, thereby posing a delicate problem for the chief executive who has been plotting a course of "neutrality toward all" for Argentina.

Envoy May Refuse.

Von Thermann declared yesterday that if he leaves he would have to be asked to go, that he had no intention of going voluntarily. Informed quarters said the foreign office was taking the position that the ambassador should go on the grounds of personal indiscretions, thus preventing a break in German-Argentine relations.

The congressional committee has accused Von Thermann of being paymaster for Nazi undercover groups in South America and of being head of an almost military organization in Argentina.

BIDDLE'S RULING DEFINES AREAS FOR U. S. SHIPS

Holds Vessels May Go to Many Empire Ports.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—The state department tonight announced a ruling by Attorney General Francis Biddle permitting American ships to carry arms, munitions, and passengers to many areas of the far-flung British empire.

Under the ruling the ships carrying war implements may go to all parts of the British empire other than the United Kingdom, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and areas included in "combat zones" delineated by the President.

Under the neutrality act, when the President finds a state of war to exist, American ships must not carry arms and munitions to the belligerents. On Nov. 4, 1939, the President issued a proclamation recognizing a state of war between Germany on the one hand and the United Kingdom, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa on the other.

Biddle Asked for Opinion.

On Aug. 27, the attorney general was asked whether the terms of the proclamation applied also to British overseas areas not expressly enumerated.

Biddle concluded that the terms of the document included only England, Wales, Scotland, and Northern Ireland, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa.

State department officials said this meant that American ships could carry arms and ammunition to such British colonies as British East Africa, including Kenya colony and British Somaliland; British West Africa, the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Aden and Perim, near the Arabian coast, and Sokotra, at the entrance to the Red sea.

It also meant, the officials added, that arms bearing American vessels can go to Burma, Malaya, the Straits Settlements, the Federated Malay States, British North Borneo, Brunei, and Sarawak, in the South Pacific.

Other Areas Enumerated.

Such shipments also may go to the Fiji and Pacific islands owned by the British and these areas in the western hemisphere: Bermuda, Falkland Islands, British Guiana, British Honduras, British West Indies, Newfoundland, and Labrador.

The ruling, a department announcement said, does not permit such shipments to Presidentially proclaimed combat areas. Officials indicated they felt the chief importance of tonight's announcement was to answer many queries as to where American vessels may or may not carry implements of war in connection with the aid to Britain program.

After citing numerous authorities, Biddle declared:

"It is my opinion that the term 'United Kingdom' as used in the proclamation of Nov. 4, 1939, is properly to be construed as including only England, Wales, Scotland, and Northern Ireland and not the overseas territories and possessions of the British empire."

Interpretation Is Given.

"Accordingly," the state department announced, "transportation of passengers, any articles or materials, including arms, ammunition, or implements of war, to the overseas colonies and possessions of Great Britain which are not in a combat area and which are not specifically enumerated in the proclamation of Nov. 4, 1939, is not prohibited by the neutrality act of 1939."

The President's combat zone proclamation of Nov. 4 closed to American ships all navigable waters beginning at the intersection of the French-Spanish border at Hendaye on the Bay of Biscayne, extending westward, then northward, to take in all the British Isles to a point northeast of the Shetland Islands, thence down to the southeast tip of Norway, but leaving Bergen and other northern Norwegian ports open. On April 10, 1941, the original zone was extended into the arctic to cover all of Norway and the whole Kola peninsula of Russia.

On June 11, 1940, the entire Mediterranean was closed at both ends. This proclamation was amended on April 11, 1941, to permit American ships to go around Africa and into the Red sea.

How Ruling Affects American Shipping to British Areas

Boxes around the edge of this map indicate British empire areas to which United States ships may carry supplies under ruling by Attorney General Francis Biddle made public by the state department in Washington last night. Under the neutrality act, American ships have not been permitted to carry goods to belligerents when the President finds a state of war to exist.

BRITISH PURSUE 2 AXIS COLUMNS IN AFRICAN DESERT

Smash 35 Mile Drive Into Egypt.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 15.—British desert troops today were pursuing two axis columns which were forced to retreat after advancing 35 miles into Egyptian territory yesterday in a scouting raid.

The axis forces, headed by tanks and armored cars, slipped across the Egyptian frontier from Libya, some 34 miles south of Sofafi. British mechanized patrols discovered the columns and attacked them with the support of machine gunning planes. The columns, suffering heavy damage and losses, were hurled back into Libya. One German medium tank and its crew were captured.

At Tobruk, where the British have been besieged since mid-April, the defenders captured three German tanks when axis forces attacked in "retaliation" for a series of British raids on their positions around the Libyan port.

Kill 20 Axis Soldiers.

One British patrol brought back an Italian officer and three soldiers who were captured at one axis post Saturday night. At two other points there was hand to hand fighting. Twenty German and Italian soldiers were killed.

Before returning, the British raiders destroyed one field gun and one anti-aircraft gun. Axis troops, supported by tanks, counterattacked. They smashed a British listening post manned by six men. British tanks entered the fray and captured the three axis tanks. Artillery fire dispersed the rest of the attacking force.

[The Italians announced that Tobruk's defense lines had been penetrated at Sidi Belgasem.]

Recent reports of British aerial attacks on axis convoys in the Mediterranean indicate increasing efforts on the part of Germany and Italy to reinforce their African army. The British now have more than 500,000 troops in the middle east.

Find Burning Ship.

The RAF today said that one axis ship, believed to have been from a convoy out of which 10 were sunk or damaged in two days, was found burning at Zuala. It blew up in a violent explosion, the British said. In addition the RAF again raided Tripoli, Bengazi, and other points.

The British acknowledged that axis planes raided the Alexandria naval base last night, but said the damage was slight.

[German planes Sunday night bombed British encampments, tank, and motor vehicles on the Sollum front, the "no man's land" between British and axis lines on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, the Berlin high command said.]

The RAF said that 14 axis planes were destroyed yesterday by fighter craft and anti-aircraft fire over the frontier zone. Seven British planes were lost.

State of Siege in Norway Is Lifted by Germans

BERLIN, Sept. 16 [Tuesday] (AP).—The state of civil siege of Oslo and suburbs was lifted at 5 a. m. today by Joseph Terboven, German commissioner, DNB said in a dispatch from the Norwegian capital. It had been in effect exactly a week.

Since the state of siege [a form of martial law] was declared last Wednesday German authorities have executed two Norwegian labor leaders and arrested between 250 and 300 union leaders in the Oslo district alone.

AMERICA FIRST SEEKS SHOWDOWN ON FREE SPEECH

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15 [Special].—The Oregon chapter of the America First committee announced today that it will file a mandamus action to compel the Portland school board to grant the use of the school auditorium for America First committee speakers. This decision was reached as a result of the board's refusal to lease the hall for a meeting on Sept. 22, to be addressed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.].

The America First committee, thru its chairman, Dellmore Lessard, charges that the Portland school board has set itself up as a dictator on who and what the public shall hear, contrary to law and in violation of the United States constitution.

The contemplated mandamus action is not intended to clear the way for Senator Wheeler's address, but rather to establish the right of free speech and free assembly. Other arrangements will be made for the meeting on Sept. 22. The local chapter of America First has applied to the city council for use of the city auditorium on the scheduled date. The council will hold a public hearing and vote on the application Wednesday.

VATICAN city, Sept. 15 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. asked Catholics thruout the world today to pray during the month of October for a shortening of the war.

His appeal was made to bishops thru papal representatives in each country, the Vatican city newspaper, Il Osservatore Romano, announced.

The pope's call to special prayers for peace was similar to those he has made during the last two years at the approach of October, the month dedicated to the Madonna in the Catholic calendar.

LONDON PAPER HAILS U. S. NAVY 'WAR ON U-BOATS'

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 15 [Tuesday].—The speech of Secretary of Navy Frank Knox before the American Legion convention in Milwaukee yesterday was prominently displayed in this morning's newspapers.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express carried Knox's announcement that the United States navy will convoy ships to Iceland under a six column headline on the front page: "U. S. Navy Starts War on U-Boats Today."

A Daily Mail dispatch from Washington, D. C., said: "The first battle of the war between units of the American and German navies may be close at hand."

The British Broadcasting corporation in its midnight news described Knox's speech as a "real American answer" to the Germans.

HUNGRY GREEKS DROP IN STREETS, TRAVELER SAYS

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 15 (AP).—Greeks in Athens are collapsing in the streets from hunger and their suffering is being shared by British and Australian soldiers who failed to escape and are hiding in small towns and mountain villages, a recently arrived neutral observer reported today.

The situation of allied soldiers left behind in the withdrawal from Greece was said to be especially difficult because they are without credentials for obtaining food.

The traveler said the food situation was made increasingly acute by a ban prohibiting fishermen from going more than five miles off shore. This, he explained, was ordered largely because a number of Greeks, British, and Australians were escaping in fishing boats.

NAVY TO CONVOY SHIPS TO ICELAND, KNOX DISCLOSES

Tells Legion of Orders Effective Today.

ON W-G-N TODAY.

A description of the American Legion parade in Milwaukee will be broadcast on W-G-N from 1:45 to 2:15 p. m. [Chicago daylight time] today. From 8:30 to 8:45 p. m. W-G-N will broadcast an address by Col. John T. Taylor, national legislative director of the American Legion, and singing by the Legion championship male chorus.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox opened the American Legion convention today with a bristling speech interpreted by listeners to be an announcement of convoys and a virtual declaration of war on the axis powers.

"Beginning tomorrow," Knox told the Legionnaires, "the American navy will provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland. These ships are ordered to capture, or destroy by every means at their disposal, axis-controled submarines or surface raiders encountered in these waters."

Means Convoys, Says Clark.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], a founder and past national commander of the Legion, held that the phrase "protection as adequate as we can make it" was a declaration that United States ships are to be used in convoying service.

"It seems to all intents and purposes to be an act of war," said Clark of the rest of the Knox assertion, "and in violation of the constitution, as congress is the only body with the power to declare war. That is what Knox has been trying for ever since he got into the cabinet."

After the speech, Secretary Knox was asked: "Does 'protection as adequate as we can make it' mean convoys?" and "Is the order to destroy submarines a declaration of war?"

"No comment," he said tersely. "It [the speech] speaks for itself."

Attacks America First Group.

In speaking of the incident which involved the American destroyer Greer and a German submarine, Knox made an attack upon the America First committee.

"The whole issue is far too broad to make the question of who fired first of great importance," the secretary said. "I allude to it chiefly because it offered a chance for that curious organization known as the America First committee to tell the American public that, in its judgment, it was more likely the German U-boat commander was telling the truth than the American naval officer who commanded the Greer.

"That is an important fact for the American public to digest: that we have in our midst an organization of American citizens who, on a question of veracity, declare publicly that they prefer to accept the word of a piratical murderer of women and children on the high seas, engaged in a type of warfare denounced by every civilized nation in the world, rather than accept the word of an American commander of an American warship."

Knox's Own Words Greet Him.

When Knox arrived in Milwaukee for his speech he was greeted by a half page advertisment in a local newspaper. The advertisment, signed by Lansing Hoyt, Wisconsin chairman of the America First committee, contained a quotation credited to the secretary of the navy.

"President Roosevelt is without doubt the greatest autocrat in the history of the country," Knox said at an earlier date, according to the quotation. "He has callously repudiated not only his own preëlection promsies but the solemn pledges of his party. It is bad enough to have for President in time of peace a man who is overconfident, incautious, self-willed, uncertain, and unreliable; in time of war it would be disastrous."

The advertisment asked: "When Secretary of the Navy Knox speaks to the American Legion delegates today, will he tell the Legionnaires what he told the people of America not so long ago?"

1ST DIVISION VETS MEET AT ANNUAL REUNION DINNER

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15 [Special].—More than 100 veterans of the 1st division, the first American army division to reach France in June, 1917, and the last to leave in September, 1919, met at a reunion dinner tonight with their commanding officer, Gen. Charles P. Summerall. Gen. Summerall has served as president of the Society of the 1st Division for all the 21 years since it was organized.

The general's address was intimate and informal. He spoke of the services and accomplishments of the division and the bonds that unite veterans who served in great battles together, who suffered great losses together, and who won great victories.

Gen. Summerall described the function of the society to keep alive the spirit that actuated the men in battle and emphasized as one of the privileges their right to meet on such occasions as tonight's and to keep alive the spirit of the division. The 1st division participated in every battle of the American forces and earned the right to carry 11 battle designations on its colors.

At each dinner place was a card carrying a reminder of the comment of Gen. John J. Pershing about the 1st division, a comment that now occupies a high place in its traditions.

"The commander in chief has noted in this division a special pride of service and a high state of morale never broken by hardship or battle," Gen. Pershing observed, in a general order. Records of the 1st division show a loss of 4,411 deaths in battle, and 17,201 wounded.

Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, Chicago, was toastmaster. Dr. E. H. Maurer, Milwaukee, was chairman of the reunion committee and its members were H. A. Higgins, Frank Hinek, O. Lyman Dwight, Alex Mecklenberg, D. B. Dwight, John J. Kocain, Carl Heiden, Frank Reuter, Walter Fosmire, Thomas W. Blakely, and Anthony Vogt.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, commander of the 6th field artillery regiment, one of the units of the division, was present earlier, but was compelled to leave before the dinner hour.

HERBERT HOOVER TO SPEAK OVER RADIO TONIGHT

Former President Herbert Hoover will deliver an address from the Chicago studios of the Columbia Broadcasting system from 9:15 to 9:45 o'clock tonight. His speech, which will be on a coast-to-coast network, will be entitled "The Crisis."

Mr. Hoover, the only living ex-President, arrived from New York by train yesterday and went to the office of his old friend, Arch W. Shaw, 135 South La Salle street.

Mr. Hoover passed the night at the Shaw home in Winnetka. After tonight's broadcast he will leave by plane for his home in Palo Alto, Cal.

greatest and most efficient industrial system in history. It is our task to turn the workshops of our industry into mighty forges of war—to outbuild the aggressors in every category of modern arms. Only in this way can we build the arsenal of democracy.

"On this task we are now engaged with ever increasing vigor. Planes, tanks, guns, and ships have begun to flow from our factories and yards, and the flow will accelerate from day to day, until the stream becomes a river, and the river a torrent, engulfing this totalitarian tyranny which seeks to dominate the world."

Figures Show a Contrast.

Contrasting with the President's rhetoric were the figures he cited. These supported the contention of Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] that the administration's 60 billion dollar preparedness program is a fiasco both from the standpoint of aiding Great Britain and equipping this country's own armed forces.

Actual exports of lend-lease materials to all foreign countries, as of Aug. 31, according to the President's report, aggregated only $190,447,670, of which amount $118,074,538 represented agricultural, industrial, and other commodities.

[Lend-lease exports as of Aug. 31 by categories of materials are shown in table in adjoining column.]

The report said a total of $246,394,372 of war materials have been transferred to the account of foreign countries. This includes the $190,447,670 already exported. In addition, the report said, the aid thus far given has included repairs of war vessels, partial transfers, and services valued at $78,169,377.

Abuse of Funds Denied.

Mr. Roosevelt's report denied charges that the British have abused the lend-lease program, but he did not reply to the challenge of Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] that he open the books for public inspection.

"No requests for such items as living or administrative expenses of any foreign purchasing commission or agency have been made," the report said.

The report specifically denied that Britain has been using lend-lease materials to compete with American exporters in foreign markets, but did not specifically deny that materials similar to those obtained by Britain under the lend-lease program are used in products exported by Britain.

"The competition complained of," the report stated, "was clearly competition from Britain's own products, and occurred at a time when Britain was rapidly depleting her own capital resources in America in order to pay for her war supplies.

Tells Competition Decline.

"This competition is steadily decreasing. British exports have declined precipitately in volume since 1937. For example, United Kingdom exports of iron and steel manufactures to points outside the empire dropped 70 per cent from 1937 to 1940. Exports of machinery and cotton piece goods each dropped 60 per cent in the same period.

"The first 6 months of 1941 showed an even more drastic decline. For this period exports of iron and steel manufactures dropped a further 51 per cent from the already low level of 1940, exports of machinery dropped a further 46 per cent, and exports of cotton piece goods dropped a further 55 per cent."

LA GUARDIA OUT OF CITY AS IRATE MOTHERS CALL

New York, Sept. 15 [Special].—Some 100 determined mothers called at the city hall today to protest to Mayor Fiorello La Guardia against air raid drills in schools and other war measures only to learn that the mayor was off on one of his frequent trips.

"He's not in," a policeman told the delegation. "He's in Milwaukee making a speech." Mrs. Rose Lombardo of Corona, Queens, said the President's speech Thursday night had roused the mothers to action.

"We are determined to keep our sons from fighting on foreign shores," she said. "Mayor La Guardia is the biggest war monger that we have. We resent his instilling in our school children the war fever. We are for America, not for any foreign country."

THANKS CHICAGO RED CROSS FOR AID TO ENGLAND

Lady Mountbatten.

Lady Mountbatten, wife of Capt. Lord Mountbatten, cousin of King George VI. of Great Britain, arrived in Chicago by plane from St. Louis, Mo., last night to express her thanks to Chicago Red Cross workers for the war relief they have sent to England.

"The women of England are immensely grateful for this help," Lady Mountbatten said. She was welcomed at the airport by six members of the women's motor corps of the Chicago Red Cross, headed by Adjutant Harriet McLaughlin.

Lady Mountbatten was attired in a semi-military uniform of slate blue. Today she is to visit the British War Relief society headquarters, attend a luncheon at the Chicago Woman's club, and give Red Cross workers a report on Red Cross contributions overseas. Her husband recently was made commander of the British aircraft carrier Illustrious in a ceremony at the naval yard in Norfolk, Va.

Lonely for Wife, Deserter Tells Police After Arrest

Lonesomeness for his wife, Caroline, an expectant mother, caused Alexander Geller, 20 years old, 321 West 60th street, to desert the army, he told police last night after his arrest. He was a member of the 124th field artillery, now engaged in maneuvers near Arcadia, La. Geller enlisted in the artillery unit last Oct. 3. He deserted Sept. 7, hitch-hiked home, and found a job as a gasoline station attendant. He planned to return to his regiment after he had earned enough money to provide for proper hospital care for his wife, he said.

CUDAHY WARNS OF HUGE COSTS IF U. S. ENTERS WAR

Charges Welles Ignored Report on Nazis.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, declined to listen to confidential information brought from Germany by John Cudahy, Milwaukee, former ambassador to Poland and Belgium, Cudahy tonight told members of the army's Polar Bear [85th] division at their memorial dinner at the Eagles club here tonight.

Cudahy was an officer in the division during its service in Siberia during the first world war. He related how the state department turned its back on first hand news he brought from Berlin last autumn. He also said 80 million Germans are united back of Hitler and that he does not believe any one has proposed a sound plan for defeating Germany. If the United States should choose to go to war, he asserted, the cost would be tremendous.

Once Ardent New Dealer.

A prominent democrat, Cudahy had served as a diplomat during two terms of the New Deal, and along with Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to England, had campaigned for reëlection of President Roosevelt last year. He explained later that he did this because he believed the President had the experience and the ability to keep this country out of war.

Cudahy said he hurried back from Germany after his interview with Hitler believing the information he had acquired would be of great value to the state department and to the nation.

"The secretary of state, Cordell Hull, was away from his office ill," the former ambassador said tonight. "I was told by Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, that my presence in Washington was not desired and that he did not think it advisable for me to come for a conference, because of press speculation and comment."

Eighty Million to Defeat.

The former ambassador also told the 85th division that war with Germany would mean that not Hitler alone but 80 million people would have to be defeated. "I can assure you," he said, "that the German people are as much behind Hitler as the American people are behind President Roosevelt."

It is mere wishful thinking, Cudahy declared, to believe that a defeat in Russia will mean a decisive turn of the war against Germany.

"Strategically," he declared, "Germany still must be attacked as master of the European continent which it will defend with a military strength of 300 divisions, about nine million men under arms, 15 panzer divisions, an aviation force of 30,000 fighting planes, and a capacity of building more planes at the rate of 3,000 a month and 300 submarines. These figures are not exact but you can be sure they are on the conservative side.

"You can also be sure there is no hope of starving out Germany by the blockade. Enough rations are set aside for this year and for an indefinite period."

Watched Nazis' Growth.

Former Ambassador Cudahy has spent much time in Germany ever since he was first appointed ambassador to Poland early in the New Deal administration. At close range, he watched the growth of the Hitler movement. He was in Belgium when Hitler invaded that country and was the first to report the invasion to the United States.

"No one has yet to my knowledge proposed a feasible plan whereby the Germans may be defeated," he continued in his prepared address to the veterans. "And no one has given thought to what the cost may be.

"In the last war, the allies, France and England, had control of the channel ports, and we landed on French soil without enemy bombardment. Despite that fact, that war after three years of fighting, required two million fresh American soldiers to push the allies to victory. The casualties numbered 360,000, and the first cost in money forty billions of dollars, but the greatest cost of all, as all economists agree, was the depression which threatened the whole social structure of this country and from which we are still suffering.

"What will the cost of our participation in this war be? I ask the question. I leave with you, as intelligent men, the answer."

N. Y. CITY HOMES OF ROOSEVELTS ARE UP FOR SALE

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—The twin houses at 47 and 49 East 65th street, formerly occupied by President Roosevelt's family and his mother, the late Mrs. James Roosevelt, were offered for sale today.

Friends said it was understood Mr. Roosevelt and his wife expected to live at Hyde Park, N. Y., after his retirement from the White House. If circumstances made a winter residence in New York City desirable, it was said, they would prefer an apartment.

No estimate was made of the value of the houses, but they are assessed at $139,000.

Mrs. James Roosevelt, who died Sept. 7, ordered the building of the two houses in 1908 to meet the needs of her son's growing family of children. The houses are entirely separate, but are served by one entrance portico. They are six stories high and are of white limestone.

DISCLOSE KNOX'S POLITICAL SETUP AS NAVAL CHIEF

Survey Reveals How He 'Loads' His Staff.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—A survey completed today disclosed that Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, former Republican and G. O. P. Presidential and Vice President aspirant, who was read out of his party when he accepted his post in President Roosevelt's cabinet last year, has loaded the navy department with personnel from all parts of the country who would be especially useful as cogs in a political machine.

The survey was prompted by charges often heard in congress that Knox has created one of the greatest propaganda engines in the Roosevelt administration and has been motivated largely by self-aggrandizement in both civilian and naval appointments.

Bureau for Public Relations.

Knox has inflated the navy department's office of public relations to the status of a bureau, in charge of Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, former commander in chief of the United States fleet and one of the navy's top ranking officers. It has a staff of 85 persons—40 officers and 45 enlisted men and civilian employés.

Among the numerous newspaper men holding jobs in this bureau are Hal O'Flaherty, former managing editor of the Chicago Daily News, now on active duty as a reserve corps lieutenant commander; Lieut. Barry Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal and son of the late Robert Worth Bingham, former ambassador to Great Britain, and Lieutenant Commander James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville, Tenn., Banner.

Banker Is His Undersecretary.

Knox's undersecretary of the navy is James V. Forrestal, a Wall street banker. His assistant secretary is Ralph A. Bard, Chicago investment broker, who served as director of military relief of the American Red Cross in the World war. His legal adviser is Adlai E. Stevenson, 1020 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, former head of the Chicago chapter of the prowar Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. Stevenson is a grandson of the late Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice President of the United States during Grover Cleveland's second administration.

In addition, Knox has five "special assistants," including Sheldon Clark, Chicago oil company executive, former member of the Chicago Planning commission, and president of the Navy league; Joseph W. Powell of New York and Boston, naval architect and shipbuilder, former president of the United shipyards, and John F. O'Keefe of Chicago, former employé of the late Samuel Insull. The Navy Public Relations bureau could not identify the other special assistants, Jerome Doyle and Arthur J. Bulger.

Ex-Legionnaire Gets Post.

Among the reserve officers called to active duty under Secretary Knox and assigned to soft berths in naval intelligence is Lieutenant Commander Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, Ill., former national commander of the American Legion, who has been a candidate for various political offices.

William J. [Wild Bill] Donovan of Buffalo, N. Y., who was an assistant attorney general under President Coolidge, was brought to Washington by Secretary of Knox and sent to Europe on two missions for the secretary and President Roosevelt. Knox was largely responsible for Donovan's appointment as director of the so-called office of defense information, which is described in congress as an incipient secret police and propaganda agency.

President's Cousin Assigned.

Among persons of draft age commissioned in the naval reserve corps and assigned to duty in the intelligence service under Knox is Joseph W. Alsop Jr., distant cousin of President Roosevelt. Alsop, a New Deal newspaper columnist, received his commission as a lieutenant, junior grade, directly from the hands of the secretary. Knox promptly gave him an assignment to visit Bombay and other places in search of naval "intelligence."

LEGION WOMEN MIX CONVENTION GAYETY AND SERIOUSNESS

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15 [Special].—More than 5,000 wives, sisters, daughters and mothers of American Legionnaries swell the ranks of visitors to the convention city. They are members of the American Legion auxiliary, which this year has 520,178 members enrolled, the largest number since its organization 20 years ago.

The auxiliary members join in the carnival spirit of the convention with an abandon that rivals that of the Legionnaries themselves. But the auxiliary has its more serious moments, at the convention as well as at home.

Evidence of the auxiliary's work is found in the annual report submitted to the membership. Child welfare work, community service, and health and safety promotion are chief among the auxiliary's projects.

One of the main sources of revenue for the group is the yearly poppy sale. More than 12½ million poppies were sold last year. Mrs. Louis J. Lemstra of Clinton, Ind., is the auxiliary president.

Five candidates for the auxiliary's five regional vice presidents were nominated without opposition today. They are Mrs. T. A. King, of West Union, Ia., central division; Mrs. Nathaniel S. Hawthorne of North Providence, R. I., eastern; Mrs. E. J. Goppert of Cody, Wyo., northwestern; Mrs. Richard Redwood of Mobile, Ala., southern, and Mrs. Rae Ashton of Vernal, Utah, western. Nomination in each case was tantamount to election.

MARSHALL ASKS PEOPLE TO STOP HAMPERING ARMY

Calls on Legion to Spread Understanding.

Milwaukee, Sept. 15 (AP).—Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army, appealed to the American Legion national convention tonight to help remove a lack of public understanding which he said was hampering the training of America's new army of conscripts.

Gen. Marshall told a gathering of distinguished Legionnaires and guests at the annual commander's dinner that it was impossible to develop an efficient army if decisions purely of a military nature were "continuously subjected to investigation, cross-examination, debate, ridicule and public discussion."

'Help People to Understand.'

"The local posts of the Legion can do much to bring the people at home to a better understanding of the requirements of the situation," Gen. Marshall said. "Even you veterans probably do not realize the result of the appeals of the young man angling for a home-made cake or bragging to his parents or his girl of the hardships he endures, or grousing over the failure of his leaders to recognize his particular ability by immediate promotion.

"The war department at times receives a veritable avalanche of criticisms or pressures resulting from such ordinary soldier reactions as these. The incidents in themselves are often amusing, as in the case of the mother who complained that her son wasn't getting enough to eat and we found her boy had gained 16 pounds in 20 days.

Similar to French Situation.

"But the total effect is really serious. As I read confidential reports from abroad there is a striking similarity between our present situation in this respect and that which affected the late army of France.

"Criticism, justified or otherwise, is to be expected. In fact, it is as inevitable as a congressional investigation, but when its nature or purpose is to cause disunity within the army I say, direct the criticisms at me, personally, and leave the army alone."

Marshall said the current army maneuvers were of great importance because they were the closest peacetime approximation of actual fighting conditions, and the mistakes and failures they disclosed would not imperil the nation or cost the lives of men.

25 FOOT FALL FATAL TO BOY.

W-G-N Guest Stars

Skinnay Ennis, whisper-voiced bandleader of radio fame, and his wife, the lovely songstress, Carmene, took time out last night from their current stage engagement at the Chicago theater, and made a guest appearance on the W-G-N-Mutual program, "The Affairs of Tom, Dick, and Harry." From 9:30 to 10 p. m., Ennis and his wife joined with radio's zaniest trio in a show of uninhibited comedy and entertaining, sprightly music.

Carmene sang "Yes, My Darling Daughter," and Skinnay, assisted by the W-G-N orchestra under the direction of Bob Trendler, gave his stylized version of the popular ballad, "Don't Let Julia Fool Ya." Then the two donned imaginative hillbilly garb to assist Tom, Dick, and Harry in a southern sketch that had the audience in W-G-N's main studio laughing constantly.

"The Affairs of Tom, Dick, and Harry," variety program, produced by William A. Bacher, is presented over a coast to coast Mutual network each Monday at 9:30 p. m.

2 JUDGES GAIN IN RECOUNT OF 15 PRECINCTS

Judges Joseph J. Drucker and LeRoy Hackett of the Municipal court gained additional votes yesterday in the recount of 15 more precincts in the returns of the court election of last year.

They ran in 11th and 12th positions and were elected. Their election was challenged by Edward B. Casey and Samuel Heller, who ran in 13th and 14th positions. Casey and Heller charged fraud and obtained a recount order from the County court.

The 15 precincts tabulated yesterday gave Drucker a gain of 65 votes and Hackett a gain of 51. Casey gained two and Heller lost 11. The recount is being made by lot in five precincts of each ward. The final results of this recount are expected to determine whether it will be extended.

Columbus, O., Sept. 15 (AP).—Ten cars of crude oil went up in a billowing cloud of smoke and flame today after derailment of a 61 tank car Pennsylvania railroad train transporting oil to the Atlantic coast. Damage was estimated at thousands of dollars.

Fed by nearly 100,000 gallons of oil, the spectacular fire could be seen for nearly 20 miles. Homes in the village of San Marguerite, suburb of Columbus, were threatened. Time and again the intense heat forced firemen to retreat with their hoselines.

The oil from five derailed cars was saved.

DRIVES INTO TRAILER; KILLED

Boonville, Ind., Sept. 15—[Special]—Walter Thomas Jr., 21, Boonville, was fatally injured last night when his car crashed into the rear of a truck trailer of the Great Central Transport corporation, Detroit, driven by Roscoe J. Maddox. Thomas apparently went to sleep.

CHLORINE SHORTAGE REVEALED AS DUE TO POISON GAS OUTPUT

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—The Wall Street Journal said today: "The mystery behind the shortage in chlorine, hardest-to-get chemical in America, finally can be revealed.

"The primary but hitherto secret reason for the shortage is the huge and unexpected demand from government arsenals for the production of war gases.

"For several months the chemical industry has been trying to explain the situation without giving away a closely guarded war department secret.

"Until the chief of the chemical warfare service, Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, made a speech a few days ago before the American Chemical society and revealed officially that poison gas is being produced by the army in quantity, the chemical industry could not discuss the matter."

PERUVIAN PLANES BOMB ECUADOR IN NEW FLAREUP

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Sept. 15 (AP).—Peruvian planes nave bombed several points in Ecuador, killing at least four persons in a new flareup of the border war between Ecuador and Peru, an Ecuadorean announcement said today.

At Tenguel, on the Gulf of Guayaquil, seven bombs were dropped. One adult and two children were killed. The Tenguel banana plantations of the United Fruit company were bombed, a laborer killed, and buildings occupied by the manager damaged. It was reported Peruvian gunboats bombarded the small port of Tendales for 20 minutes.

Raises Barrier to Pact.

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 15 (AP).—Diplomatic quarters tonight viewed reports of new outbreaks in the Peru-Ecuador border conflict as raising new and more serious complications in efforts by the United States, Argentina and Brazil to bring a peaceful settlement.

CAPPER AGAINST AEF FIGHTING IN ANY FOREIGN WAR

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] told the senate today he was "utterly and completely opposed to sending American expeditionary forces overseas to fight in this or any other foreign wars." Capper said that declaration was included in a radio transcription released yesterday. He said the address had been quoted only in part and called attention to these statements:

"The decision of war or not war is a decision that should be made by congress. I believe it is the duty and responsibility of the President, under the constitution, to ask the congress to declare war if it is the President's judgment that the national defense demands that the United States go to war."

Capper's speech, prepared for local broadcast in Kansas, also contained this statement: "Shooting on sight is not short of war. Shoot on sight is war. . . . For weal or woe, the United States and the people of the United States are involved to whatever extent President Roosevelt has gone to implement his policy of national defense. . . . The President having acted, the congress of the United States and the people of the United States must and will support that action. There is no other course of action open to us."

GERMAN PRISON TRAIN STIRS UP A MYSTERY IN IRAN

Passes Its Destination; Allies Puzzled.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Sept. 15.—British and Russians learned to their surprise today that the first train which left here Saturday with German internees did not halt at its destination, Ahwaz, but continued on to Bendar Shapur, port on the Persian gulf. A number of German and Italian ships which were captured at the outset of the war are located there.

Allied diplomats were unable to explain the change in destination, but scouted the theory that the Germans might be attempting to reach sea and escape. It is thought more likely that the Germans will be interned temporarily aboard the vessels in the harbor or sent from there by sea to India.

No "Sieg Heils."

Two hundred and forty-one Germans left Teheran for internment camps today but this time there were no "Sieg Heils" or shouts of "Heil Hitler" as when the first group departed two days ago.

As the trains pulled out with 220 Germans en route to India and 21 en route to Siberia, the Germans stood silently at the windows with their hands stretched out in the Nazi salute. The salute was returned by members of the German legation on the platform.

The British and Russians have forbidden defiant departures and the German minister has been warned to remain away from the railroad station.

Demands Immediate Departure.

The group which departed today appeared to be workers. Most of them were poorly dressed and without neckties. Three carried accordions. Some had flowers or feathers in their hats and smoked big cigars.

A statement by the German minister that he would not close the legation until every German has departed brought a reply from the spokesman for the Russian embassy that "we shall insist on their going tomorrow."

The spokesman said the embassy took a grave view of the noncoöperative attitude of the Germans.

"We can see very great difficulties for the Iranian government if the legation does not close tomorrow," he commented.

DEMAND TO BARE CENSOR PLAN IS HALTED BY NAVY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—The house today tabled resolutions calling upon the army and navy to disclose a reported plan for compulsory censorship of the press, magazines, book publishing, radio broadcasting, motion picture and still photography agencies.

This action was taken without protest from the minority after a letter had been read from acting secretary of the navy James V. Forrestal to Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval committee which stated that plans for the "control of information, the disclosure of which would be inimical to the operations of the fleet" have been prepared.

"It may be stated without injury to the public interest," Forrestal wrote, "that such plans contain no provisions for compulsory censorship of the press but are limited to the control of communications passing between the United States and foreign countries or overseas possessions and between ships and shore."

CONGRESS STREET DRIVE BACKERS WILL SEE GREEN

Proponents of a $40,000,000 Congress street parkway, a scheme to use road funds to benefit depressed realty, met in the city hall yesterday and planned a delegation to call upon Gov. Dwight H. Green in Chicago tomorrow. The state administration's approval is needed for any expenditure of gasoline tax revenues.

The Congress street promoters are opposing a program enacted by the legislature this year calling for construction of a system of toll superhighways in Chicago and Cook county. It has been reported that bankers, who would buy the bonds for such construction, would not approve the Congress street project because its design is extravagant and it would attract little travel.

A traffic survey made last Tuesday is expected to show likely superhighway locations that would be of convenience to the greatest number of motorists. An analysis of the field notes will require several more weeks.

Dutch East Indies to Buy $27,540,000 of U. S. Planes

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Sept. 15 (AP).—An appropriation of 51,000,000 guilders [$27,540,000] was approved today by the people's council to strengthen the Netherlands East Indies naval air arm which is purchasing American-made Catalina flying boats for use as scouting planes. Other supplementary defense estimates approved included 16,000,000 guilders for purchase of torpedoes and other items for the navy and funds for building a military academy at Bandoeing.

2d Army Strikes Across River; 5 Killed in War Games Opening

Lear Hits Invader

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

With the 2d Army in the Field, Sept. 15.—Despite some slip-up in the construction of pontoon bridges by the engineers, Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear's 2nd army forces crossed the Red river at a dozen points today, sweeping almost unchallenged into the 3d army's territory between Shreveport and Alexandria, La., in the opening phase of the final and largest war games in this area, involving nearly half a million troops.

The 3d army is designated as a force invading the United States from the gulf region, the 2d army as defenders.

In today's action, outlined by Gen. Lear last night, but with the explicit understanding that it would be a "military secret" until this morning, the 2d army mobilized along the northern banks of the Red river during the night in order to drive across before the "enemy" could come up and destroy bridges. In addition to permanent bridges already in place, four pontoon bridges were to be constructed during the night.

Slow in Pontoon Laying.

In order to abide by the umpires' rules, that the demarcation line should not be crossed before 12:01 a. m., orders were issued to extend the pontoons only to the middle of the river before midnight. They were to be finished after the jump-off hour, midnight, in time for a crossing of troops at dawn.

Apparently the engineers were unequal to the task, for the 63 foot span necessary to bridge the Red river at Campti was less than half finished at 1 p. m. today. Despite this, the major part of the 2d army's program was carried out according to plan.

The 1st armored division under Maj. Gen. John McGruder captured Shreveport at 5 a. m. and pushed south. The 2nd armored division under Maj. Gen. George J. Patton got a late start and met opposition at Coushatta when it attempted a crossing at noon.

Invaders Get Alexandria.

The only other opposition that developed late in the day was at Alexandria, where Gen. Lear's forces obtained a toe-hold tonight, but where most of the residential parts of the city were held by invading 3d army after pitched battles in the streets. Umpires ordered the 2d army to retreat, due to encountering superior forces.

All day long, roads leading south on the west bank of the river were jammed with 2d army forces on the march. The 33d division had crossed at Coushatta and the 27th division had crossed at Clarence. The armored divisions drove south in three spearhead movements.

Sunset found Gen. Lear's 150,000 troops in possession of both banks of the Red river and Gen. Krueger's 330,000 troops moving into position for contact along the 100 mile front.

Pilot Dies in Crash

With the 3d Army in Louisiana, Sept. 15 (AP).—The United States' massive 3d army temporarily grounded its combat aviation—almost 400 craft—today after a collision of planes killed one pilot and increased to five the fatalities in the first day of maneuvers with the 2d army.

Four soldiers, including a captain, were killed in predawn traffic accidents in blackouts as thousands of troop carrying vehicles, armored cars, and tanks rumbled into no man's land in west central Louisiana for the games testing the strength, training, and staff work of 480,000 officers and men.

Racine Officer Dies.

Only part of the 3d army's air force was able to take to the air in the stormy weather, the curtailment of aerial reconnaissance giving the southbound 2d army an initial spurt in its power drive toward Lake Charles and the 3d army base.

Second Lieutenant John Bobroski of Racine, Wis., attached to the 8th pursuit group, plummeted to his death in a flaming army pursuit ship of the 2d army near Coushatta, La., after figuring in a collision with a navy dive bomber piloted by Lieut. R. B. Woodhull of San Antonio, Tex.

Observers said Bobroski apparently had no opportunity to parachute to safety. Lieut. Woodhull ordered his observer, Radio Mate A. W. Garlow of San Diego, Cal., overside by parachute, and then took his crippled ship 100 miles back to the Lake Charles air base, landing safely.

Four Dead in Traffic.

Also killed were Capt. Lamar T. Woodward, a regular army officer from Fort Knox, Ky.; Corporal Hamilton W. White of Los Gatos, Cal., and Privates William A. Jones of Weeksburg, Ky., and E. D. Hightower of Grovers Springs, Mo., all attached to the 2d army and all victims of traffic accidents during the blackouts.

A total of 62 soldiers were killed in the month long preliminary maneuvers in Arkansas and Louisiana. The war department last week estimated that 119 soldiers would be killed and 17 would die from disease during the great Louisiana exercises, the largest ever held.

French Far East Flagship Reaches Japan for Repairs

TOKIO, Sept. 15—The Lamotte Picquet, flagship of the French far eastern fleet, arrived at Osaka today for repairs. This was stressed as a token of the closer collaboration between Japan and French Indo-China.

3 GUARDHOUSE PRISONERS FLEE; ABDUCT COUPLE

Mineral Wells, Tex., Sept. 15 (AP).—Three prisoners escaped from the Camp Wolters guardhouse today, abducting a soldier and his girl friend in their flight. Also missing was a corporal on duty at the guardhouse, John A. Steinbaugh. Highway patrol officers believed the fugitives also had forced him to accompany them.

Missing from the guardroom were four riot guns and a box of shells.

Corporal James G. Leath and Miss Lillian Hill were abducted and their motor car commandeered as they drove into the camp early today. Later they were released near Weatherford, Tex.

Officers said the three prisoners, all charged with desertion, were Audley D. McBride, 23, Klondike, Tex.; Roy M. Rankin, 20, Washington state, and Walter I. Sakaitis, Chicago.

G. O. P. OFFERS YOUNG TICKET IN COURT RACE

Average Age 51 Compared to Rivals' 62.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Cook county and Chicago Republican judicial conventions yesterday nominated a complete ticket of 23 candidates for the election on Nov. 4—21 for full terms on the Superior bench and two for vacancies in the Municipal court.

The slatemaking was not completed until 30 minutes before the gavel fell for the first of the successive sessions in the La Salle hotel. The names had been kept secret up to that moment and as soon as they were made public scurrying began to learn the ages of the nominees.

The Chicago Bar association, in a recent poll of its members, raised the question of retirement because of age for many of the sitting judges whose terms expire this year. Thus there was jubilation when the hasty analysis by the Republicans showed their Superior court ticket averaged 51.2 years, in contrast to the average of 62 years for the Democratic ticket built around 20 sitting judges.

Comparison by Age Groups.

Ages.	Republican.	Democratic.
70 years or over........	0	6
Between 60 and 70......	4	6
Between 50 and 60......	6	7
Between 40 and 50......	7	2
Between 30 and 40......	4	0

The oldest man on the Democratic ticket is Judge E. I. Frankhauser, Republican, who is 80. The oldest of the Republican nominees is 68. The youngest Democratic nominee, Judge Rudolph Desort, is 44. There are five younger men on the Republican ticket, the youngest being 33.

The Republican nominees for the Superior court, with their ages and brief identifications, in ballot order, are the following:

Judge Edgar A. Jonas, 55, recently appointed by Gov. Green to a vacancy on the Superior bench for a term now expiring; appointed Municipal judge in 1923 and elected to the same court in 1924 and 1930; nominated for Circuit court in 1933.

Two Former Judges Named.

Charles F. McKinley, 68, former Municipal judge, elected in 1918, 1924 and 1930.

Edward J. Hess, 61, assistant United States attorney under Edwin A. Olson and first assistant under George E. Q. Johnson; candidate for Superior court in 1929, for congress from the 2d district in 1932, and for alderman of the 7th ward in 1933.

Drennan J. Slater, 38, served four terms as state representative from the 6th senatorial district before seeking Republican nomination for congress in the 10th district in 1940.

Frederic W. Heineman, 33 years old, associate of the firm of Miller, Gorham, Wescott and Adams; sponsored by the Young Republicans; son of Mrs. Walter F. Heineman, school trustee.

Harold J. Clark, 50, nominated for Circuit court in 1939; member of the firm of Ogren & Clark.

Dennis J. O'Toole, 49, sponsored by service men; first lieutenant of 61st infantry, 5th division in World war.

Sponsored by Polish Americans.

Leon J. Nowak, 61, sponsored by Polish-American leaders; member of the firm of Smietanka, Conlon & Nowak.

Elmer M. Walsh, 44, candidate for judge of the Municipal court in 1932; associate of the firm of Bippus, Rose, Burt & Pierce.

Milford H. Olds, 46, candidate for congressman from the 3d district in 1938 and for congressman-at-large in 1940.

Aquilla C. Lewis, 53, assistant attorney general of Illinois under Oscar E. Carlstrom for five years; candidate for nomination for state treasurer in 1940.

Allan Healy, 38, candidate for sanitary district trustee in 1936 and for congressman-at-large in 1940; former assistant United States attorney; one of the organizers of the Young Republican National federation; member of the firm of Watson, Healy and Arrington.

Thorsness for Chief Justice.

The city convention nominated Lionel C. Thorsness for the vacancy in the chief justiceship of the Municipal court caused by the death of John J. Sonsteby, and named Edwin W. Burch for the John J. Rooney vacancy on the same bench. Thorsness, 46 years old, served as a master in chancery of the Superior court from 1928 to 1937 and since then has served as a special commissioner of that court. He was nominated for the Circuit court in 1939. Burch, 39, a Harvard graduate, is known as a writer of books on Illinois law and practice.

Twelve of the nominees were on the "qualification list" issued recently by the Chicago Bar association. They are Judges Jonas, McKinley, Helander, Olin, Hess, Slater, Clark, Hurd, Kealy, Hershenson, Thorsness and Burch.

The Republican campaign assessment upon nominees was $1,500—a total of $34,500 in contrast to the $103,500 assessed by the Democratic organization on its nominees on a per capita basis of $4,500, or 5 per cent of the $90,000 payable during a six year term.

TELLS OF MOVES TO FORCE EXHIBIT OF 'WAR' FILMS

Theater Owner Rebuked for Ignoring 'Propaganda'

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—A senate subcommittee heard charges today that the New Deal administration is attempting to dictate the showing of "war propaganda" movies in the United States.

The charges were contained in letters read into the record by Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], chairman of the group which is making a preliminary inquiry on a resolution calling for a full dress investigation of war propaganda activities in the moving picture industry and the radio.

One of the letters, written on the stationery of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, was signed by Maurice Saffle, manager of the Seattle, Wash., branch of Loew's, Inc., M-G-M distributors. It rebuked Fulton Cook, owner of a movie theater in St. Mary's, Idaho, for refusing to show the film "Land of Liberty."

Request of Government.

Saffle declared that M-G-M is "distributing the picture at its own expense" and putting it in place of one of its own productions.

"We are doing this," his letter continued, "at the request of the United States government, who feels that every man, woman, and child in America should see this subject during these times of national defense.

"In fact, they are so interested in the playing of the subject that we have been asked to wire immediately the names of those exhibitors who eliminate it."

Chairman Clark noted that Cook indicated in his letter that the picture, "Land of Liberty," is a propaganda film. He read a copy of Cook's reply in which the theater owner asserted that neither the government nor any one else would tell him what pictures he could show his audiences.

The picture "Land of Liberty," was described by film sources as a dramatization of the history of the United States made up of excerpts from feature pictures and news reels. It was said to have been compiled originally for the world's fairs in New York and San Francisco.

Senator Clark announced that the committee will call Saffle and ask him where the orders came from in the government for the showing of specific films and the reporting of exhibitors who fail to show them.

The committee also received a resolution adopted by the Intermountains Theaters' association, of Salt Lake City, Utah, which praised the inquiry and condemned propaganda films. The association covers exhibitors in Utah, Nevada, Idaho, and other far western states.

The start of the second week of the committee sessions found the movie producers' chief counsel, Wendell L. Willkie, Wall street lawyer and former nominee for President, absent from the proceedings.

Jimmy Fidler, a Hollywood movie commentator and author of a movie column appearing in 140 daily papers, appearing as a witness, told of alleged attempts by movie producers to "gag" him because they objected to adverse reviews of various films. On one occasion, he said, a group of high ranking studio officials representing major producers, called in a body on Norman Chandler, managing editor of the Los Angeles Times, and demanded that the draper drop Fidler's column or suffer the loss of "a large volume of advertising."

The witness told the senators that he has objected on numerous occasions to the showing of war propaganda films under the guise of entertainment.

Protests from Theaters.

He has received many letters from theater owners protesting against such pictures and records show that the public does not like them.

Fidler told the committee that he recently switched his broadcasts from the Columbia Broadcasting system to the Mutual Broadcasting system because of alleged attempts to censor his scripts. He added that the picture industry has been "importuning" Mutual to "crack down" on him but thus far has not succeeded.

BLIMPS WILL GUARD BOSTON HARBOR FROM U-BOATS AND MINES

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15 (AP).—Capt. C. E. Rosendahl, naval dirigible expert, disclosed today that six patrol type blimps would be stationed at the new dirigible base at South Weymouth to guard the approaches to Boston harbor against submarines and mines.

Capt. Rosendahl said he was convinced the navy could use to advantage huge rigid airplane carriers that could cruise 10,000 miles and carry a dozen scouting planes. He explained this opinion had not been adopted by the navy.

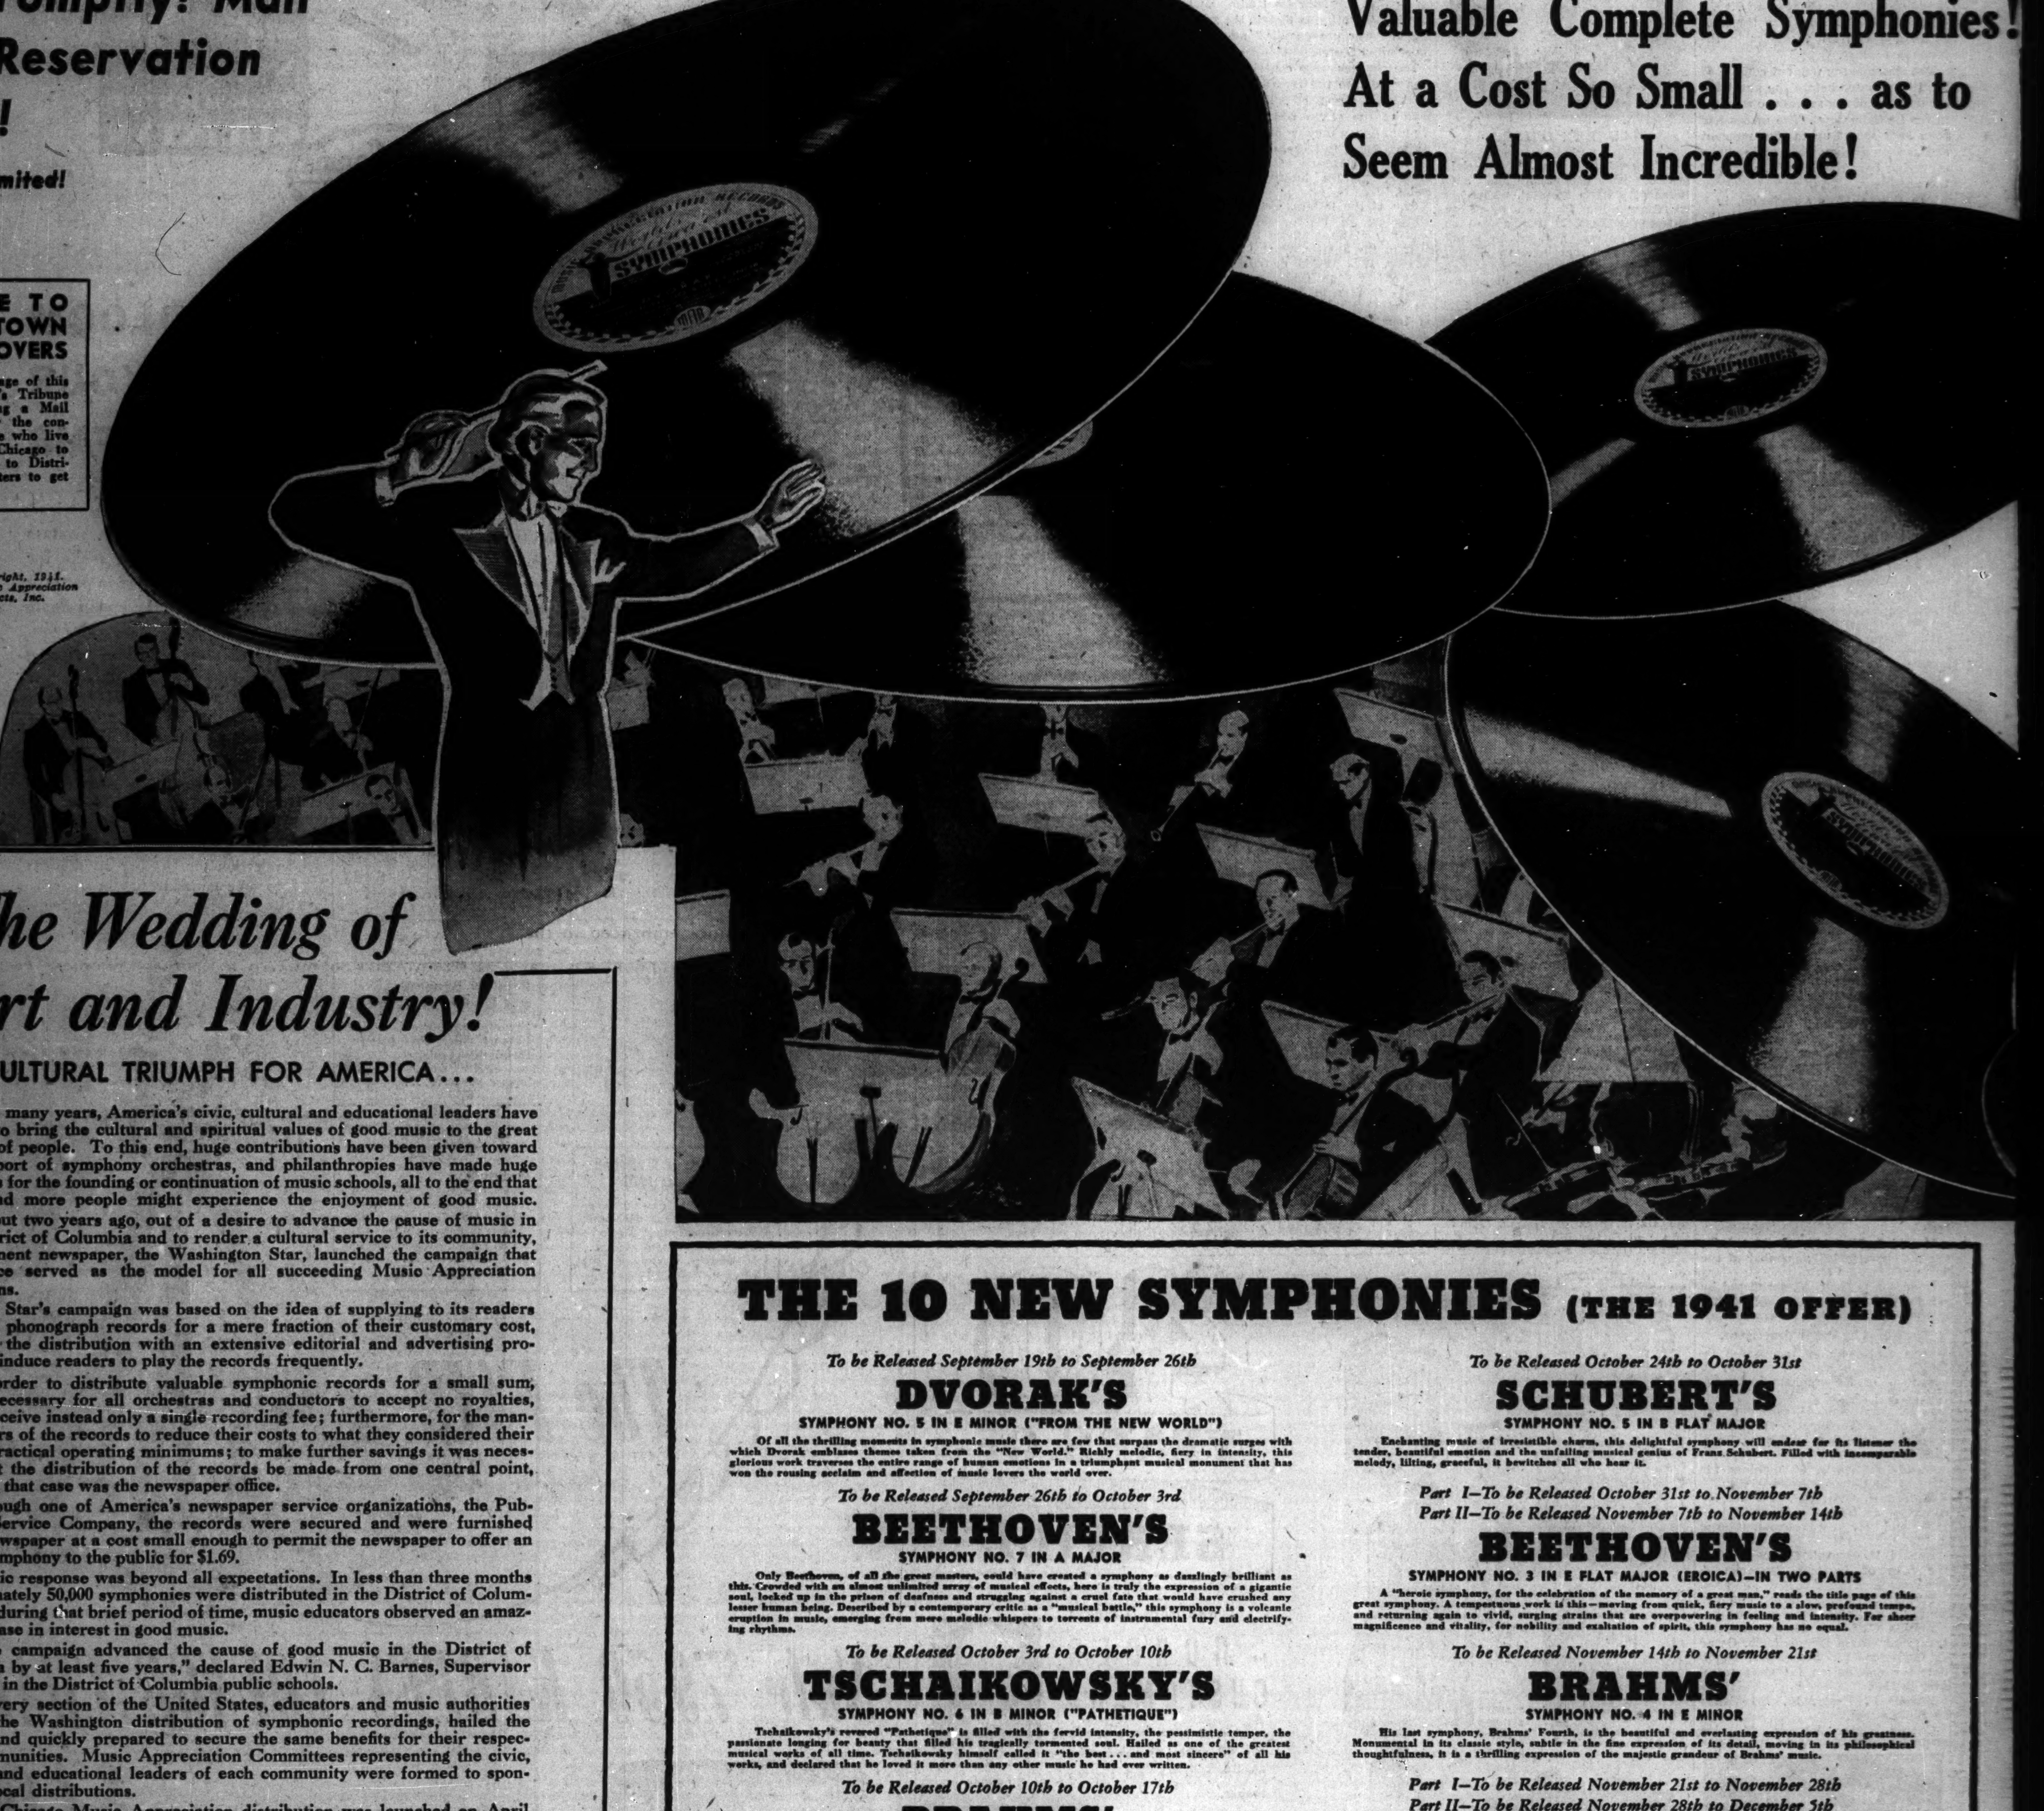
Valuable Complete Symphonies! At a Cost So Small . . . as to Seem Almost Incredible!



The Wedding of Art and Industry!

A CULTURAL TRIUMPH FOR AMERICA...

For many years, America's civic, cultural and educational leaders have sought to bring the cultural and spiritual values of good music to the great masses of people. To this end, huge contributions have been given toward the support of symphony orchestras, and philanthropies have made huge bequests for the founding or continuation of music schools, all to the end that more and more people might experience the enjoyment of good music.

About two years ago, out of a desire to advance the cause of music in the District of Columbia and to render a cultural service to its community, a prominent newspaper, the Washington Star, launched the campaign that has since served as the model for all succeeding Music Appreciation campaigns.

The Star's campaign was based on the idea of supplying to its readers valuable phonograph records for a mere fraction of their customary cost, coupling the distribution with an extensive editorial and advertising program to induce readers to play the records frequently.

In order to distribute valuable symphonic records for a small sum, it was necessary for all orchestras and conductors to accept no royalties, but to receive instead only a single recording fee; furthermore, for the manufacturers of the records to reduce their costs to what they considered their lowest practical operating minimums; to make further savings it was necessary that the distribution of the records be made from one central point, which in that case was the newspaper office.

Through one of America's newspaper service organizations, the Publishers Service Company, the records were secured and were furnished to the newspaper at a cost small enough to permit the newspaper to offer an entire symphony to the public for $1.69.

Public response was beyond all expectations. In less than three months approximately 50,000 symphonies were distributed in the District of Columbia, and during that brief period of time, music educators observed an amazing increase in interest in good music.

"The campaign advanced the cause of good music in the District of Columbia by at least five years," declared Edwin N. C. Barnes, Supervisor of Music in the District of Columbia public schools.

In every section of the United States, educators and music authorities studied the Washington distribution of symphonic recordings, hailed the results, and quickly prepared to secure the same benefits for their respective communities. Music Appreciation Committees representing the civic, cultural and educational leaders of each community were formed to sponsor the local distributions.

The Chicago Music Appreciation distribution was launched on April 30, 1940, with a banquet at the Drake Hotel, attended by more than 2,000 persons. Distribution of the first symphony records began four days later, with more than 10,000 persons obtaining their records on the very first day of distribution.

In practically all of the larger cities of the United States, successful distributions brought the world's greatest music into more than a million homes with the cooperation or sponsorship of local symphony societies, newspapers, or music appreciation committees.

New 1941 Distribution to Begin in Chicago Friday, Sept. 19th

The new 1941 distribution of symphonic recordings is undertaken in recognition of the tremendous public enthusiasm for the first series of symphonies. The new symphonies represent another step forward in music appreciation, because they include the more impressive symphonic works as well as the more popular.

These new symphonies, like those that were distributed to the public in 1940, represent the recordings of some of the greatest symphony orchestras and conductors in the world. Neither orchestras nor conductors receive any royalties on these records. Instead they accepted merely a single recording fee. In this way they have cooperated to keep the cost of these records at a minimum, thus placing these symphonies within the means of the greatest possible number of people.

Steadfastly, the sponsors of Music Appreciation distributions have held to the belief that if music is to be democratic in appeal IT MUST BE DEMOCRATIC IN PRICE; if the beauty and inspiration of good music is to be conveyed to the greatest possible number of people, then the cost of hearing good music must be reduced to the point where it is within the reach of every family in the land, no matter how modest its circumstances.

THE 10 NEW SYMPHONIES (THE 1941 OFFER)

To be Released September 19th to September 26th

DVORAK'S

SYMPHONY NO. 5 IN E MINOR ("FROM THE NEW WORLD")

Of all the thrilling moments in symphonic music there are few that surpass the dramatic surges with which Dvorak emblazes themes taken from the "New World." Richly melodic, fiery in intensity, this glorious work traverses the entire range of human emotions in a triumphant musical monument that has won the rousing acclaim and affection of music lovers the world over.

To be Released September 26th to October 3rd

BEETHOVEN'S

SYMPHONY NO. 7 IN A MAJOR

Only Beethoven, of all the great masters, could have created a symphony as dazzlingly brilliant as this. Crowded with an almost unlimited array of musical effects, here is truly the expression of a gigantic soul, locked up in the prison of deafness and struggling against a cruel fate that would have crushed any lesser human being. Described by a contemporary critic as a "musical battle," this symphony is a volcanic eruption in music, emerging from mere melodic whispers to torrents of instrumental fury and electrifying rhythms.

To be Released October 3rd to October 10th

TSCHAIKOWSKY'S

SYMPHONY NO. 6 IN B MINOR ("PATHETIQUE")

Tschaikowsky's revered "Pathetique" is filled with the fervid intensity, the pessimistic temper, the passionate longing for beauty that filled his tragically tormented soul. Hailed as one of the greatest musical works of all time. Tschaikowsky himself called it "the best . . . and most sincere" of all his works, and declared that he loved it more than any other music he had ever written.

To be Released October 10th to October 17th

BRAHMS'

SYMPHONY NO. 1 IN C MINOR

The greatest "first" symphony and some of the most sublime music ever written—magnificent in its sweeping power, profoundly stirring in richness, might and majesty. This music envisions the hope that lives in every human heart and contains the most magnificent expressions of joy and exaltation in the history of music and mankind.

To be Released October 17th to October 24th

BEETHOVEN'S

SYMPHONY NO. 6 IN F MAJOR ("PASTORAL")

Here, Beethoven, the fiery titan, suggests in exquisite poetic melody the beauty of Nature—the murmuring brook, the birds and the trees and the song of the shepherd. The descriptive title, "Pastoral," characterizes the mood of his utterly delightful work in which Beethoven, inspired by Nature, sings her praises in accents of joy and gaiety.

To be Released October 24th to October 31st

SCHUBERT'S

SYMPHONY NO. 5 IN B FLAT MAJOR

Enchanting music of irresistible charm, this delightful symphony will endear for its listener the tender, beautiful emotion and the unfailing musical genius of Franz Schubert. Filled with incomparable melody, lilting, graceful, it bewitches all who hear it.

Part I—To be Released October 31st to November 7th
Part II—To be Released November 7th to November 14th

BEETHOVEN'S

SYMPHONY NO. 3 IN E FLAT MAJOR (EROICA)—IN TWO PARTS

A "heroic symphony, for the celebration of the memory of a great man," reads the title page of this great symphony. A tempestuous work is this—moving from quick, fiery music to a slow, profound tempo, and returning again to vivid, surging strains that are overpowering in feeling and intensity. For sheer magnificence and vitality, for nobility and exaltation of spirit, this symphony has no equal.

To be Released November 14th to November 21st

BRAHMS'

SYMPHONY NO. 4 IN E MINOR

His last symphony, Brahms' Fourth, is the beautiful and everlasting expression of his greatness. Monumental in its classic style, subtle in the fine expression of its detail, moving in its philosophical thoughtfulness, it is a thrilling expression of the majestic grandeur of Brahms' music.

Part I—To be Released November 21st to November 28th
Part II—To be Released November 28th to December 5th

BEETHOVEN'S

SYMPHONY NO. 9 IN D MINOR—IN TWO PARTS

Here, again, Beethoven demonstrates the unrestrained vigor and passion that stamp him as the mightiest musical master of all time. In this symphony, strains of somber and brooding quality give way to powerfully exuberant and jubilant notes and rhythms that ultimately dominate this masterful symphony.

To be Released December 5th to December 12th

BACH'S

BRANDENBURG CONCERTO NO. 4 IN G MAJOR

Possessed of a unique and forceful vitality, this most serene, yet most vivid composition, by the immortal Bach, presents a brilliant and colorful study in musical contrasts. Opening in a pastoral mood, the work ascends to a climax of exceptional vigor and radiance.

NOTICE:

At 9 o'clock Friday morning, September 19th, we will begin Chicago's NEW, 1941 Music Appreciation Offer. At that hour, we will begin distributing Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor, the first of the 10 new symphonies embraced in the 1941 offer.

Among the 10 new symphonies will also be Beethoven's 3d, 6th, 7th, and 9th symphonies; Tschaikowsky's glorious 6th (the "Pathetique"); and Brahms' Symphony No. 1 in C Minor.

Distribution will be made from the Distribution Headquarters of the Chicago Society for Music Education at 65 East Lake street. As in all past offers the featured symphony of the week will be played thruout the day from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

SYMPHONIES IN THE NEW OFFER EVIDENCE PUBLIC'S GROWING TASTE FOR THE WORLD'S GREAT MUSIC

The new 1941 offer follows the tremendous success of last year's distribution which began on May 4, 1940. On that first day of distribution, more than 10,000 persons called at the Distribution Headquarters at 65 East Lake street, to obtain the recordings of Franz Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony. Long before the doors opened at 9 a. m., a line of music lovers extended for more than a block. Thruout the course of the offer more than one hundred and fifty thousand symphonies have been distributed to the families of Chicago and vicinity.

Manifestly more impressive, and even more important than the symphonies made available during last year's offer, the 10 new symphonies pay tribute to the public's growing taste for good music.

This year Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E Minor ("From the New World") is the first week's release whereas last year's offer began with Schubert's "Unfinished".

This year, the second week again brings a Beethoven symphony; but this year it is Beethoven's Symphony No. 7 in A Major, instead of his Fifth as was the case last year.

This year it is Tschaikowsky's magnificent "Pathetique," his Symphony No. 6 in B Minor, which is released during the third week, whereas last year it was Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

The 10 new symphonies will be released at the rate of one symphony each week for a period of ten weeks.

Here, AT AN INCREDIBLY SMALL COST, is the greatest music ever written, valuable symphonic recordings, hitherto precious and costly, but now brought within reach of every family in the land.

Now, through this Music Appreciation Offer, any or all of these ten precious symphonic masterpieces can belong to you.

Do you know the true enjoyment of symphonic music? Do you know the world of inspiration that can be yours in experiencing the thrill and glory of the mightiest moments in all the history of music? Do you know the wealth of pleasure you can attain through feeling the power and passion of BEETHOVEN! the tender, beautiful emotion of SCHUBERT! the rousing, tingling gaiety and sadness of TSCHAIKOWSKY! the profoundly stirring moments of BRAHMS!

Here is music! But it is MORE THAN MUSIC! It is something that will make you discover something new in yourself. Here is a rich possession that will become dearer and more wonderful to you with each passing year. Make up your mind today! NOW! to take this wonderful cultural treasure into your home. Give your loved ones and yourself the opportunity to find comfort, joy and incomparable entertainment in being able to hear, over and over again, the music that has lived through the centuries, and to share the enjoyment of a wonderful cultural heritage that belongs to every human being.

Read this announcement carefully. Then mail the Reservation Form printed directly below. It does not obligate you in any way. It merely enables us to estimate the number of symphonies to have on hand. The symphonies will be distributed from the Society's Distribution Headquarters at 65 East Lake Street. Distribution begins Friday, Sept. 19, at 9 a. m. Meanwhile, MAIL THE RESERVATION. Help us accurately estimate how many symphonies to have available for the Chicago distribution.

EACH WEEK . . . FOR 10 WEEKS A SYMPHONY WILL BE RELEASED

The 10 symphonies will be distributed at the rate of one each week, over a period of ten weeks. There are two reasons for this method of distribution; first, because it encourages families to acquire the symphonies one at a time, and to play each symphony a sufficient number of times to become familiar with that symphony before obtaining another. Second, because the acquiring of one Music Appreciation symphony each week requires only a very small outlay that is within the means of practically every family.

The extremely small cost of these symphonies will be no surprise to the tens of thousands of Chicagoans who have obtained the previous symphonies made available in the first Music Appreciation offer.

Those who took advantage of last year's Music Appreciation offer, already know the enjoyment to be derived from the symphonic music of the masters. Having experienced the moving strains of Beethoven, Tschaikowsky and others of the immortals whose works were represented in the original offering, then indeed they will want to add to their collections the famous symphonic masterpieces included in this NEW, 1941 offer. Certainly you will want to own BEETHOVEN'S Symphony No. 6, which the world knows and reveres as the "Pastoral." And you will forever cherish having as your own the celebrated "Pathetique" Symphony No. 6 by TSCHAIKOWSKY.

Scan the complete list carefully. Note that the first of the new symphonies to be released is the magnificent "New World" Symphony by DVORAK. Here certainly is a work you will take everlasting pride in possessing.

Decide now to take advantage of this marvelous offer. Take this beautiful cultural treasure into your home. Give to yourself and to your dear ones the incomparable pleasure that it will bring, in ever increasing measure, throughout all of the years to come!

PUBLISHERS SERVICE COMPANY DISTRIBUTES THE RECORDS

The recordings included in this Music Appreciation offer are distributed by Publishers Service Company, Inc., one of America's most prominent newspaper services, an organization for profit. Publishers Service supplies the records on consignment and turns over a portion of the receipts to the Chicago Society for Music Education, a non-profit organization which in turn prorates the receipts among musical groups of its selection in Chicago. Since the beginning of the Music Appreciation movement in Chicago last year, the Chicago Society for Music Education has distributed more than $30,000 in benefits to four non-profit Chicago musical organizations, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Chicago Opera, the Ravinia Festival and the Chicago Woman's Orchestral Association.

Distribution Begins Friday, September 19th, at 9 A. M.

COURT REVERSES TAX SENTENCE OF GAMING BOSS

Johnson and Five Others Win Appeal.

"Nor were they charged with a failure to file income tax returns at the time required by law. Such returns were filed by Johnson as well as by the co-defendants, and the government received income tax for each of the years in question in substantial amounts."

The opinion then affirmed that the government had established Johnson's connection and partnership in various Chicago and Cook county gaming establishments, but added:

"Most that can be said is that the proof discloses Johnson had an interest in the gambling houses. The evidence does not show that he was the sole owner and therefore entitled to all the proceeds [as had been contended by the government]."

This finding was supported by the showing in the trial that the five convicted co-defendants also had had an interest in the same houses.

Turns to Clifford Testimony.

The opinion then took up the testimony of Frank J. Clifford, agent of the internal revenue department, who computed what he said was Johnson's actual income and subsequent shortages in tax payment.

"His testimony alone would require reversal," wrote Judge Major. He added that Clifford's statement of his computations was not based upon a required assumption or a hypothetical question but had been expressed voluntarily, thus "invading the province of the jury—the jurors no longer being required to think, but having all the evidence digested for them with vital issues determined and decided by Clifford." [A similar summation of computations was given by Clifford at the Skidmore trial, the record shows.]

"In our study of the record and in preparing the opinion," Judge Major wrote in conclusion, "we have endeavored to keep in mind a basic concept of American jurisprudence which, from time immemorial, has taught that every person charged with crime, regardless of his occupation or station in life, is entitled to a fair and impartial trial upon the issue or issues tendered by a legal indictment, returned by a grand jury empowered to act.

"In view of what we have said, it necessarily follows that the judgment must be reversed. It is so ordered."

Grand Jury Limitations.

The specific point in holding that the grand jury was improperly impaneled was that its term had been extended from December, 1939, to March, 1940. Unlike grand juries in state courts, a federal grand jury's limitations are defined rigidly by statute.

Judge Evans disagreed entirely with the majority opinion and suggested that the trial had become "a fencing contest" in which all too often "the real issues are lost." These fencing contests, he said, lead to unprofessional tactics, encourage long trials to give the curious public a thrill, and often bring administration of justice into disrepute.

"The holding of the majority opinion," he wrote, "will greatly handicap the prosecution of offenders who have concealed the facts establishing their crimes so successfully that a prolonged investigation is necessary."

Johnson's trial, which began Aug. 17, 1940, was prosecuted by Assistant United States District Attorneys Earle C. Hurley, Paul Plunkett, and Lawrence Miller. William J. Campbell, then district attorney and now a federal judge, supervised the prosecution. Attorneys Floyd E. Thompson and Edward J. Hess conducted the defense and the appeal.

Johnson's co-defendants and their sentences follow: Jack Sommers, John M. Flanagan [now dead], and William P. Kelly, four years in the federal penitentiary and fines of $8,000 each; James A. Hartigan, three years in prison and a fine of $6,000, and Stuart Solomon Brown, two years and $4,000. Brown was named as the syndicate's unofficial banker.

ELEVATED LINES GET ONLY 3 BIDS ON 250 NEW CARS

Delivery of only four streamlined cars for subway-elevated use would take from eight to nine months, assuming materials are available for their manufacture, the Chicago Rapid Transit company disclosed yesterday in a report filed with the Illinois Commerce commission.

The report was in response to the commission's order for the company to call for bids on 250 new streamlined lightweight cars. The company reported that only three of the eight manufacturers invited to submit bids did so. The low bid was by the St. Louis Car company, which offered to build 250 cars for $65,088 each or four cars for $72,320 each.

TERRORIST DRIVE IN N.Y. PROTESTED BY AMERICA FIRST

Broken Windows Blamed on Pro-War Vandals.

New York, Sept. 15.—The America First committee tonight issued a vigorous protest against repeated acts of vandalism directed at committee rooms in New York. Windows in three headquarters locations have been smashed in the last two days. Police are making routine investigations of the vandalism reports.

"A gang of hoodlums over the week-end broke plate glass windows in three of the Manhattan branch offices of the America First committee," said an official committee statement listing the locations.

"This is just another case of the arrogances, indignities, and insults hurled daily at the staffs in these and other offices by violent groups who wish to punish these volunteer workers for attempting to keep this nation out of war."

Dove-tailing with attempts to smear America First as pro-Nazi, the missiles all were wrapped in swastika covered materials.

Work of the America First committee has been particularly difficult in New York City, but despite adverse conditions the anti-war group has been able to report a steadily rising response to their appeals.

One of the most trying handicaps to the committee's progress has been the attitude of the city administration. Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, noted for his war mongering statements and his official attempts to stir war hysteria—with blackouts, air raid drills, etc.—has led city officials in their persistent efforts to harrass the America First committee.

And the New York City press, generally, has been unfavorable to the America First committee.

Despite all these obstacles mass-meetings sponsored by the committee have attracted overflow crowds. Committee officials believe the wave of window smashing is evidence of the frustration of rival groups to stir up more and more clamor for American intervention in the European struggle.

BURGLARS OVERLOOK $500.

Burglars who entered the home of Harry Freeman, 819 Gunnison street, a paper company representative, stole $50 and jewelry worth $600, but overlooked $500 in currency. Freeman reported to Summerdale police yesterday.

UPHOLD JUDGE'S REFUSAL TO TALK IN MURDER QUIZ

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday declined to suspend the attorney's license of Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland for his refusal to testify before the grand jury which investigated the murder of Edward J. O'Hare, front man for the Capone syndicate. O'Hare was slain in gangland fashion on Nov. 8, 1939.

The Chicago Bar association had recommended that Judge Holland's license be suspended for two years, charging that his refusal to testify showed a lack of good faith and brought the bench and bar into disrepute. In an opinion written by Justice Clyde E. Stone, the Supreme court held that Holland's right to refuse to testify was "absolute."

"While this court does not commend Holland's judgment nor his course of conduct, we are of the opinion that the record does not support with required clarity this [bar association] charge," the opinion said. The court specifically withheld any expression of opinion on Holland's lawyer's statement that the judge feared he might be indicted on "groundless charges" if he testified as to his relationship with O'Hare.

AGREE ON BILL FOR 3½ BILLION IN ADDED TAXES

Expect Quick Approval by Both Houses.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—A tax bill expected to increase by $3,553,400,000 the 9½ billion tax load now imposed upon the American people was reported today by senate and house conferees. It will be the largest in history.

The measure will be brought up in the house tomorrow. While there were some predictions that a fight would be made against the senate's lowering of personal income tax exemptions, the conferees were confident that no sizeable opposition would develop and that the bill would be approved and sent to the senate for action on Wednesday.

Speedy senate action has been promised and the record-breaking bill should be in the hands of President Roosevelt for signature on Thursday. He is expected to sign it immediately because the government is losing 3 million dollars in excise taxes every day the measure remains outside the law.

Cut in Exemption Accepted.

The bill's estimated revenue yield represented a compromise between the $3,583,900,000 in the senate bill and the $3,216,000,000 in the house bill.

The house conferees agreed to the senate's reduction in the personal exemption of a married person from $2,000 to $1,500 and of a single person from $800 to $750. This will produce added revenue of 303 million dollars.

Revised figures contained in the formal report issued by the conferees showed that this reduction in personal exemptions will require the filing of 4,930,000 new income tax returns and will increase the number of income taxpayers by 2,275,000. Of the new returns, 4,453,000 will come from married persons and 477,000 will come from single persons.

Of the 2,275,000 new taxpayers, 1,850,000 will be married persons and 425,000 will be single.

Present Taxpayers Hit.

But the new taxpayers will put up only 47 million dollars of the 303 millions added revenue, the report stated. The balance of 256 million dollars will come from persons already being taxed under the existing law whose levies will be increased because of the lowered exemptions.

The house had stricken from the bill a provision requiring a joint income tax return from a husband and wife living together. This provision would have yielded additional revenue of about 300 million dollars. After President Roosevelt had expressed opposition to this provision, which, it was noted, would have greatly increased the income taxes of himself and Mrs. Roosevelt, the senate made no attempt to restore it.

The house conferees accepted the amendment to the bill sponsored by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], which establishes a committee to investigate "nonessential federal expenditures." It will be composed of six senators; six representatives; the secretary of the treasury, and the director of the budget.

Some Minor Changes.

Some minor changes in the long list of increased excise taxes on manufactured products of all kinds were agreed upon by conferees but these taxes in the main remained unaltered.

The conferees fixed 5 per cent as the tax on telephone bills and 6 per cent on electric light bulbs. They also eliminated the tax on soft drinks as proposed by the house.

[Details of how the new tax bill affects corporations are contained in story on page 25.]

N.Y. VOTES TODAY; LA GUARDIA AND DAVIES IN RACE

New York, Sept. 15 [Special].—The primary campaign ended tonight with Mayor Fiorello La Guardia seeking the Republican nomination tomorrow for a third term of four years over his opponent, John R. Davies, former president of the National Republican club.

Davies, who has contested sharply the mayor's right to run as a Republican, tonight charged La Guardia made a deal with the communists in the election four years ago.

Interventionists and prowar groups have been active in La Guardia's behalf.

WIN INJUNCTION TO LIMIT PICKETS AT FOOD STORES

Judge George Fred Rush of the Circuit court yesterday issued a temporary injunction against local 329 of the United Grocery and Produce Employés union [CIO] limiting the picketing of six food stores and the warehouse of Hillman's, Inc.

Under the terms of the temporary order, the union cannot place more than two pickets at each entrance of each store. The striking workers also are ordered to stop all violence, intimidation, and congregating near the stores.

Attorney Edward G. Woods, representing the company, said the CIO union seeks exclusive bargaining rights for 1,003 of the company's 3,000 employés, despite a state department of labor certification that 580 of the 1,003 workers qualified for the union are members of the rival local 643 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America [AFL]. He charged large groups of workers blocked the store entrances, threatened employés not on strike, and deflated delivery truck tires.

REPORT JURORS VOTE INDICTMENT IN GOON SLAYING

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted a true bill charging David Goldblatt with the goon murder of Anton Gorczak. Goldblatt confessed participation in the murder last Thursday, but later charged that the confession was obtained by force.

Gorczak, a driver for the Republic Cleaners at 1823 South Cicero avenue, Cicero, was clubbed to death April 23 in a tailoring shop at 1745 West 63d street. Goldblatt, who police say is an old time gangster, said in his confession that he was paid to attack Gorczak by Samuel Ginsberg, alias Gaines, a partner of Murray Humphreys, the gangster, in the Klever-Shampay Kleaners at 4631 Cottage Grove avenue. The shop in which Gorczak was killed had switched its patronage a short time earlier from the Klever-Shampay concern to the one that employed Gorczak.

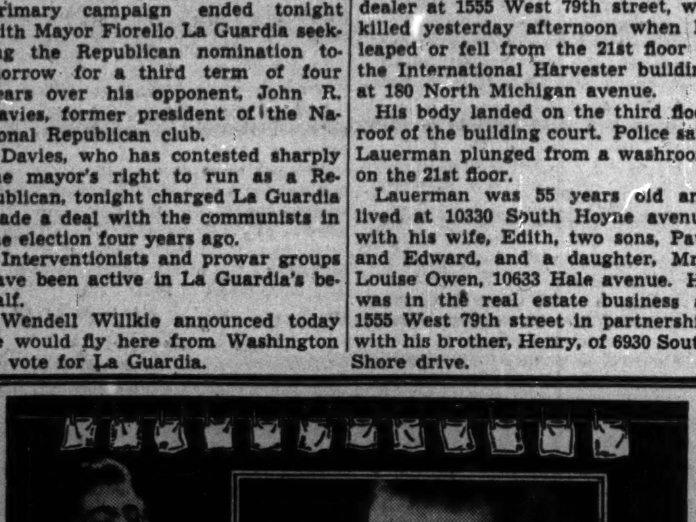
The slain man's widow, Bernice, was one of the witnesses before the grand jury. She was accompanied to the Criminal courts building by her sons, William, 13 years old, and Anton Jr., 11.

REALTY DEALER DIES IN PLUNGE FROM 21ST FLOOR

William Lauerman, a real estate dealer at 1555 West 79th street, was killed yesterday afternoon when he leaped or fell from the 21st floor of the International Harvester building at 180 North Michigan avenue.

His body landed on the third floor roof of the building court. Police said Lauerman plunged from a washroom on the 21st floor.

Lauerman was 55 years old and lived at 10330 South Hoyne avenue with his wife, Edith, two sons, Paul and Edward, and a daughter, Mrs. Louise Owen, 10633 Hale avenue. He was in the real estate business at 1555 West 79th street in partnership with his brother, Henry, of 6930 South Shore drive.



Better than a dozen hankies for opening STUFFY NOSTRILS

What's the use of soiling so many hankies, trying to blow mucus out of stopped-up nostrils? It only piles up the laundry bill. And remember, a lot of violent blowing only makes your nose more sore, red, unsightly, and it very often injures the delicate membranes.

A more economical and gentler way to relieve congestion in your nostrils due to a cold is to insert a little Mentholatum.

This delightful ointment will soon break up congested mucus, relieve the smothery feeling, and permit you to breathe normally through the nose. It also relieves sniffling, sneezing, swelling, soreness, and redness.

Mentholatum helps in so many ways that you should always remember this: For cold discomforts—Mentholatum. Link them together in your mind. Jars, tubes 30c.

Microphotographs Give Instructions.

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—William G. Sebold, who turned his German assignment in espionage over to the federal bureau of investigation, testified today that he came here with specific instructions for uncovering startling new devices in modern warfare.

He told a federal court judge and jury trying 16 men on charges of espionage conspiracy that a German gestapo leader had given him five micro-photographs of instructions to be distributed to spies here.

Information Asked.

One of the postage stamp size documents, which Sebold said was addressed early last year to Frederick Duquesne, a defendant, asked for detailed information on:

An American Telephone and Telegraph company bombing device, believed offered to Britain and France, under which one ray would direct a bomber to its target while another ray would release the bombs over the target;

All details on the size, capacity, production and delivery of a French Petez company aircraft plant believed to have been established in Montreal;

Also requested was information about an anti-aircraft shell with an "electric eye," with details on its firing.

Ask About Aircraft Plants.

Production and delivery by all the leading American aircraft plants;

New gun turret design for Sunderland flying boats;

Sperry range finders, especially whether they are equipped to record changes in altitude;

The instructions concluded with a warning to German agents to "report immediately any signs of American mobilization."

CORONERS OF NATION OPEN CONVENTION; COURTNEY SPEAKS

Mrs. Jessie A. Spalding.

Coroners from all parts of the United States gathered in the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday for the opening session of the fifth annual convention of the National Association of Coroners. More than 100 members of the association were present when the convention was called to order by President Charles H. Hersch, coroner of Philadelphia, and Vice President A. L. Brodie, Cook county coroner.

Among those present was Mrs. Jessie A. Spalding of San José, Cal., coroner and public administrator of Santa Clara county there, who is said to be one of the four woman coroners in the country. Mrs. Spalding took over her public office several years ago upon the death of her husband, who formerly held the position. She is seeking to persuade her fellow coroners to hold next year's convention in San José.

The last speaker at yesterday's session was State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, who welcomed the coroners to Chicago and discussed plans for cooperation between the office of state's attorney and that of coroner.

$1,188 WON FROM EX-COUNTESS IN CUSTOMS SUIT

The government yesterday won a judgment for $1,188 in the federal District court of Judge William J. Campbell against Mrs. Loranda Laidlaw, formerly the Countess Loranda Piccio. The judgment was based on Mrs. Laidlaw's failure to report to the customs officials on merchandise she purchased in Paris several years ago.

Mrs. Laidlaw, who is the daughter of the late David James Batchelder, wealthy Chicago lumberman, formerly was the wife of Gen. Pere Ruggerio Piccio, Italian count and member of the Fascist air force. She has been living in Florida and Connecticut. Her second husband is Loper P. Laidlaw.

Robert C. Eardley, assistant United States attorney, reported that the judgment was satisfied by the Tremont Lumber company, in which Mrs. Laidlaw has an investment. The judgment was entered originally in the federal court in Hartford, Conn., but assets could not be located in that district.

OCTOBER DRAFT QUOTA OF 7,405 SET FOR ILLINOIS

Army plans call for induction into the army of 7,405 men from Illinois during October, compared with 3,519 in the present month, Cook county selective service headquarters disclosed yesterday as inductions were resumed at the Chicago induction center after a two week shutdown.

The shutdown was made necessary by the current army maneuvers.

In October, 6,476 men of the 7,405 to be inducted will be put thru the Chicago station. Of the remainder, 428 will be processed at the Peoria station, and 501 at East St. Louis.

Transferring Legislation.

That the Constitution gives the President a negative on legislation, all know; but that this negative should be so combined with platforms and other appliances as to enable him, and in fact almost compel him, to take the whole of legislation into his own hands, is what we object to. . . . To thus transfer legislation is clearly to take it from those who understand with minuteness the interests of the people, and give it to one who does not and cannot so well understand it.

REBUILDING EUROPE AFTER THE WAR.

Those who say we must get into this war to rescue civilization don't seem to have looked very far ahead or to have profited from the experience of the past.

If we get in the pace of destruction can be expected to rise materially. More people will be killed. More money will be shot away. More property will be wrecked. It is difficult to believe that civilization will be furthered by the destruction of any more museums and libraries with their treasures from the past, or by the wrecking of railroads, docks, houses, factories which are the wealth of the present.

Already there has been tremendous devastation in Russia, Germany, France, England, Holland, Belgium, Poland, and the Balkans. If the war were to stop tomorrow many years would be required to repair these losses. The task will be anything but an easy one. Peacetime industries have been disorganized and their trained men have been scattered. Many factories have been smashed by bombs. The continued hammering of the port cities of France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, and England must have caused very considerable damage to the docks and warehouses which are essential for overseas commerce. Until these facilities are reëstablished western Europe, whose prosperity is built upon the flow of goods in and out of the ports, will not come back. The longer the war lasts the longer will be the period which Europe will have to devote to reconstruction.

If America gets into the war our economy, too, will be disorganized, our wealth will be dissipated, and we shall be in no position to lend a helping hand. Our participation for the preservation of civilization is calculated to prevent us from doing anything to restore civilization to Europe. If we stay out we can be of help, if we go in we must expect to join the list of impoverished nations with little or nothing to spare.

In the last war the allies were encouraged to continue the fighting because of a secret commitment, only slightly qualified, by Mr. Wilson to enlist on their side. Except for that the war might have ended two years sooner than it did in a peace without victory. It might have been a more lasting peace and it certainly could not have been a much shorter one. It might have been a juster peace. The losses would certainly have been less in men, goods, and money—and reconstruction would have been easier and swifter.

Mr. Wilson chose instead to enter the war to safeguard democracy, civilization, etc. What came out of it was the growth of tyranny in Europe and a world-wide depression. Our effort to foster civilization in Europe with sword and fire was not successful in 1917 and there is no reason to expect it will be more successful in 1941 or 1942.

If we stay out, if we preserve our independence and our free industrial system, we shall find ourselves in a dominant position when the war ends. We shall have what the world will then be clamoring for: Capital, food, tools. In those circumstances we can be more influential as well as more serviceable to the rest of the world than if, thru our participation, Mr. Roosevelt is permitted to sit at the peace table representing just another of the impoverished nations.

DR. THOMPSON RETIRES.

The forthcoming retirement of the Rev. John Thompson has been announced. He has served as a pastor in the loop district for nearly 40 years; since 1924, when the present skyscraper home of the First Methodist church was erected, he has been its spiritual leader. The news of his retirement has been heard with regret. Dr. Thompson's wisdom, his piety, his friendliness, and his sound citizenship have been of enduring service to the community. Chicagoans of all faiths will unite in wishing him many years of happy retirement. He has earned them by a life of extraordinary usefulness.

BULK TRANSPORTATION.

Mr. Ralph Budd testified recently that the cost of transporting oil in tankers, barges, pipe lines, tank cars, and trucks would be in the relationship of 1, 2½, 3, 6, and 18. In other words, the movement by tank car would cost about six times as much as by ship. These figures are borne out by studies made by the American Petroleum institute. This information was developed in connection with the assertion on the part of the railroads that with their 20,000 surplus tank cars they could easily handle the transportation shortage occasioned by the transfer of 50 tankers to Great Britain.

For many years the Interstate Commerce commission has refused to allow rail carriers to make cargo or trainload rates on the theory that such a practice would be discriminatory against the smaller shipper. The same argument was used by the commission 50 years ago in refusing to allow the carriers to make rates on carload shipments. The demands of industry forced the carload basis, and a short time ago the commission permitted the carriers to initiate trainload or cago rates to meet boat competition.

Another forward step would be to amend the transportation act to make it possible for the shipper and carrier to agree to a flat rate or charge applicable upon a given quantity of freight, be it all or only a part of the shipper's output, to be moved during any period of time, provided such rate or charge were nondiscriminatory.

Such an arrangement has been in effect in England for some time, and there has been some modification of the law along these lines in Canada. If our law could be so liberalized, the American system of private enterprise and initiative would be considerably advanced and a real service rendered to the railroads and the country as a whole.

THE CHECK-OFF RACKET.

Some thousands of coal miners in Pennsylvania are on strike. They have no grievance against their employers. There is no jurisdictional question involving a rival union. They are striking against the officers of their own union.

The union, John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, recently boosted the miners' annual dues and assessments from $14 to $24 a year. The miners don't want to pay, but if they keep on working they will pay, regardless of their wishes in the matter. The union has a check-off agreement with the employers. The employers deduct the dues and assessments from the miners' pay and turn them over to the union direct. The only way the miners can keep the union from collecting the dues is not to earn any pay. When they go back to work the charges still will be facing them on the company books.

The check-off was a more or less innocent outgrowth of the company store system in the mining industry. In the isolated mining communities the miners bought all their necessities from the company store on credit. The payments were deducted from their pay. Some union organizer thought that would be a good way to collect dues, and so it has been—for the organizers.

The check-off is a companion institution to the closed shop, but not a necessary one. Views may differ on the justification of the closed shop and its advantage to the working man. The check-off is of no advantage to him. It is purely in the interest of the union official.

Many unions work under a closed shop arrangement. If a member falls behind in his dues, the union notifies the employers and under the closed shop contract the employé has to pay up or lose his job. That is the maximum protection any union needs, or should have.

An employer under a closed shop contract can dismiss a handful of his employés for failure to maintain their standing in the union. He can't fire his whole working force. The only defense members of many unions, including the United Mine Workers, have against arbitrary actions by their own officials is to refuse to pay their dues. It is that defense that the check-off is designed to destroy, and does destroy.

But trades unions are supposed to be democratic organizations. If the members don't like the dues schedules, why don't they unseat their present officials and install others? Any one who asks that question isn't familiar with the organization of the United Mine Workers. Years ago Mr. Lewis suspended the elected heads of a number of the district unions, putting his own appointees in their place. These appointees appoint, in turn, the delegates to the national convention of the union. Mr. Lewis ratifies Mr. Lewis' actions.

The only way he can ever be unseated is for his political lieutenants in the union to stage a palace revolution. They will have to work simultaneously, and fast. Otherwise he will fire them and put a new set of stooges in their place. The members can't secede. The check-off continues to take their dues.

The check-off is a thoroly vicious institution. Its only purpose is to permit the exploitation of union members by officials whom they are usually powerless to replace. It should be abolished by law.

A HIRED MAN.

The appointment of Edward A. Hayes of Decatur to represent Illinois on the foreign relations committee of the American Legion convention is a dangerous signal of the extent to which the war mongers have succeeded in seizing the convention machinery.

Mr. Hayes is the personal political property of Secretary of the Navy Knox. He is a member of the political propaganda machine the secretary has built out of defense funds, holding rank in the navy as a lieutenant commander in the intelligence section.

Such a hired man cannot speak with any authority as the representative of the people of Illinois, or the rank and file of the Legion in this state, on foreign affairs. The view for which he stands is the one they have repudiated at every opportunity.

A SCIENTIST ON POLLS.

[New York Sun.]

A report on the validity of polls of public opinion has been made to the American Psychological association by Dr. Henry C. Link, one of the country's foremost authorities in the field of applied psychology. Dr. Link's paper demonstrates scientifically what many have felt instinctively, that such polls are, and by their nature must be, misleading and contradictory. It is not only because the "sampling" of opinion is done on too small a scale, for the psychologist emphasizes that even if a million instead of a few hundreds were polled, some of the sources of error would remain. Among these sources he stresses the observed fact that many people answer poll questions without really knowing their own minds. Another feature of poll results, their tendency to contradict one another, it took no psychologist to discover. "As far apart as the poles" needs only a slight change in spelling to be topical. Asked if they thought the government should act to keep prices down, 85 per cent of voters said yes, 5 per cent no; when a short time afterward they were asked if the government should act to prevent wages from rising, 27 per cent said yes and 35 per cent no. If they were asked, "Will you eat your cake or have it?" they presumably would reply, "both."

All this would have little importance if it were not for the fact that the results of polls are constantly flung back and forth in political debates as if they were arguments. One poll is invoked to demonstrate that the people want a two-ocean navy and a chicken in every pot; the other side counters with a poll that proves the people don't want taxes increased. One side can prove by the polls that Americans don't want war and are opposed to contagious diseases; the other knocks this galley-west by showing that our people are overwhelmingly against being enslaved by a foreign oppressor. Issues that congress and the people have to face these days are complicated enough without piling upon them the confusion that straw votes engender, and Dr. Link will have accomplished a useful work if his report causes people to take them less seriously.

ILLINOIS EXPLORATION.

Where are the red and yellow leaves of autumn so celebrated in song and story? We covered 650 miles of the Illinois landscape last week-end without seeing more than a hatful. The trees seemed to be saying: "This is a long summer. Don't ask us to put on the lipstick for another month."

Where are the de luxe motor courts that are said to be cutting painful gashes in the hotel business? We didn't see one. For that matter, the old style tourist cabins were almost as scarce as hen's teeth on our Illinois trail also, and the roadside refreshment booths were by no means numerous.

Nauvoo, the mother lode of a great American epic, was our chief objective. A Haymarket Riot Hoax.

Hoaxes bring to my mind one perpetrated by the late Clara E. Laughlin on the night of Nov. 10, 1887. At dawn five men would be hanged as an aftermath of the Haymarket riots. Miss Laughlin, then working as a reporter for a Chicago morning paper—I believe the Inter Ocean—was sent to the county jail to pick up something of interest. She found the jail dark and quiet, and so reported to her editor. With a bang of his fist he told her to go back and get a story.

Miss Laughlin sat down in the hall and used her imagination. In the middle of the night, she wrote, Albert Parsons, one of those condemned to die, had suddenly started singing "Annie Laurie." He sang it with such beauty and pathos that all other prisoners and even the guards joined in the song. The hoax made the first page, was reprinted all over the country, and soon became history.

As the years passed, Miss Laughlin tried hard to set things right. It was no use. The story was too good to let truth spoil it. No record of the Haymarket riot was ever complete without it, just as Stanton's never uttered words, "Now he belongs to the ages," goes with the story of Lincoln's death. Otto Eisenschiml.

Is There a Red Maple Tree in Chicago.

Where are the red maple trees of yore? I remember them as a boy; a few grew along the Des Plaines river around Pickerel Point and Santa Fe park.

Henry Ward Beecher once wrote of the red maple, "It is one of the most gorgeous trees, both in spring, blossoming, and in autumn, with its crimson foliage. But it stands knee-deep in swamp water." Ymir Shanb.

BRICKLAYER POET.

(Ben Jonson, 1573-1637.)

A strong horse and a tough plow's naked share
Need but a meadow in the April sun
To stir from dormant nature's earthy lair
The fruits that harvest home brings ripely on.
An' if the horse be kin to Pegasus,
The plow blade fashioned from heroic swords,
And the field Elizabethan masses;
You have the setting to beget brave words.
So vigorous Jonson came upon the stage,
With wild companions, able to excite
Enduring studies and artistic rage
Like forked lightning in a stormy night.
O, rare, that such a one should also be
High capable in songs of tender glee!

IS CANCER INHERITED OR CONTAGIOUS? NO!

AMONG the thousands of letters which reach this department yearly, a generous number have to do with cancer. Such questions are asked as—"Is it contagious?" "Is it inherited?"

To both queries, the answer is "No." There isn't the slightest proof that the cause is a specific bacterium or parasite. Furthermore, no case of contagion has been demonstrated. I have never known of a research worker in this field to contract it, altho the ailment is no respecter of persons and will attack physicians as readily as those in other walks of life.

As has been shown repeatedly, a normal mouse may be placed in a cage with cancerous mice, and it will remain healthy for the duration of life. Even tho it is fed on cancer cells, the disease will not be transmitted. But it is exceedingly difficult to persuade an apprehensive family, in which a member is afflicted, that there is no danger to the one who cares for the patient—who bathes and feeds him. Apparently the reason is because rumor is ofttimes stronger than truth. "Mr. A. acquired the malady from his wife," or vice versa, is a twice told tale. To all such stories we may ask, what is the evidence? There is none.

Altho there are regions in which goiter is widespread, we must view with doubt the assertion that there are communities where cancer seems to be more prevalent. It may be merely a coincidence, or perhaps the occupations of the inhabitants are related in some way to irritation. This is the key to the puzzle. We know that any substance, such as tar, if rubbed into the skin day after day, week after week, may bring on malignancy. This has been known for more than a century and a half. It was first suggested when an English surgeon, Percival Pott, described cancer as fairly common among chimney-sweeps, ascribing it to the constant contact with soot or particles of greasy carbon. Today we recognize many varieties of irritants, among which oils or benzene derivatives may be included.

When we emphasize the importance of the "prodding" of cells, which permits them to get out of hand—to grow in an outlaw fashion—we cannot reconcile this with a specific "starter." It should be kept in mind that when tissues respond to persistent annoyance, they may do so more readily when resistance is low. Such a situation is presented when the diet is poorly balanced or inadequate.

Altho an attempt has been made to trace the origin to parasitic worms, the only effect these crawlers appear to have is to produce chronic inflammation. In this sense only can they be held responsible.

Heredity should be considered only in relation to the general health and the length of life. There are certain families the members of which reach the seventh, eighth, or even the ninth decades. There are others who are susceptible to all the ills of mankind and whose span is 10 or 20 years less than the average. Naturally, as one grows older, the system becomes less resistant, with the result that cancer may be observed frequently in middle age and beyond.

From many authorities comes the dictum that the risk of falling a victim—because one or both parents had it—is small. Francis Carter Wood, director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, advises that probably we shall have to give up the idea of inheritance as a factor. By and large, students of the malady the world over have come to this conclusion. There is every reason, therefore, why we should banish this fear—at the same time keeping a weather eye open for all types of cell stimulation, for sores that fail to heal promptly, and for any form of abnormal discharge.

FAMILY WEAKNESS.

A Mother writes: All my children are confirmed alcoholics. Can I put something in their food to break this habit?

REPLY.

The tendency may be too firmly fixed for mild measures. Drugs used surreptitiously, as antidotes, are of little value. Sanitarium treatment is the answer. This is expensive and heartbreaking. Character must be molded when it is pliable. A generous application of hickory oil, at the proper time—plus companions of the right sort—will save oceans of tears later.

ONLY SO FAR.

REPLY.

ON ADAMS AND JEFFERSON.

Oak Park, Ill., Sept. 12.—In his speech last night, the President referred to President Adams and President Jefferson in almost the same breath, indicating he wanted to go down in history as the same brand of hero. As a matter of fact, Adams and Jefferson were bitter enemies politically. Adams' followers were pro-British, and in his term of office chaos reigned. The era was known as the reign of terror.

Jefferson, on the other hand, was anti-British, and there was talk of the New England states seceding from the Union should the Jefferson party come into power. Jefferson set about gathering leaders from the various states to oppose this. Jefferson, of course, was Vice President.

England was at war with France, and the Federalists [Adams' party] wanted to go to war to help England fight the French. Jefferson knew the French people as no one else in the country knew them, and he considered them our friends. They had helped us in our fight for freedom, so why fight them? Thus the Jeffersonian party was born. It started from scratch and swept the country like an avalanche to oust Adams after only one term. Adams, in pique, drove away from town and refused to be present at the Jefferson inauguration.

President Jefferson, quite unlike President Roosevelt, did all in his power to keep American vessels home, away from the war zone, and many cartoons were drawn at the time revolving around the phrase "O grab me," which is the reverse spelling of "embargo." Insult after insult followed from England, and the Federalists called Jefferson a tool of Napoleon. One cartoon showing Napoleon crouching behind Jefferson's chair with a promise to make him king, and the word appeaser appearing also, hangs today in one of the rooms of Monticello.

Three and a quarter years more of the present administration, and a new Jefferson will appear. It has never failed.

APPALLING SHORTAGES.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—In reply to a Tribune editorial, "Are There Any Shortages?" I say yes, there are plenty of them, to wit:

1. There is a marked shortage of memory regarding our costly experiences after World war I. Also in relation to recent party platform pledges.
2. There is a large shortage of backbone in congressional circles.
3. We have a vast shortage of patriotic concern for America's best interests—OUR freedom.
4. There is an alarming shortage of tolerance to opposition and honest criticism of the revolutionary experiments and policies of our leaders.
5. There is a wholly unjustifiable shortage of coöperation by defense workers with their conscript brothers.
6. There is a needless but irritating shortage of frankness in our leaders' dealing with the press. [Atlantic rendezvous, British naval repairs, Seattle shooting, etc.].
7. There is an appalling shortage of safe, soft berths for OUR sons in service.

WORLD WAR I. VET.

IN DEFENSE OF PATROL BOYS.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—To a Worried Mother: As a former pupil of the Mary Lyon school, I cannot see wherein you are justified in saying that our school does not have proper patrol boy forces on our corners; nor how you can say the boys are not on their corners early enough. In the morning they are there before 8:30, at noon shortly after 12:30, and in the evening until 3:30. They are to be congratulated, not criticized. They give up their time of play during the day so that they can be of help to the youngsters.

This school has the finest principal in the Chicago school system. She has been at Mary Lyon ever since it opened over 14 years ago. If she did not have the interest of the school at heart do you suppose she would have been kept on for all these years?

Why do you let such small children come to school so early in the morning? If they were at the corner at 8:45 they would have plenty of time to get to school.

I am not writing this letter for Mary Lyon alone, but for all the grammar schools in this city. I know they are all provided with adequate patrol forces all during these school days. AN ALUMNA.

AND NOW MAURY MAVERICK.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—I note Maury Maverick has been appointed as an assistant to Leon Henderson. This is just another typical example of an undesirable, defeated at the polls, receiving a fat job in Washington.

Apparently elections or results at the polls mean nothing to the New Dealers.

It would be interesting reading if you would run an article giving the names of all the defeated New Dealers like Minton and Maverick who have been handed plums in the way of jobs by Mr. Roosevelt. J. L.

THE REACTION.

Churchill, skeptical; Petain, smiled; Hitler, snickered; "Bloody Joe," disappointed; 20 per cent of our citizens became hysterical "again," and the American public [the 80 per cent] remained calm.

O, me, what a world. G. W. S.

PUT IT TO A CONGRESS VOTE.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 12.—I should like to ask a senator or representative the following:

Why not bring up the question of war and demand a vote in the congress itself, so that the will of the people may be known—before Roosevelt and his advisors force the issue in their own way? Simply introduce a bill or resolution and have a vote now, before it is too late.

HARRY SULLIVAN.

SABATH'S REPLY.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Congressman Sabath gave his appeasing callers the only answer that any congressman could conscientiously give in like cases; and that is that he would have to use his best judgment and act accordingly because he was more familiar with the facts.

This is the right answer to the 80 per cent that we so often read about.

E. H. E.

TOO MUCH GOLD LACE.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Back during World conflict No. 1 "Peacock" Kelly, a petty officer, was bandmaster at the naval training station, Great Lakes. The band was classed as one of the finest in the land.

Looking over a recent picture of the present band at Great Lakes, I wonder whether the musical unit is comprised mostly of officers of the reserve corps. In the foreground is a lieutenant commander, a former banjo player on the stage and behind him stands in full dress uniform a lieutenant, whose stage orchestra was well known. He is flanked by an ensign. To the rear are some bandmasters, ratings unstated, and some regular gob players.

The other day I read: "Morgenthau Wants More Taxes." It would seem to me, one of the humble public, that there is too much gold lace for proper attunement. ARTHUR J. CONSIDINE.

PAYS A 1 CENT TAX.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Probably because it was the first time since the sales tax had been reduced to 2 per cent that my lunch [coffee and pie] had cost me only 15 cents, but I was bowled over by the cashier of a loop lunchroom when asked for 16 cents—1 cent tax. In answer to my question, "How come?" she pointed to a printed card released by the Chicago Restaurant Owners which verified the amount of tax she had added to my bill. Of course, I paid, but I still ask, "How come?" and shall look forward to a satisfactory answer in your column, Voice of the People, from some one who knows. HARVEY MARSHALL.

Corry, Pa., Sept. 11.—The smaller manufacturers thruout this great country are deeply indebted to THE TRIBUNE for the effective and militant work you have carried on in their behalf. We are now hopeful that the attitude about us is less nonchalant; in fact, we know that the "Massacre of the Innocents" cannot be executed without some formality.

MAKING A WILL.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Just what is the advantage of a will?

2. There is no property involved, just some money, insurance and personal and home furnishings.

3. I like to have my affairs in order, and therefore would like your advice.

4. I presume it is best to have an attorney draw up a will, and in that case [5] what is the fee? P. K.

1. One advantage is that it can save the cost of a surety company fee on an administrator's bond. Another is that you may prefer to make your own arrangements as to the division of the assets instead of leaving it to the statute of descent.
2. The advisability of a will depends on facts that are not before us.
3. You should go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.
4. Yes.
5. Depends on facts that are not before us.

PAID HUSBAND $132,000; NOW WANTS IT BACK

He Broke Divorce Pact, Says Mrs. Jarratt.

Divorce Contestant

MRS. RUTH JONES JARRATT.

Ruth Jones Jarratt, wife of Walter Jefferson Jarratt, president of the Safety Vulcanizer company, separated from her husband March 20, 1940, and in May of that year gave Jarratt $132,000 under terms of a settlement agreement signed by both parties and by Lewis E. Pennish, Jarratt's attorney, who drew up the settlement.

The agreement, made in anticipation of a divorce, provided that thru acceptance of the $132,000 Jarratt waived all other dower claims to his wife's estate. The money, according to Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr., representing Mrs. Jarratt, was used to pay debts of Jarratt's company.

Sues for Divorce.

Last June Mrs. Jarratt filed suit for divorce in Superior court, with desertion as grounds. A few days later Jarratt filed an answer, contesting her desertion charge and stating that she had "ordered" him from the house.

Jarratt's answer charged also that his wife demanded they live with her parents, and that he was "treated and looked upon by her parents with derision and contempt, an attitude likewise adopted by her." Mrs. Jarrat filed an answer to Jarrat's answer, denying his allegations.

On July 6 Mrs. Jarratt's father, George Herbert Jones, died. Mr. Jones was one of the founders of the Inland Steel company and left an estimated $1,000,000 in trust, the income to go to his daughter, who lives at 229 Lake Shore drive, during her lifetime.

Yesterday Attorneys Cantwell and William C. Boyden appeared with Mrs. Jarratt before Superior Judge Rudolph Desort with a petition asking that the $132,000 given Jarratt be placed in escrow with the court clerk pending the outcome of the divorce. Attorney Pennish filed a motion to strike Mrs. Jarratt's petition, claiming the settlement was void because Jarratt, since he needed the money for his business, actually signed "under duress." Pennish also said it was in effect a collusive agreement intended to result in divorce.

Calls Him Indian Giver.

Cantwell asked Pennish if he had not drawn up and signed the agreement. Pennish said he had.

Cantwell then said to Judge Desort: "This is a case of an Indian giver and a welsher. Mrs. Jarratt charged desertion, but if forced to do so will ask leave to amend her petition and charge misconduct."

Judge Desort suggested that all the issues be settled at once by hearing the divorce case as a contested one. This was agreeable to both sides, but Pennish stipulated that the case be heard by a jury. Judge Desort set it for hearing on Sept. 30.

Fires at Fleeing Youth, Gun Kicks Out Front Tooth

Policeman Henry Kosinski of the Albany Park station lost a front tooth early today in shooting at and slightly wounding Raymond M. Hartsell, 14 years old, 7304 Irving Park road, a suspected burglar. Kosinski and his partner, Edward Schillen, responded to a report that a burglar was in the candy store at 3628 Milwaukee avenue.

As Hartsell fled down an alley Kosinski accidentally fired his shotgun. Two pellets struck young Hartsell in the legs, but the gun kicked Kosinski in the mouth. Hartsell was arrested and taken to the juvenile home. He works in the candy store. Police said he admitted breaking into it.

PAROLEE ROBS 15 LOAN OFFICES TO BUY LUNCHROOMS

Another Ex-Felon Admits Holdup, Names Pals.

Ira Rhodes.

Ira Rhodes, a parolee from the penitentiary at San Quentin, Cal., last night disclosed to Fillmore street police why he has been able to purchase two hole-in-the-wall lunchrooms in recent weeks. The revelation came after Rhodes, 32 years old, was arrested for his holdup of the Family Loan corporation office at 4806 West Madison street.

Questioned by Capt. Louis Klatzco, Rhodes admitted 14 other robberies since his release from prison last November after serving a term for robbery. All were in loan offices, he said, and he used the receipts to buy a sandwich shop at 531 North Wabash avenue and another at 1017 North Clark street. He paid for the former with $600 taken in a robbery on July 19 in a loan office in the Burnham building and for the second with $300 from a holdup in another loan office at 6253 South Wood street.

Chased by Police and Bystanders.

His arrest yesterday came after Paul Rockafellar, manager of the office, chased him into the street and yelled to Policeman George Holmes, stationed nearby. Holmes, bystanders, and a passing squad of policemen pursued Rhodes thru passageways and alleys and finally seized him hiding in the basement of a building at 4920 Quincy street.

Police yesterday solved the $3,000 holdup last Friday night of a saloon at 3504 North Cicero avenue, with the confession of Sam [Snakes] Gervase, 36, 1111 Hudson avenue. Gervase, who served from 1924 to 1931 in the Joliet penitentiary for larceny, named three other ex-convicts as his accomplices in the robbery. They are being sought.

Gervase was seized early yesterday in a refrigerator repair shop he operates at 609 West Division street. He refused to tell Sergt. Herbert Demke and his squad how much of the loot he got and insisted another member of the gang was the leader in the robbery.

COUNTY HIGHWAY DEPUTIES RAID CLUB IN CICERO

Deputies from the Willow Springs county highway police station raided the Rock Garden club at 2131 South Cicero avenue, Cicero, last night, and broke up a half dozen games of blackjack and poker. The raiders, headed by Acting Lieut. Peter Brown, chased out 75 men and women players, arrested 10 employés, and confiscated a quantity of gambling equipment. Joseph Prarrillo was booked as the keeper.

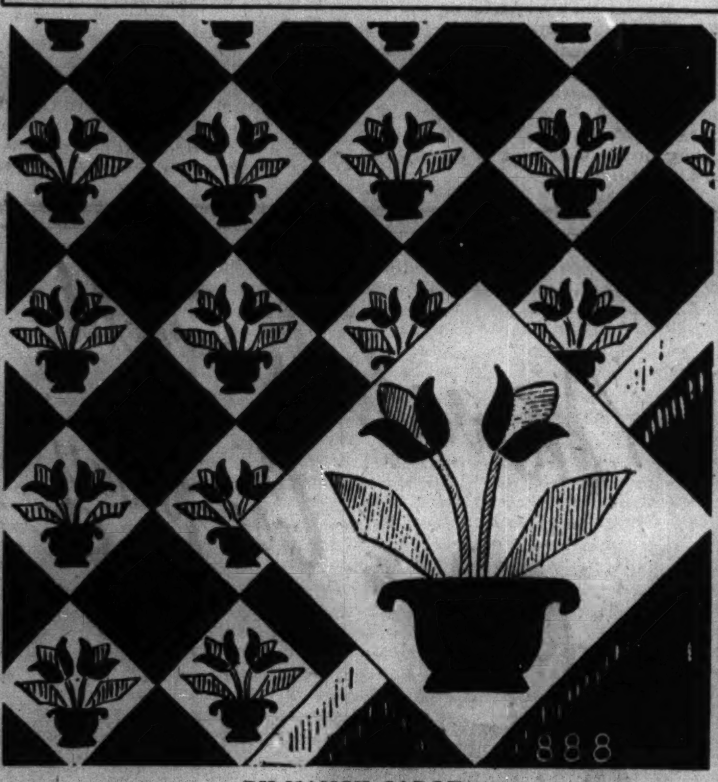
"Basket of Tulips" Patterns



BY NANCY CABOT.

Tulips are one of the favorite floral motifs for quilt design, and this "Basket of Tulips" patchwork quilt is no exception. The blocks are easy to set together. The original was created in two shades of yellow for the tulips, green for the leaves and stems, and blue for the baskets. By utilizing scraps from the quilt bag, plaid baskets may be used most effectively.

Fashion Smiles on Bejeweled Chests for Fall

BY REA SEEGER.

The width of your chest is the limit this fall of your parade ground of costume jewelry. You no longer need practice restraint. Instead of wearing one huge clip or pin, you will wear anywhere from 10 to 12 pieces, your entire collection, if you please. If such an array doesn't start conversation, nothing ever thought of by clip and pin collectors will. Such a mass of chest decorations will rival the magnificent assortments seen on our most bemedaled brigadier generals.

Seriously, the vogue is a clever one. Consider what a half dozen mirth or thought provoking gadgets will do for a dull black or for even a dejected looking dress. Fish, fowl, pup, kitten, bird in a cage, stars, horse head and anything else in silver, colored enamel, gold, copper, or bejeweled trinkets all are pinned hither and yon, usually on the left half of the chest. The result is dazzling, eye blinding, and breathtaking, but it's worth an early tryout, particularly if you like something new and rather startling and own lots of decorative gadgets.

New this fall are some beautiful revivals of old Victorian jewelry in garnet stars. Three to five of these rather large stars are pinned on either dress, coat, or suit jacket. Cabochon cut rhinestones shine resplendently on simple tailored street dresses for a decided change. Pink topaz, zircons, and simulated rubies large in cut make extremely effective jeweled belts for daytime dresses. Victorian dog collars are smart and new whether they are of velvet studded with glittering rhinestones or seed pearls or the more bejeweled affairs on mesh. Long gloves are held tightly in place with 1941 versions of the garter.

Community Fund's Goal Explained to Group of Sponsors

The $3,583,000 goal of the 1941 Community Fund was explained yesterday before 300 industrialists and business men by Bryan S. Reid, chairman of the sponsors' division. He said the city's 185 major charities and welfare agencies confronted with rising costs in administration and service, have pared their budgets to absolute necessities. These the Community Fund hopes to supply.

Mr. Reid said the charities' budgets total $18,000,000. Of this they expect to receive $9,700,000 in earnings from endowments. Of the remaining $8,300,000 they hope to obtain about 55 per cent, or $4,717,000, in personal contributions. The Community fund hopes to raise the balance.

The sponsors' division, whose work precedes that of the general campaign, annually raises about half the fund's goal.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The slams that are hardest to reach in the bidding are those which can be made because of a perfect "fit" rather than because of honor trick preponderance. Take, for instance, the North-South hands in the deal recorded below. On paper it would not appear that there should be any difficulty in reaching the obviously correct six club contract, yet, in a recent seven table duplicate game, in which the players were at least average, only one North-South pair reached the slam.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass

After South's original pass, North did not view his own hand with any great enthusiasm. His honor trick holding was only fair and, even when South responded with the "fitting" bid of two clubs, North hardly could get slam-minded. As a matter of fact, during the early stages of bidding North could not quite decide what the best final contract would be, insofar as a suit or no trump was concerned. Due to the match-point scoring he was rather inclined to permit the three no trump bid to stand, and only with grave doubts did he insist on the minor suit contract. At no time did North feel justified in making a strong slam-try. Instead, he attempted to describe his distribution accurately and leave further decision to South. The latter naturally favored no trump strongly, and it was only after North's jump bid to five clubs that South could form a slam picture.

Even after arriving at the slam there still was work to be done in fulfilling the contract, due to the failure of the trump suit to break. West opened the diamond king. The ace won, a low club was led to the king, and a club returned to the ace. Now that it was apparent that a trump trick must be lost, declarer saw that it would not be enough to establish North's spade suit by ruffing, because this would leave South only two trumps with which to take care of North's three diamonds. The only chance, then, was to bring home the spade suit without loss and this, of course, involved a winning finesse against the queen. Luckily for declarer, he guessed the two-way finesse correctly. He led a low spade from dummy and played his own jack, then cashed the ace. The queen dropping from East, it was all over. A heart was ruffed and the spade king cashed. East hastily ruffed in with the high trump, but declarer was able to discard his losing diamond and the rest of the tricks were then cold.

Teacher Can Find Causes of Stealing

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you're a teacher, you expect, since the boys and girls in your class are human, that they will do many small things which you feel they shouldn't and which are not conducive to the work that has to be done, but for seriously undesirable behavior you're not looking.

Stealing, you discover, has been going on in your classroom. That comes as quite a shock.

Disturbing the class or leaving homework undone or acting silly to make the children laugh, well, you expect those things. But does stealing make you look askance at a boy or girl? It does seem in a different category from ordinary misbehavior, yet it must not make you draw away from a boy or girl. All it should make you feel is, "Here is a child who needs real help."

The way for you to be of real help to that child is to do the very thing which we advise a mother to do, to dig around the roots of this action, gently, persuasively, and find out why he steals. There may be various causes.

Perhaps this boy, and with stealing it's more likely to be a boy than a girl, steals because he wants something his parents have not been able to give him, or to treat his crowd in order to "hold up his end," or perhaps to court popularity; or it may be that he has no money for sports supplies, such as a bat or a team uniform. A talk with him and, perhaps, a chance to earn money or possibly a conversation with the boy's parents will usually clear things up. Of course if there's dire need at home, outside help will have to be called in. WHAT the child steals is often a clew to WHY he steals.

There may be, of course, a simple reason for stealing—namely that there has been absolutely no home training to help a child distinguish between "mine and thine." This is very easily taught to the young child, but less easily to the older child, if he has already acquired the stealing habit.

Since such a stigma attaches to stealing, the teacher should protect the child as much as possible while helping him.

"Why Children Steal" is a booklet of interest to parents and teachers. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Doris Advises Girl to Oust Lazy Suitor

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Sue tells that her young man is having difficulty getting a job. For more than a year he has been out of work. She writes that his slowness in getting work is that he refuses to take any kind of job, and he has not been offered the kind of money he believes he is worth.

"I have offered him money to go into business," the girl tells, "but he claims he does not want to rush into any business without long deliberation, and so he has not accepted my offer altho he is considering it. He says he wants to get into something substantial, or nothing at all. But as soon as he is able to obtain the right thing, we will get married, he says. What do you think I should do? Wait for him to get into something substantial, or break off right now?—Suzie."

That young man, Suzie, sounds to us like some one that were better broken off with pronto. He's either trying to dodge matrimony or is one of those characters who feels the world owes him a nice fat living without asking him to work in return.

It's not the time or the day to be choosey in job getting, and no chap worth his salt would sit around waiting for the perfect thing to turn up, meanwhile leaning upon others for his support, which he must be doing. Some one always is supporting the out of work person, you know.

And, girl, if you ever want to see your money again, you just keep it securely locked in the bank. Once you hand it over to that chap as a business venture, or for any other reason, you're sunk. And rightly. No girl has the right to add to a man's delinquency.

LUNCH AT OZARK COMMERCIAL HOUSE.
PART II.

While I am wondering whether to choose boysenberry cobbler or lemon cream pie for dessert, Lynn and Clyde Ethel Walker come in and seat themselves at the long dinner table in the Commercial House. We talk fishing and crops, and local news while we hand along platters and bowls of fried chicken, cottage cheese, boiled navy beans, boiled beef, cabbage, wilted lettuce, cold slaw, and other foods. The waitress rushes in with a plateful of hot cloverleaf rolls and a bowl of fresh chicken gravy. The Walkers are two of Mountain Views' most important personages. Lynn is a well-liked person with a great store of woodlore, and Clyde Ethel is postmistress. No ordinary small-town postmistress is Clyde Ethel. She's brainy and quick-witted, and Uncle Sam knows it for autographed photographs of every important official, including President Roosevelt, hang over her desk. We stay-at-homes are proud of Clyde Ethel because we know her good looks and assured manner reflect credit on our town, when she runs down to Washington to attend a political meeting, or to speak at a postmaster's convention. And we like to see the pretty dresses and citified hats she brings back with her.

"The Jedge and I have been talking about taking a float trip on the Current river from Eminence to Van Buren," I remark.

* *

"I was just a bride," says Clyde Ethel, reminiscently, "when we took our float trip. Lynn thought it would be a nice trip for us. And he asked one of his kinfolks and her husband and little boy to come along with us!" Clyde Ethel looks pointedly at her husband, who flushes under his tan and looks down at his plate.

"I take it the trip was a bit faulty," says the Jedge.

"Even worse than that," says Clyde Ethel. "The day we drove over to Eminence, a rabbit ran across the road. I knew right then we were in for bad luck, but we got over to the river all right. We had a nice big boat, and we had it loaded with provisions, and we all got in it and started down the river. We hadn't gone more than a mile before we hit a low spot, and we had to get out."

"Get out and wade?"

"Sure!" Wade and PUSH! I got out, and the men got out. But the other woman stayed in the boat. I didn't say anything. I figured I hadn't been in the family long enough to express myself. But the river was lower that summer than it's ever been since. Every few minutes we'd have to get out and walk and the stones cut my feet! And hot . . . heavens, how hot it was! By the end of the day I was tired enough to drop. But there was supper to get! The boys had caught some fish and I had to cook them. After walking all day! Then a rain came up! The kinfolks hadn't brought a tent, so we gave them ours. Lynn and I took our cots over to an old corncrib standing near the river! Along in the night, the birds' nests up on the beams began falling down. We turned flashlights up to the rafters and found copperhead snakes up there robbing the bird nests and pushing them down.

"Well, we got out of there in a hurry! So we spent the rest of the night in the boat!"

"But the scenery! Wasn't it great?" asks the Jedge. "Maybe!" says Clyde Ethel. "I was too tired to notice."

"Go on, Clyde Ethel," I beg. "What happened next?"

* *

"The next thing that happened was Sunday," continues Clyde Ethel. "The kinfolks said we'd have bad luck if we traveled on Sunday. They wanted to stay camped all day. Lynn said Sunday was like any other day in the woods. And me . . . I just wanted to get the trip over with, as soon as possible.

"We started out again. Pretty soon we had to get out and push, as usual! That time, I stepped into a hole and went down over my head. When I got up, I was mad clear through.

"'Look here,' I said, 'I'm tired of this business of walking while SHE rides.' I pointed to the other woman and said, 'Unless she gets out and walks, I ride, too!' I flopped into the boat. But of course, that made it too heavy a push over the rocks then. The men folks said we'd have to get out. I got out, meekly enough after I'd had my say."

"And the other woman! Did she finally get out and walk?" I ask. Clyde Ethel looks sternly at her stalwart husband.

"Yes, she got out! But her husband carried her!"

The waitress brings my boysenberry cobbler, heaping with whipped cream! The Jedge reaches over and yanks it deftly beyond my reach.

"Lay off those calories, woman, or you'll WADE!"

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Did you ever notice how, in early fall, your skin has what a witty friend of ours describes as that "hungover" look? It looks as tho it had had a pretty rough time of it for the last few months—and that's exactly the kind of a time most skins have in summer, when we put aside our creams and let the wind and the sun do their darndest. You don't notice it so much when you're wearing summer things—but just try on a dark dress, hat and coat and you're conscious that the girlish complexion is not what it ought to be!

Come fall, and you've got to get back to the business of taking better care of your skin. And the earlier you start, the better.

You might, if dryness and sallowness are two of your greatest worries, start off with an investment in a superlatively good night cream. Not a cleanser, but a cream used to help correct. We know of one that does a wonderful job of oiling and softening and that has still another trick up its sleeve. It's a gentle whitener!

It's rich as can be in lubricating oils, handmade, pleasantly scented and not very expensive. The woman who makes it insists that it be "nibbled" into the skin, which means that after you smooth it on you must pinch it in gently. This is a good practice. Skins need that gentle stimulation and exercise. It peps them up, and when the exercise is combined with good oiling as it is when you use this cream it really resolves itself into a bang-up little beauty treatment. You can do this whenever you have privacy and leisure. It's not necessary to leave the cream on overnight. It will do its work in quick time if you nibble it in.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The autumn theatrical season opened under an especially beneficent star last night. In "Claudia" the audience in the Selwyn theater made the acquaintance of a play so gracious, so kindly and warm that we seldom encounter its like in these troubled years.

A radiant young actress named Phyllis Thaxter, only last year an understudy who never had a chance to appear before an audience, achieved in the title rôle one of those Cinderella successes which periodically occur to make the stage fresh and exciting. And John Golden's management could observe happily, thruout the entire evening, the sort of response that arises only when a hit is born.

Rose Franken, who showed several years ago in "Another Language" her rare gift for tempering insight with compassion, has created in Claudia a young wife whose attachment to her mother remains so strong that it seriously threatens her relationship to David, her older and very understanding and very loving husband.

Not even an attempt to behave in a worldly manner with the extremely "British Englishman" next door brings her into the maturity she needs; only the cataclysmic collision of life and death, in the simultaneous discovery that she is to have a baby and that her mother is soon to die, succeeds in making a grown-up wife and daughter of Claudia.

Ordinarily it is a risky business for an author to direct a play, but Miss Franken, in her first venture as a stage director, has guided her actors miraculously. In the first act, in which primarily we are introduced to Claudia, David, and Mrs. Brown, Claudia's mother, the atmosphere is one of unusual intimacy and charm. Miss Thaxter, Reed Brown, and Beverly Bayne actually create the illusion of domesticity. They are not players moving about the stage according to prearranged plan and diagram, or at least they do not seem to be; they behave like people who know each other well and who, as David says, both love and like one another.

If "Claudia" possesses the simple beauty of friendliness and of a poised belief that love has the power to confound death and jealousy, it is at the same time primarily a comedy. Its dialogue is pungent and happily turned. Claudia's eager, vivid mind leaps from one idea to another, frequently omitting all reference to logic, and often precipitating homely truths with the supreme illogic that is the basis of humor. The audience laughs a great deal, and the transitions from gayety to pathos and back again are frequent and skillful.

This enchanting play was well performed last night, and it will be even better performed in weeks to come. Miss Thaxter, with her bright, darting eyes, and her lithe, expressive body, all but hid the nervousness which made her hurry the tempo of the first act and miss a couple of laughs in the second. Her sense of the stage is spontaneous, her vivacity borders on brilliance, and her style is her very own. Tonight, with the opening night tremors gone, she will surpass her real success of last night.

Mr. Brown seemed to grow into his part after a slightly strained first act. David's principal attributes are his reasonableness, his honesty, and his affectionate nature, and as the play progressed Mr. Brown projected them well. Beverly Bayne, returned from undeserved obscurity, impersonated the mother with quiet command.

In the second act a splashy and effective counterplot introduces Marguerite Namara, the former Chicago Opera association prima donna, as an operatic singer who passes briefly in and out of Claudia's life. Mme. Namara gave a superbly broad character sketch, fully as racy as her distinguished contribution to "Night of Love" last winter, and tossed in snatches of vocalizing that included several brilliant trills on high C and D.

Robert Craven, as the too British neighbor, offers amusing moments, and Edit Angold makes something heartwarming out of a small servant rôle. Bruno Wick's manservant is sympathetically played, and Lila Lee is satisfactory in an incidental part.

Susanna Allen Will Be Bride of New Ensign

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN Miss Susanna Allen returns tomorrow from the east, she will be caught up in a whirl of parties and trousseau shopping, for she is to be married in less than two weeks. Today Mr. and Mrs. C. Durand Allen are announcing their daughter's engagement to John Patrick le Poer Trench, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. John le Poer Trench of Staten Island, N. Y., whom Miss Allen has been visiting.

Miss Allen and the young easterner plan to be married on Saturday, Sept. 27, in the Winnetka Congregational church. The 5 o'clock ceremony will be followed by a small family reception in the Allen home in Winnetka. The bridal party will be small but will include Mr. Trench's sister, Jean, who was Miss Allen's roommate at St. Catherine's school in Richmond, Va.

Young Mr. Trench will take his bride to the west coast to reside. He was a member of last week's graduating class at the Abbott Hall naval training school and has received orders to report for duty at San Diego, Cal.

A debutante of two seasons ago, Miss Allen made her bow at a tea dance at the Winnetka Woman's club. She studied at St. Catherine's and at Brilliamont, Lausanne, Switzerland. Her fiancé attended Haverford college.

Carolyn Cook to Be Wed Saturday in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Cook of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Douglas Alexander Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cameron of Lake Shore drive. The wedding will take place on Saturday in Kingston, Jamaica, where Mr. Cameron is stationed with a construction company. Miss Cook is departing Thursday to fly to Jamaica.

Mr. Cameron attended St. Andrew's college near Toronto, Canada, and his fiancée studied at Northwestern.

From Buffalo, N. Y., comes word of the engagement of Miss Bernice Hempel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frederick Hempel of that city, to Charles George Hutter Jr., son of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Hutter of Chicago. The wedding is planned for the spring.

Chicago Symphony Opens Ticket Sale for 51st Season

The box office of Orchestra hall opened yesterday for the sale of season subscriptions for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 51st season. There will be three subscription series—Thursday evening [28 concerts starting Oct. 16], Friday afternoon [28 concerts starting Oct. 17] and Tuesday afternoon [12 concerts starting Oct. 28].

No increase has been made over last year's season ticket prices, altho the list of 1941-'42 soloists, described as the strongest ever presented by a symphony orchestra, will make it necessary to increase the single ticket price for an unusually large number of concerts. This will have no effect on holders of season subscriptions.

Next season will be Frederick Stock's 37th as conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and Hans Lange's sixth as associate conductor.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 15.—A Chicago newspaperman hiding under the pseudonym of North Clark has written a comedy called "Let's Kill a Critic," and Aldrich and Myers would like to have George Raft for the lead in a Broadway production. . . . After a dozen years, Charles Butterworth is returning to the stage. He's expected on Broadway tomorrow to rehearse for "Western Union, Please." And if it's a hit, of course, Charlie will sooner or later return to the movie, where he's done little during the last few seasons. . . . A few years ago Martha Wellington, a secretary, won $150,000 in the Irish sweepstakes. Uncle Sam took about 65 grand, and she's been living modestly on the income from the balance—and studying music. Recently she completed a song titled, "We're in Uniform Now." . . . John Wayne and Ray Middleton have finally settled who's to be villain and who hero in "Lady for a Night," and Wayne will be the baddie. When Middleton first came to Hollywood, Republic hired him for the hero rôle in "Lady from Louisiana." Then Wayne, who had been on loan to another studio, returned to the fold, and Middleton was kicked into the villain part so that John could have the lead. In the new picture the same thing happened. Ray was all set for the lead when Wayne again turned up and the bosses announced the usual shift. But John objected. "Let me be a meanie for a change," he pleaded; and that's how it is.

Squawk: Why are so many of our brunette babes turning blonde? Pretty Ann Miller bleached her raven hair not long ago, and now it's Patricia Morison who has had not only a rinse but a haircut. If this keeps up, Hedy Lamarr may go the peroxide route, and wouldn't that be a heck of a note!

True story: Harry Rosenthal was invited to a party by a producer. Now, Harry is just about the world's best party piano-player [unless it's Richard Macaulay] because he loves it, can play for hours without repeating, and never gets tired. But at this particular fiesta even Harry was a bit surprised when he looked at his watch and found it was 4 a. m. He had been at the piano five hours.

"Time to go home," he said.

"You made the party," said the producer, "and this is a small measure of thanks." And he tendered a check for $250—which Harry refused.

"Hell," said Rosenthal, "I was having fun. I don't want any money."

"But I'd like to do something," said the producer.

"All right," suggested Rosenthal, "come into my new music shop and buy something. I haven't had the grand opening yet, but it's open."

"Be there tomorrow—today, I mean," said the producer. And he was, too. He came in, looked around, saw a phonograph and said, "I'll take that. How much is it?"

"Okay," said the producer. "Can I get 40 off?"

Alan Mowbray's children, Alan and Pauline, are nicknamed A. M. and P. M. . . . Columbia's Lou Smith has bought a house on Toluca lake, only a putt from the Lakeside Golf club. . . . Talk is that Gene Raymond won't get any more kickings around after everybody's caught his performance opposite his wife in "Smilin' Through." . . . Twentieth Century-Fox now has more producers than it has stars.

Young Roddy McDowall, who has a role in "Confirm or Deny," was up on a London roof being bombed last week. Before the scene was shot Director Archie Mayo made sure that Roddy, who had been thru a real bombing, could take it. "I won't be frightened," said the lad.

So Roddy stood on the roof with a tin helmet, with a bulldog for company, and from high above the set prop men dropped bombs. When the scene was over Mayo noticed Roddy was crying.

"Smoke?" he asked.

"No."

"Afraid."

"But you're crying."

"I was thinking," said Roddy, "that there are boys and girls this really happens to."

The phone company has been conducting a campaign on good telephone manners—but it has done nothing to outlaw the stock answer in all Hollywood offices—and homes: "No, he isn't. Who's calling?" You can throw a secretary out of gear by giving your name first. You say, "This is Throckmorton Thripple. Is Mr. Gonof in?" This prevents her from saying, "Who's calling?" and raises her blood pressure. In a year or so if you keep this up she'll die of a stroke and you can joyfully carve another notch on the mouthpiece.

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl, sent by a New York firm to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her snobbish Cousin Lou, who is Mrs. Hiram Rentrew, a rich widow. Her cousin insists that Gay stay with her but soon after Gay moves in, her cousin is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace Rentrew, and the servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay goes to visit Cousin Lou in the hospital and runs into Miles Dorsey, a young Englishman, who is a junior partner in a firm that looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs; Raoul de Chabenil, a handsome young Frenchman, and Estrella, her cousin's dressmaker. Her cousin insists that Gay take her jewel box, with a valuable necklace in it, home and put it in the wall safe. Raoul insists on driving Gay home and during the drive he bumps into another car and at the same time the jewel box is thrown to the floor of his car, but Gay retrieves it. That night Gay goes to dinner with Geoff and Catherine Macadam, old friends of hers, and Miles Dorsey. They see Raoul and Estrella in the café together and when Gay asks them about Raoul they act mysterious.

INSTALMENT VIII.

DEATH.

Catherine pressed my hand and I knew she was holding her breath. Yes, the big beefy brute in the pie-crust suit was no other than our prize American novelist. He sat hunched over an outsize brandy, elbowed, yet alone. De Chabenil continued to smile.

And then, very slowly, Bliss Abinger stirred. His bleared eye rolled upward, rested squarely and without change on the clear ones above. He gave a hiccoughing belch. Next minute he was stumbling free of table legs and making a bee line out of the Aurore!

“My! Was that a dead cut or am I seeing things?”

It was perfectly clear why. De Chabenil's joyous eyes had lighted on our group. Even now he was heading in our direction. If our two men were going to use the Abinger tactics, well, it would be pretty embarrassing for me. They didn't. Each of the two partners managed a stiff nod, tho there was trouble in the offing when De Chabenil raised Catherine's finger tips with light reverence to his lips and let his dancing gaze hold mine.

“Encore,” he said softly, and then, “You are just leaving? Too bad! Mademoiselle, I shall be passing your street. Is it too much to hope I may once more be permitted to escort you home?”

Miles Dorsey stepped in. “I'm driving Miss Ripley to her apartment,” he said crudely, and with that we went out.

“Snappy work, Miles,” said Catherine outside, ‘ but just a little officious, perhaps. How do you know Gay prefers your invitation?”

I'd thought of that, too. Twice in one day I'd been haggled over like this.

“Does any kind gentleman have to see me home?” I asked tartly. “I'm not lost in a fog.”

“Silly! Miles isn't going out of his way, his flat's in the Rue du Berri, just off the Champs Elysees. Go on,” Catherine whispered, “make him explain.”

Mr. Dorsey's set face suggested nothing but a determination to keep me from shying back into the café—which I was perversely itching to do. I was still seeing Chabenil's delighted amusement, his ironic grace as he stepped to one side. I promised Catherine I'd lunch with her next day at the Trois Quartiers, and not very willingly took my seat in the smug little Citroen towards which I was being steered.

What a difference this drive! No champagne bubbles, no voice singing inside me. It's Paris! Paris, in springtime! It was Paris, all right, but a dour, shut eye Paris, dark, jealous, restrained. The man at the wheel wasn't enjoying my company. I was a stern duty which for some obscure reason he'd imposed on himself.

It was the bridge spanning over to the Concorde, a vision by night—long, lovely splashes of gold streaming over the water, the place ahead just one glorious blaze. We sat there silently. The engine made a hum.

“Well,” I said, “aren't you going to tell me what it's all about?”

“In plain English, I'd like to know why you cut in. What did you think this Frenchman meant to do to me—kidnap me for ransom, or just snitch my cultured pearls?”

“Cultured pearls! Not he.”

I could have slapped his face.

“After that nasty crack,” I said, “I insist on some explanation.”

“O, so you do admit your conduct just now was a little impetuous?”

“Possibly.” He drove on.

His glumness the rest of the way gave me a chance to do some uneasy thinking. Those real pearls nestling round Cousin Lou's well patted throat . . . the diamonds and other stuff so embarrassingly entrusted to my care. . . .

“Yes, this is my building, but sit still just a second. You and Geoffrey handle Mrs. Rentrew's affairs, isn't that so?”

“We do,” Miles Dorsey said dryly. “Well?”

“Then I—I'd like you to know something that's been done. I couldn't blab about it in the café.”

I gave him a brief sketch of my afternoon—how Manx had acted, my joyride thru the Bois, the fact that the load of jewels was now reposing in the room where I was to sleep.

“I couldn't argue with Cousin Lou, the least thing upsets her. Can't you persuade her to send all her valuables along to the bank?”

“I persuade her?” He gave a sharp, barking laugh. “Macadam might, I daresay. . . . Wait,” he said searchingly. “Was this case in your hands the entire time?”

“Except when we hit the other car. O, don't think its Monsieur de Chabenil I'm worried about, that's just rot! It's the servants.”

“Isn't there a brother-in-law about?”

“Horace Rentrew, yes, but he's out most of the time.”

“The antique dealer. Of course.” There was the faint flicker of a grin. “I'd let him tackle Mrs. Rentrew. O, I see!” He struck his forehead a blow. “You're worried because if a raid should be made now or the next night or so it might be rather awkward for you.”

“That was my idea.”

“A harebrained scheme,” he grunted, “putting jewels in your charge! Well, we'll do what we can.”

“Thanks very much.” I got out. “And thanks also for the safe escort to my doctor.”

“Your own little specialty, isn't it? Look, Mr. Dorsey, I do wish you'd open up! O, I know you've got in wrong with Mrs. Rentrew! Is it because——”

He started his engine and was gone.

In the spectrally dim light Paris uses for its entrance lobbies I puzzled over his last remarks. Something in his tone seemed to indicate preknowledge of a client either difficult to advise or suffering from an overdose of cautious minded counsel. Yet, remembering Cousin Lou's flare-up, I felt there might be more to it than that.

At the same time I kept thinking about those diamonds. A building like this should be a fortress, but does the concierge look to see who comes in late at night? Not at all, she just pushes the button that releases the big doors, turns over, and goes back to sleep. How easy for a lurker to knock me out, steal my latchkey to the apartment, and carry on before I came to!

Fiddlesticks! Granting this French aristocrat is a thief—an idiotic notion, I'll say!—how would he know what I was bringing home in that beauty case? The ones who might be on to Cousin Lou's dodge are Manx and Hortense.

Still, I felt nervous as the dark landing slid past and looked sharply behind as I fitted in my key. I was thinking, too, not very comfortably, of the slight start it had given me to find the Hungarian woman so close to Cousin Lou's door. . . .

The telephone woke me. I listened to disturbed sounds in the hall and knew something was dreadfully wrong.

I slid into my dressing gown and took a peek on the blazing lights outside and the three semiclad figures huddled in a dazed group.

“What is it? Not—not Cousin Lou?”

No one spoke. Horace picked at the cord of his deep violet robe, but the words he tried to form stuck in his throat. I noticed the rough pitting on Manx's face, the dingy flannel gown on Hortense, who started noisily to weep.

“It's not possible,” I said stupidly. “Why, at 6:30 she was perfectly all right!”

It was so, jus. the same. Cousin Lou Rentrew was dead.

The main shock came from my having seen her that very afternoon in such buoyant spirits. I couldn't take it in.

“Why?” I kept asking. “If it was a stroke, why didn't she get it when some one shouted fire?”

Horace had been weaving about, wagging flabby hands. He stopped like a shot.

“Fire! What fire?”

“I—I didn't tell you because nothing came of it and you'd have been worried. Some lunatic set fire to a curtain in the room next Cousin Lou's, but——”

“Holy smoke! It may have been that.”

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dish of Humble Pie.

“Dear Miss Blake: I had an argument with my boy friend. I told him I never wanted to see him again. Now I'm sorry I did. How should I go about seeing him again?

DELORES.”

Remorse follows too hastily spoken angry words, doesn't it, Delores? Wait a while, then call him on the telephone and say you're sorry, that you really didn't mean it.

While the Girl's Away.

“Dear Miss Blake: I have been away in the country for a while. Upon returning I find my beau has been going with another girl. While I was away he wrote he loved me. I still love him. What shall I do?

IN DOUBT.”

He may think a great deal of you, but don't take his “love” too seriously. Let him know he has competition, too.

No Comparison.

“Dear Miss Blake: Enough said about the girls who talk about dates with other boys. What about the boys who talk about dates with other girls? We girls don't like it!

ARVIE.”

It works both ways, as you know. How about a truce, boys and girls! Why not agree to refrain from such obviously distasteful allusions?

A kitchen mixer with a high powered motor will knead bread dough as well as perform the more usual functions of a mechanical beater. But few homemakers possess heavy duty machines, so the old-fashioned method of working the dough with two strong hands and the application of elbow grease still is practiced.

There's a technique to efficient mixing. One doesn't begin by an undisciplined, furious assault upon the dough. No, it is better to be firm than rough, better to follow the rhythmical "push, fold over, and give a quarter turn" procedure than to plunge in to the elbows and wrestle with the dough.

But how long shall I knead bread dough? That's a reasonable question without an exact answer in minutes or seconds. You knead until the dough becomes elastic and will no longer stick to your hands or to the bread board. Ten minutes is an approximate time, altho a great deal depends upon the kind of flour used.

If you want good bread, it is important to let the dough rise in a draughtless spot at an even temperature between 80 and 84 degrees.

Our book, "Better Homemade Breads and Rolls" [23 cents by mail], contains a pretty thoro discussion of breadmaking. This long time favorite recipe for white bread comes from the booklet.

WHITE BREAD.
[4 loaves.]

2 cakes yeast
2½ tablespoons sugar
3½ cups scalded milk
4 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons melted shortening
10 cups bread flour

Crumble yeast into a bowl, add sugar, and let stand until yeast bubbles. Add lukewarm milk, salt, and shortening. [Be sure to cool milk to lukewarm after scalding, or it will kill the yeast plant.] Add flour and work it in thoroly with the hands. When dough is well mixed, knead until smooth. Round it up, cover, and let it rise about 2 hours, or until bulk has doubled. Punch down, knead a few strokes, and let rise again until double, about an hour. Divide into four parts and let stand 15 minutes on a lightly floured board, covered to prevent cooling and crusting. Shape into loaves and place in greased pans. Let rise 1 to 1½ hours, and bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake 30 to 40 minutes longer.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Sept. 16, 1941.

Names and numbers—We have seen how the "H" in the names Hitler and Hirohito bring the terrific forces of eight to the fore in these men. Another coincident is the fact that they are both born under the same sign, Taurus, of interest to those who know astrology. Both have a two-birthday, Hitler a 20, and Hirohito 29, these reducing to two. Now a two should never try to be an eight, just as a four should never use an eight unless he has mastered the lower numbers. When a two seeks the power and authority of eight he often takes on the faults of the worrysome, dual-natured two. Instead of the justice for which eight stands, we find injustice and total lack of coöperation as would be expected of a two. The universal nine of the vowel "1" is here highly emotional when used with the powerful eight. This is an exceptionally strong combination, partners of destruction.

Pre-Shopping Tip: Reduce Figure Lines

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

With a new clothes season, woman's fancy turns [not always lightly] to thoughts of the silhouette. That's just the trouble with the new clothes season. Your thoughts can't be light with an overstuffed figure that weights them down. Between seasons the average weight battler goes blissfully along with her silhouette "as is," but come that new burst of fashion spread, and our food-loving dear is seen scuttling in the direction of a reducing salon looking up a friend who knows diet, or making promises that next week she'll go on the superfluous flesh warpath.

Let's begin right where the overweight trouble begins. Let's forget, for the moment, the quick-and-easy diets. Let's forget the clothes shopping buying for a bit, until the waistline is more neatly in proportion. Go looking, by all means! Pick a dress number that you'd give anything to be able to wear. Keep it in mind and let it be the driving force to line you up for the overweight battle. We have found this a grand system in having a "diploma" to work for. Let that dress you'd love to slither into be said diploma. It will keep you from faltering in the face of a tempting dessert and from overprolonging your stay in the cozy chair.

brother's best man, and Mr. Lamport will be an usher. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Robert Proudfit Bunyan will give a small reception in their home in Shaker Heights.

99 Mannequins to Be Chosen Tomorrow.

The 130 young women who assemble tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mrs. James S. Kemper's home in Winnetka will give their heights and weights to a secretary, for 99 of them are to be chosen to act as mannequins in the Northwestern University Settlement fashion show on Sept. 27. The Winnetka board of the settlement, which is giving the show, will be at the tea to give the girls careful but polite scrutiny. A professional impresario will be on hand to give the models their first lesson in how to display clothes, and a young woman who earns her living modeling will show how to do it.

The 99 who are chosen to model in the show will have their second and last lesson on the day before the show when they will be entertained at luncheon by the board at the Indian Hill Country club. Mrs. John Hooker is general chairman.

The show will be the 15th that the Winnetka women have given. Each one is larger than the preceding one so this year's will have not only more models than ever before, but more exhibitors.

Mrs. Everett Graff is chairman of the committee that will select the models. Little Lyman Drake III., who was ring bearer at the marriage last Friday of Patricia Austin and Renslow Drew Sherer, will play the same rôle in the make believe wedding that will be a feature of the fashion show. Terry Huston, the Noyes Hustons' little daughter, will be the flower girl. Mrs. Nathaniel Duval is to be the bride with Miss Gertrude Smith and Miss Isabelle Johnson as her maids.

Fashion Show Committee to Give Party Monday.

Many of the young women who go to Mrs. Kemper's tomorrow will go to the Casino next Monday for the same sort of party. That one will be given by the St. Luke's fashion show committee, which will give its annual show on Oct. 21 at the Stevens hotel. Today the women who are in charge of the show are meeting for luncheon at Mrs. George A. Ranney's home in Lake Forest. Mrs. John W. Gary is president of the woman's board of the hospital and general chairman of the show committee.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. McGuire now have a "little Carlotta" in their family, for they almost definitely have decided to name their first child Carlottina after her beautiful mother, the former Carlotta Lagorio. The baby was born on Saturday night at the Henrotin hospital. The granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Lagorio and of Dr. Walter G. McGuire, she missed being an anniversary present for her young parents, who were married last year on Sept. 26.

The first play of the Theater guild and American Theater society's 1941-'42 series drew a large and fashionable audience to the Selwyn theater last night. Rose Franken's comedy, "Claudia," was the play, and among those who enjoyed it were the Errett Van Nices, the Charles Henry Browns, the Orville Taylors, the Jacob Bischofs, the Peter G. Moons, the Marvin B. Pools, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Frank McNair, the Herbert Woodwards, and the Robert E. Rosses.

Mrs. Clarence Hough's literary teas will be resumed today when Mrs. Marguerite H. Robertson will act as hostess. The meeting will be at 3 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club. Mrs. Hough will discuss A. J. Cronin's "The Keys of Heaven."

Mrs. Frederick Harvey and her little son, Jimmy, and her sister, Miss Elsa Uhlendorf, are leaving today for Hollywood, Cal., where they have taken a house for the winter. Mrs. Harvey has closed her home in Chicago for the winter, and also her summer home at Lake Geneva.

KILL THE RACKETS OR DOOM LABOR, OLANDER WARNS

State Convention Hears Plea for Purge.

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Danville, Ill., Sept. 15.—Delegates to the 49th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor were warned tonight to rid their ranks of racketeers and gangsters if they want the American Federation of Labor to continue its existence.

The warning was sounded by Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the state federation, in an address to the 1,000 representatives of some 500,000 working men and women thruout the state. The convention opened this morning and will continue for the rest of the week.

"We have to deal with this serious problem of racketeering openly and frankly," Olander said. "These rascals contaminate every one of us, every honest union member.

Urges All To Speak Up

"Let's not hide anything. If any delegate here has knowledge of racketeer control of his union, let him stand up and tell it in the open. If we don't drive the crooks out, the American Federation of Labor will fall to pieces."

"Don't let the gangsters get away with it!" Olander shouted. "It's to the interest of the rank and file to rid its ranks of these men. If they don't, the public won't trust us, our members won't trust us unless we get busy and clean out these rascals."

Olander's statements followed closely the report of the federation's executive board, which stated, "Rascality has no proper place in the trade union movement."

Need to Guard Unions.

The board recommends that the attention of all affiliate unions be again directed to the necessity of guarding themselves against the intrusion of gangsters and other disreputable characters."

Other opening day activities included presentation of a resolution by representatives of the Chicago Dairy Employés' union for a peace treaty between the AFL and the CIO, a statement by Reuben G. Soderstrom, federation president, that the unions are backing Great Britain to win the war, and a recommendation that Martin Durkin be retained as head of the state department of labor. Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross will address the convention today.

38 QUARANTINED IN JOLIET AFTER PARALYSIS DEATH

Thirty-eight children, the entire sixth grade class of the Washington elementary school in Joliet, were placed under a protective quarantine in their homes yesterday after the death of a classmate from infantile paralysis on Sunday. Superintendent of Schools Gayle N. Huffard ordered parents of the children to keep them off the streets, out of public places, and away from other children for the next two weeks.

The child who died was James Kellenbach, 12 years old, of 213 Lincoln street, Joliet. He complained last Monday of a headache, his parents told Superintendent Huffard, but he continued going to school until Thursday. On Friday he again became ill, and on Saturday was taken to Silver Cross hospital in Joliet. He died 24 hours later.

Joliet health authorities said this was the first case of infantile paralysis reported in their city this year.

2,000 WORKERS ON A 'SLOWDOWN' LEAVE 2 PLANTS

More than 2,000 factory employés of the American Can company plants at 6017 South Western avenue and 1800 Clybourn avenue streamed out onto the streets yesterday after Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail had warned them against continuing their "slowdown campaign"—a modified sitdown strike—which started last Thursday.

"We contend that the police action by company request makes this a lockout," said Harry Harper, sub-district director of the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee. "To avoid possible bloodshed I accompanied Sergt. Barnes thru the plants and told the workers to leave quietly. Picket lines will be on duty 24 hours a day from now on."

Harper said that the union's chief objective is wage increases in line with the scale of pay at west coast plants of the company. He charged that approximately 80 union members, including leaders, have been discharged at the Chicago plants. Company officials said they had no statement at this time.

CALDWELL WON'T TALK ABOUT AIR TRIPS; OTHERS DO

Max Caldwell, ousted czar of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association, yesterday was questioned before the grand jury about the free airplane rides to Florida which he previously had admitted his friends enjoyed at the expense of the union members.

But Caldwell, an ex-Indiana bootlegger, refused to answer, it was learned, on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

His brother, Michael Pollack, was also quizzed about the luxury trips which Caldwell had said were paid for from the salaries of the clerks, whose wages averaged less than $20 a week. But Pollack is understood also to have refused to talk.

It was reported, however, that those who enjoyed the free rides were less reticent when questioned by William Crawford and Gordon Nash, assistant state's attorneys.

Among those reported questioned were Maurice Margolis, 5538 Jackson boulevard, an employé of the Snow Ice company and of the Gold Seal Liquor company, controled by Joe Fusco, one time brewmaster of the Capone gang; Peter Tremont, partner in the '30 club at 830 East 43d street and operator of two policy wheels; Patrick Manno, Tremont's partner in the policy racket, and Rocco de Stefano, president of the United Liquor company and of the Snow Ice company.

CHICAGO GETS NATIONAL BOWLING TOURNAMENT

DODGERS BEAT REDS IN 17TH, 5 TO 1; INCREASE LEAD

REISER'S HOMER OPENS WAY FOR WINNING BLAST

Derringer Stars for 16 Innings.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 15 (AP)—Pete Reiser's home run off Paul Derringer in the first half of the 17th inning today broke up a scoreless battle and started the Dodgers to a 5 to 1 victory over the Reds. The triumph extended Brooklyn's National league lead over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to two games.

Derringer's opponent thru 15 innings was Johnny Allen, the American league castoff, who yielded only one hit in the first nine innings—a single in the third by Rookie Lou Zientara. Allen gave way for a pinch runner in the 15th and Hugh Casey came in to receive credit for the victory.

And Then Came Reiser.

Reiser led off with his 13th home run into the right centerfield bleachers in the 17th. Dolf Camilli and Lew Riggs followed with singles and Derringer was replaced by Joe Beggs. Lou Zientara fumbled a grounder by Joe Medwick, letting Camilli score from third. Pee Wee Reese hit in front of the plate, and when Dick West fumbled the ball Reese reached first, filling the bases.

Jim Turner replaced Beggs and took Casey's bounder to force Reese at second. Dixie Walker raised an infield fly and was automatically out, altho by this time it was so dark neither Bill Werber nor Eddie Joost apparently could see the ball and it dropped to the ground. Owen took third on the play and then scored on a wild pitch as Casey ran to second. Billy Herman deliberately fanned to end the inning.

Game Ends in Darkness.

There was still a chance the game would be called by darkness and the score revert to the 16th inning. Two walks, a single by Harry Craft, and an infield out produced a run, but shortly after 7 o'clock, Casey threw out Joost to end the game.

Cubs Resume Classes Today with Braves

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, after a pause yesterday, will resume this afternoon in the business of wrapping up the loose ends of an unhappy season while at the same time looking hopefully ahead. For today, but for the last time in the current campaign, the Boston Braves will assist in getting the Cubs along toward the finish. The Braves themselves are interested in getting to the same goal so that they can forget their seventh place predicament in favor of hunting and fishing.

Except in such spots as baseball etiquette wouldn't permit, Jim Wilson, the Cub chief, will continue with his school for newcomers and those who are back after flunking out last spring. As the Cubs can hardly go any place, either up or down, the schooling might as well be done now as during the 1942 training trip.

Claude Passeau will pitch for the Cubs today. Jim Tobin will start for the Braves if a recent leg injury clears up in time, otherwise the job will be tendered Tom Early.

Fight Decisions

At Marigold Gardens—Joe Maxin beat Nate Belden [10]; Johnny Crane beat Clay Rowan [6]; Johnny Abbott beat Don Wallenfang [4]; Woody Jones beat Dick Kist [4]; Ed Carson beat Ray Hutchins [4].

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Fritzie Zivic, knocked out Milt Aron [5]; Petey Scalzo beat Mike Raffa [10]; Mose Brown stopped Jimmy Webb [6]; Harry Hobo knocked out Bill Poland [6].

At Los Angeles, Cal.—Billy Soose and Ceferino Garcia drew [8].

The Chicago Cardinals open their home football season in Comiskey park tonight and they only hope it will be as successful as the 1940 unveiling. A year ago in their first start the Cardinals shocked the Bears and their followers with a 21 to 7 defeat. The Cards went on from there to an ordinary season, but this is a new year and hopes are high for better times. Tonight's game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

The Cleveland Rams, tied with Green Bay for the National Football league lead, are the Cardinals' opponents. The Rams won their opener from Pittsburgh, 17 to 14. Reports indicate the Ohioans are bigger this year, but perhaps not so fast, but withal dangerous. Their main offensive threat is Parker Hall—that is, if he plays back to his 1939 form when he was adjudged the league's greatest freshman player. Hall showed encouraging signs when he threw a touchdown pass to pull out the Pittsburgh game, after the Steelers had a 14 to 10 advantage.

Cards Start Nine Veterans.

Jim Conzelman, starting his second year as the Cardinals' coach, would rather have had a later opening date for his team, which he feels will be much stronger in two weeks. The Cards have had something of a floating personnel, and it has been a difficult job to weed out and add proper replacements.

Despite wholesale replacements, all of the Cards' probable starters, except two, are veterans. The two newcomers are Ray Apolskis of Marquette who will start at center, and Ray Mallouf, passing star from Southern Methodist, who will be at left half.

It is likely that the fans will see a lively pitching duel between Mallouf and Hall. One of Mallouf's main targets will be Bill Dewell, 6 foot 4 inch end who preceded Mallouf at S. M. U. Bill's a pitcher in baseball, but a catcher in football.

Cards Step Up Attack.

Dewell was hurt in the Card's second game last year and was out for the remainder of the campaign. Tho he isn't starting, the Cards have another fine end in Bill Daddio, from Pitt, who is playing for the first time after coaching the ends at Pitt for two seasons.

The Cardinals have stepped up the versatility of their offense, which was made possible in part by the best group of passers in the team's history. Mallouf, Hugh McCullough, and Jack Clement, another boy from S. M. U., are expert pitchers. Conzelman is looking for continued improvement in Marshall Goldberg.

FRITZIE ZIVIC STOPS MILT ARON IN FIFTH ROUND

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 15 [Special].—Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, the former welterweight champion, knocked out Milt Aron of Chicago after 1:58 of the fifth round in Forbes field tonight before 35,000 fans. The Pittsburgher thus avenged a knockout defeat by Aron in Chicago before Fritzie won the title from Henry Armstrong.

In the Wake of the News

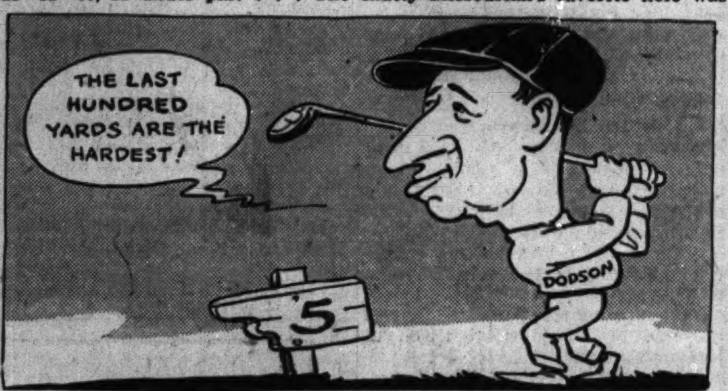
BY ARCH WARD.

CHICAGO'S recent $11,000 Tam o' Shanter Open Golf tournament not only was unusual from the standpoint of purse and attendance, but also from several scoring angles. . . . For instance, Leonard Dodson, who led the field for the first three rounds and finished in a tie for second with Ben Hogan, had for the entire four rounds a best ball of 28—32—60, 12 under par. . . . The chatty Missourian's favorite hole was the 275 yard fifth, where he had three birdies and an eagle. . . . Another angle on the tournament was the unusual succession of best single rounds. . . . Dodson won the $100 prize on the first day with 65, Ben Hogan on the second with 66, Sam Snead on the third with 67, and Johnny Bulla on the fourth with a 68. . . . World series headquarters this year will be at the Bossert hotel in Brooklyn Heights, if the Dodgers win the pennant. . . . Playboys who would like a gayer place than the staid Bossert are urging President Larry MacPhail to pick a noisier spot, but the hotel and the Dodgers are directed by the same banking house. . . . Lou Nova favors carrot juice in his training diet. . . . Frank Nekola, former Yankee southpaw, has been pitching for the Brooklyn Bushwicks, famed semipro club. . . . It has been a great year for binoculars in Chicago baseball press boxes where glasses once were unknown. . . . The White Sox and Cubs, being what they are, the writing lads have found it diverting to study feminine pulchritude in the stands. . . . Our Texas operatives predict that Jack Russell of Baylor will prove to be the best end in southern football, if not national football, this fall. . . .



THE LAST HUNDRED YARDS ARE THE HARDEST!

Failure of the government to provide adequate athletic and recreational facilities at army camps has been one of the biggest disappointments in the preparedness program. . . . Winter isn't far away and men serving their country in northern camps will find themselves without equipment for basketball, boxing, billiards, bowling, and other indoor activities that would help greatly in keeping up morale. . . . John Kellison, assistant to Greasy Neale, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, twice was head coach at William and Mary college and is regarded as one of the finest scouts in football. . . . Angelo Bertelli, who probably will be Notre Dame's No. 1 left half back this fall, comes from Cathedral High school, Springfield, Mass., the same institution that sent Milt Piepul to South Bend. . . . Because George Washington's birthday will fall on Sunday next year, the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby will be run the following Wednesday.

We Were Alone.

I lingered with you late that autumn night
And watched your spirit silently depart,
I saw your amber eyes lose all their light
And felt a painful clutching at my heart;
We were alone that day, just you and I,
And tho you knew that you must go away,
You smiled before you said your last good-by,
And held my hand as if you would delay.
God grant that when we meet on Eden's shore
And fold each other in a fond caress
That you and I shall be alone once more
Lest angels envy us our happiness;
How should they understand our utter bliss

28 SOPHOMORES CARRY INDIANA'S HOPES FOR TITLE

Hillenbrand Rated Best of New Backs.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 15.—"If there's a question mark in the Western conference football campaign it should be Indiana university."

This was the opinion expressed today by Bo McMillin, head coach of the Hoosiers who obviously has been mentally balancing the respective merits of a record number of sophomores against the accepted fact that few sophomores immediately become star performers in Big Nine competition.

Indiana's varsity football teams for the last three years played fair football. Last year, for example, the Hoosiers won two games [defeating Iowa and Purdue] and lost three [to Ohio State, Northwestern, and Wisconsin]. Yet these boys, most of them sophomores in 1938, never reached the heights many had predicted.

"Those Pore Little Boys."

On the current squad of 43, Indiana lists 28 who never have played varsity football. In numbers, this year's squad is about equal to the 1937 group which was the most successful of recent Indiana teams. McMillin carried the comparison between 1938 and 1941 a bit farther. "In 1938 our boys outrushed and outplayed Ohio State and Illinois but lost both games. The best reason was inexperience that produced costly mistakes. We have the same possibility this fall."

"Understand," McMillin continued, "I am not trying to underestimate our material. I am hoping for the best and believe the boys will come up to our expectations. But they have not been tested in conference play. I believe Billy Hillenbrand will play good football, but there's every chance that a boy who has received great publicity before ever starting a football game cannot come up to the standard fans have set for him."

Bill Is on the Spot.

Hillenbrand came to Indiana from Evansville and he has been subject for critical estimates for months. He can be classed with Don Griffin of Illinois, Herman Frickey of Minnesota, Paul Sarringhous of Ohio State, and Otto Graham of Northwestern. All will play their first games in the Big Nine this fall and all are labeled future stars.

McMillin's further estimate of Indiana's varsity includes the prediction that the Hoosiers will have a little more speed, that Indiana has two pretty good full backs, and that

Pick 10 CYO Fighters to Face Hawaii

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Catholic Youth organization team which will meet amateur boxers from Hawaii in Soldiers' field tomorrow night was named last night by Coach Paddy Kane. The intersectional squad, which consists of the 10 fighters who showed to best advantage in daily drills for the last week in the CYO camp at Palos Park, follows:

Harold Dade, flyweight.

Fred Dawson and Tony Bausone, bantamweights.

Ray Brown, featherweight.

Harry Stephens, light heavyweight.

Hubert Hood, heavyweight.

Dade, Bausone, Brown, Ballangee, Wells, and Hood were members of the delegation which defeated the Hawaiians, 8 to 3, in the lake front arena last summer. All except Dade and Ballangee won. Bausone beat Chester Ling. Brown conquered Henry Oshiro. Wells beat Dominick Neratko, and Hood stopped Ray Quintal.

Dade, who was defeated by Paul Inamine, will be given a chance to obtain revenge from Inamine tomorrow. However, Ballangee will have to vindicate himself at the expense of a new opponent, since Salvador Leboy, his conqueror last year, will not compete tomorrow.

Reasoner Will Fight Fernandez.

Ballangee's antagonist this time will be Willie Minn, 22 year old Korean, who has scored 30 victories in 37 encounters in four years. Reasoner will oppose Frank Fernandez, team co-captain with his brother Dan, a welterweight, in the other lightweight contest on the card. Brown is paired with Charles Sanico, Conroy with Dan Fernandez, Wells with Timothy Cruz, Stephens with Quintal, and Hood with Pane Meatoga. Pairings in the bantamweight class will not be announced until today.

The Hawaiian bantamweights are Oshiro and Richard Chinen. Chinen scored one of his team's victories last year.

Six Prelims Added.

In addition to the 10 intersectional matches, six preliminary bouts will be held. These will bring together the following:

James Martin, former Golden Gloves lightweight finalist, vs. Joe Dugo, 1940 CYO novice welterweight champion, 147.

Jesse Garcia, former novice CYO bantamweight title holders, vs. Jim Egan, 135.

Henry Nichols vs. Dan Hickey, 126.

The CYO boxers ended sparring workouts in Palos Park yesterday afternoon. They will complete training chores with light exercise today preparatory to breaking camp tomorrow morning.

60 TO COMPETE IN MATCH GAME CHAMPIONSHIP

Meet Scheduled for Coliseum Dec. 7-14.

BY ARCH WARD.

The event will be the first annual All-Star tournament for the individual match game championship of the United States.

It will be conducted in the Coliseum from Dec. 7 to 14 under the joint sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

American Bowling Congress executives estimate that there are 16,000,000 participants in their sport. Only the top 60 of that enormous field will be eligible for the Chicago tournament.

Another Gigantic Tribune Event.

THE TRIBUNE intends to make the All-Star bowling meet comparable in its field to the All-Star baseball game, the All-Star football game, and the Golden Gloves boxing tournament, all of which were initiated by this department. It aims, further, to prove that the star bowler's ability is a skill the public will be willing to pay to see.

The tournament will be rolled on 10 specially installed alleys beginning Dec. 7 and running eight afternoons and nights thru Dec. 14. Highlights of the first four days will be the final 40 game block—10 games each night—of the Ned Day-Lowell Jackson championship contest. While the Day-Jackson match is in progress the 60 best bowlers in the United States will hold their eliminations. Each man will roll five games a day for four days. At the end of that time the 11 with the highest total of pins for the 20 games, plus the loser of the Day-Jackson match, will be picked for a round robin. In the latter competition each contestant will meet every other man in a five game match.

The winner in the round robin series will automatically qualify as the challenger for the national match game championship in 1942. His opponent will be the winner of the Day-Jackson match.

The 60 contestants will represent every important bowling center in the country. Entry blanks are being sent to 5,000 bowling proprietors thruout the United States. The 60 participants will be chosen from the entry by a qualifying committee appointed by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America. Past performances in major competition, such as match game eliminations and the ABC tournament, their records in leagues of known class, and their potentialities [this applies particularly to young men] will be the basis for selection.

The All-Star tournament is a radical departure from the time honored plan which required the bowler to shoot for prize money, all of which he had to put up himself. The entry fee in The Tribune Charities' tournament is $25. The rest of the prize money will be put up by the sponsor.

12 of 60 to Receive Prizes.

Ned Day, defending match game champion, will get $1,500, win or lose. Lowell Jackson, challenger, will receive $750. Twelve will share in the prize money to be distributed among the 60 contenders for the challenger's position as follows:

2d	275	8th	125
3d	250	9th	100
4th	225	10th	100
5th	200	11th	100
6th	175	12th	100

Scoring the Day-Jackson match and in the round robin will be on the Petersen system, which gives a man:

HEARTMAN WINS A STRETCH DUEL AT HAWTHORNE

Defeated Bulldinger's Jockey Is Set Down.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Heartman, the 6 to 5 favorite in the main event on yesterday's Hawthorne program, got home in front by the margin of a head after one of the stormiest stretch duels of the meeting. Bulldinger, ridden by Jimmy Berger, had set the early pace in this six and a half furlong dash, but as they approached the stretch, Winamac and Heartman came up to challenge him.

Berger let Bulldinger go very wide, carrying Winamac and Heartman out with him. The favorite was on the extreme outside as the three headed for the finish line. Winamac soon dropped out from between them. Bulldinger, continuing to bear out, came over against Heartman, which was being ridden hard by Wilbur Borton.

Berger Suspended.

Thruout the last furlong, these horses went head and head far over toward the outer rail, while the jockeys were leaning into one another as Heartman bore back against Bulldinger. Winamac held on for third money.

Kosse, who has been a demon at taking second and third places thruout the summer, won yesterday for the first time since May 6. It has been his custom to get out in front and stay there while his backers held their breath—but by the time he got to midstretch, his rivals would be coming at him in waves. He managed to hang on frequently enough to get four seconds and seven thirds, being out of the money only four times in 15 starts previous to yesterday.

Change of Tactics Help.

In yesterday's engagement on Kosse Jockey Borton followed somewhat different tactics than Kosse's previous riders. He let Patapsco go out and do the pace setting in this mile and a sixteenth run, while he was permitting Kosse to lag back to sixth place during the swing around the clubhouse turn and the gallop down the back stretch.

On the last turn, however, Kosse began moving up swiftly between horses. He was fortunate in finding racing room along the rail as they came into the stretch. Moving up steadily on the inside, he overhauled Patapsco and won by a length and a half. Cannibal was third. Kosse was the 9 to 2 second choice in the betting, returning $11, $5.80, and $3.60.

13 Listed for Juvenile.

Racing Secretary Julius G. Reeder yesterday announced the nominations for Saturday's $5,000 Hawthorne Juvenile handicap. Thirteen youngsters are listed, including Alsab, but the contender for the national championship of this division is now in the east pointing for a match race with Requested Sept. 23. He will not be shipped to Hawthorne unless there is a slipup in the negotiations for the engagement at Belmont. Forfeits for the match are to be posted tonight.

The other nominees for the Hawthorne Juvenile event are Miss Dogwood, which was second to Alsab in the Prairie State Stakes; Rodes K., winner of four races in the east; Bolus, Emolument, Bold Chance, At Liberty, Great Occasion, Teco Tack, Kokomo, Snow Apple, Stinging Bee, and Putitthere.

28 SOPHOMORES CARRY INDIANA'S HOPES FOR TITLE

Hillenbrand Rated Best of New Backs.

Lack of speed has been Indiana's particular handicap as far as team play is concerned. With this fault may be paired inability to punch a line hard enough to make wide running plays work. Best example of Indiana's lop-sided attack last year was Hal Hursh's record as a passer. His throws led the conference in yards gained but he himself showed a net loss by running for the season. Obviously, if Indiana has more plunging strength in Bob White and Howard Brown, and better speed, a prime necessity for a running attack, Indiana must be improved.

Their Foes Seem Improved.

An improved team will be needed, since three of Indiana's four conference foes, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Purdue, also promise a better brand of football than the Hoosiers hope to match.

Eleven of the first and second teams are sophomores, a fact that leads to the observation that whenever Indiana substitutes, at any position, an inexperienced player will take over. The Hoosiers had three days of double drills, 7½ hours a day, but classes began this morning, limiting future practice sessions to once daily.

Earl Doloway, now listed at left half back with Hillenbrand, possibly is the key to the first backfield alignment. He proved in spring practice what many suspected a year ago, that he is the best all-around back on the squad. He can play full back, of course, and if Hillenbrand makes good in a big way, that's where he may wind up. Otherwise, Doloway can take a lot of pressure off Billy. Moreover, Earl is by far the best Hoosier punter.

Watch Lou Saban, Too.

Center—Kenny Moeller, *John Tavener.
Right guard—Capt. Gene White, Charles Steele.
Right tackle—*Bob Zimny, *Fred Huff.
Right end—Howard Elliott, *Robert Ricketts.
Quarter back—Eddie Herbert, *Lou Saban.
Right half—Dale Swihart, *Charles Jacoby.

ANOTHER GAME, ANOTHER LOSS FOR THE SOX, 6-1

Well, They Won't Have to Play Boston Again.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—The Chicago White Sox, or Dykes' Terrors, today concluded their 1941 experiences with the second place Red Sox by submitting to a 6 to 1 massage in which they averted a shutout when Dario Lodigiani led off the ninth inning with his fourth homer of the year. The Red Sox jolted the White Sox 16 out of 22 this season.

Mickey Harris, who had won 5 and lost 14 prior to today's soft touch, yielded five hits to the slugging Chicago lads. Lodigiani had a double in the fourth and there was a single by Johnny Rigney in the third and singles by Taft Wright and Julius Solters in the seventh.

Play Yankees Tomorrow.

The White Sox, in their projected raid of the eastern seaboard baseball sectors, have won 2 and lost 6. In their last six games they have raced around the bases for a grand total of eight runs, in two of the contests soaring to totals of two runs in each encounter. They have one more game to play in the east, against the Yankees, and win or lose, they vowed after today's game they are all out to score three runs against the league champions. They might even make it four runs if Joe McCarthy will consent to bring in some green pitcher from the Yank farm club in Binghamton. Anyway, they will rest tomorrow before being called on to play the Yanks.

Foxx and Williams Again!

The action in today's game loosed another batch of Boston statistics. Jimmy Foxx drove in the first two runs to lift his run batted in total to 104. Ted Williams knocked in the last three runs to boost his homer total to 35 and his run batted in total to 116.

The spell broke up after two were out in the sixth. With one down, Finney doubled and stopped at third on Cronin's infield single. Williams drew his 144th pass, loading the bases. Then Jim Tabor fanned for the second out. Foxx by this time had tired of the double string of zeros on the scoreboard so he rolled a single over second, Finney and Cronin scoring.

Help! Help!

Chicago Gets Match Game Bowling Meet

games and has the highest total pin count, he doesn't get that extra point; but if Day wins the largest number of games and Jackson has the highest total pin count, Jackson does get the point.

Day Champion Since 1937.

Day, who divides his time between West Allis, Wis., and Santa Monica, Cal., gained his match game title after rolling a 5,082 total in the finals of eliminations in Cleveland in December, 1937. Jackson, whose home is in St. Louis, was second with 4,977 pins. Day defeated Jackson in a three block championship match rolled in St. Louis, Mo.; Des Moines, Ia., and West Allis, Wis., in 1938.

Day is both the five and ten year leader in the A. B. C. tournament.

Bowling Leaders Coöperate.

The ticket prices for the Chicago tournament will be as follows: Evenings—Box seats, $1.65; reserved, $1.10; general admission, 55 cents. Afternoons—Box seats, 85 cents; general admissions, 55 cents.

Touch Football Injuries Fatal to Davenport Star

Davenport, Ia., Sept. 15 [Special].—Louis Herbert Naeckel, 25 years old, former Davenport High school football star, died Sunday night. Death was attributed to injuries suffered in November, 1940, when Naeckel, a student at Iowa, was hurt in a game of touch football.

NORTHWESTERN SOPH BACKS GIVE SENIORS A RUN

An all sophomore quartet rounds out the third team back field. The combination consists of Don Buffmire and Dud Kean of Grand Rapids, Minn, half backs; Erv Weingartner of Aurora, quarter back, and Ed Hirsch of Williamsville, N. Y., full back. Another promising full back is Casey Peifer, who prepped at Austin High, Chicago.

ILLINI MAKE SHIFTS.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 15 [Special].—Gordon McKenzie, 178 pound senior from Austin High school, Chicago, was transferred from guard to center in the Illinois lineup today. McKenzie, a squad member for two years, is an excellent tackler. His shift was in line with Coach Bob Zuppke's declaration that he will try out every candidate if necessary to find a center who can tackle.

Paul Milosevich, senior end, who reported last week, appeared at left end on a first team largely made up of veterans. Bob Falkenstein, senior, was moved from right to left half back.

MICHIGAN SEEKS PASSER.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 15 [Special].—Admittedly lacking in half back power for a successful ground game, Coach Fritz Crisler concedes that Michigan's attack this season will be concentrated in the air.

As the second week of practice got under way Crisler again held a lengthy passing drill. John Allerdice, Don Robinson, and Don Boor, sophomores, did most of the passing, with Norm Call and Dave Nelson, seniors, throwing a few.

GOPHERS SHAKEN UP.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 15 [Special].—Coach Bernie Bierman today indicated his dissatisfaction with the showing of the Minnesota varsity members in Saturday's scrimmage by making many changes. He demoted six boys on the first two elevens and replaced them with third and fourth stringers.

HAWKS HOLD SCRIMMAGE.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 15 (AP).—The University of Iowa Hawkeyes went thru a long scrimmage today with two elevens running plays against a reserve team line. It was the first contact work of the year. Jack Kennedy, sophomore, reeled off several good gains for the second eleven and caught a number of Tom Farmer's passes.

BERTO STARS AT PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 15 (AP).—Tony Berto, Clinton, Ind., junior back, ran sixty yards for a touchdown today in a Purdue university football scrimmage in practice for the season opener with Vanderbilt here a week from next Saturday. Coach Mal Elward also drilled his squad on assignments in plays and on forward pass attack, letting a lot of prospects throw the ball.

The husky former Tilden Tech star joined Larry Sullivan, another left tackle, in the battle for the privilege of understudying Capt. Paul Lillis. The scarcity of material here this year—there are only seven tackles on the entire squad—makes it likely that Leahy will have several men trained to play more than one position before he is thru. Matt Bolger, sophomore end, has worked at both terminals. Joe Laiber, senior guard, can work either side of the line.

BADGER SOPHS STAR.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 15 [Special].—With nearly a week of practice out of the way, three sophomores appeared today to have more than an even chance of starting in Wisconsin's first football game against Marquette here on Oct. 4.

Newcomers who were running today on the first team were Pat Boyle of Duluth, Minn., and Harold Koehler of Milwaukee, at the guard positions, and Marlin [Pat] Harder, also of Milwaukee, at full back.

IT WAS LIKE PULLING TEETH TO GET ME TO REVEAL OUR HOP SECRET
by Richard Seibold
MEISTER BRÄU Brewmaster
We use two varieties of hops and Percolate the Flavor through the brew
This way extracts only the delicate, mellow juices
I ALWAYS want to know what I'm buying, so I'm willing to reveal how we make Meister Bräu.
People often ask me about the mellow hop flavor of our beer. We use one kind of hops selected for fragrance, and another for lightness. This blend of hops is percolated through the brew so you get only the most delicate hop taste.
We could flavor more beer with less hops by steeping a long time—but that might make a bitter beer.
Meister Bräu is an all-grain brew; no sugars or syrups added. It's bottled with only Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created right in the beer so you get natural life and sparkle—true all-grain flavor.
Brewing water is mighty important. If it changes from day to day like water you've tasted, the beer is affected. Our brewing water is certified by a leading firm of brewing scientists—certified finest known to brewing science.
Taste and compare is the way to tell what these methods add to beer. Ask your retailer today for Meister Bräu.

ALDERMEN ASK MAYOR TO SEEK MILK REHEARING

Charge Price Increase Was 'Unjustified.'

The high cost of living committee of the city council, which has been investigating the recent raise in the price of milk, stated yesterday in a report to Mayor Kelly that the new amendments to the federal milk marketing order for the Chicago area were discriminatory, and that resulting increases in the price of milk were unjustified.

The committee recommended that the mayor apply to the secretary of agriculture for a rehearing on the amendments.

Order Amended Sept. 6.

The marketing order was amended Sept. 6 after milk producers voted to raise the price of raw milk. At the same time the major dairies in Chicago advanced the retail price of milk by 1½ cents to 15½ cents a quart, the highest since 1920.

The committee said that the amended order affected only Chicago and its suburbs, while the condenseries to whose paying price the farm price of milk has been tied are not within 100 miles of Chicago. The area within that radius supplies 90 per cent of Chicago's milk.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the committee, said that the 70 mile zone around Chicago set by the marketing order as the area receiving the highest prices for milk, should be extended to 100 miles as an inducement to farmers to ship more of their milk to Chicago.

The report also rapped the Pure Milk association, whose members supply 80 per cent of the milk used in the area. It said that a burden of 3 cents a hundredweight is assessed against independent farmers. This assessment offsets dues paid by PMA members, the report said.

Prices Lower Elsewhere.

A survey of the milk prices of 11 large cities reveals that only the New York City and Miami, Fla., prices of 16 cents a quart top the Chicago price.

Prices of quarts of home delivered milk in other cities follow: Birmingham, Ala., 15 cents; Boston, Mass., 14½ cents; Detroit, Mich., 13; Cleveland, O., 13; Seattle, Wash., 13; Los Angeles, Cal., 12½; Des Moines, Ia., 12; Lincoln, Neb., 11, and Youngstown, O., 13.

ENDS LIFE WITH MONOXIDE GAS.

Davenport, Ia., Sept. 15 [Special].—Lem A. Cooper, 67 years old, of Davenport, ended his life yesterday by inhaling carbon monoxide fumes thru a garden hose attached to the exhaust of his automobile. Among survivors are two Chicago residents, a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Schaefer, and a son, Clyde Cooper.

Day by Day on the Farm

By GAIL COMPTON

Woe Among Sheep.

Sept. 15, 1941.

The fun was provided by Mable, the pet lamb which has the run of one of the farm yards. Mable was a bottle baby from the day of her birth, when her mother died of an udder infection. Since then Mabel has been coddled and petted by all of the farm workers. As a result of this treatment she has foresaken her fellow sheep and spends her time hanging around back doors, begging for a pat or a bottle of milk.

Several weeks ago the flockmaster noticed that she was gaunting and was having trouble walking. He watched her closely and controled her diet. However, Mable became worse until finally she lay down and was unable to get up or eat.

Suffers from Infection.

The flockmaster rushed her to the veterinary for diagnosis. It was found that she was suffering from a bad case of stomach worms. Altho she had been drenched with the rest of the sheep when they were turned out to pasture, the dosage evidently wasn't enough to rid her completely of the pests. They grew until they were sapping her strength.

She was dosed well again and taken home. However, the worms caused a stomach infection and Mable came down with a bad fever. For several days she was forcibly fed and the farm men held little hope for her recovery. Now, however, she is up and about, spry as ever. But the fever took its toll; for Mable has lost her wool.

Ram Dies; Blame Weeds.

Tragedy at the barn was the death of one of the most promising of the young rams. It was from the 1940 lamb crop and because of its size, conformation, and good breeding qualities, it had been placed in a separate pasture with the other prize rams.

The ram was found lying near a fence in the pasture. The other rams it had been traveling with were in good condition and showed no sign of infection. The farm manager believes the ram got hold of some poison weeds, and died before any one spotted his condition. Since the ram died the men have combed the fields, pulling up any weeds that looked dangerous.

A ram lamb and a ewe lamb were found dead in the barn. One died by the watering trough, and the other during the night near the hay mangers. Again the workers suspected poison weeds as the cause. If stomach worms or any other epidemic was affecting the sheep, all of them would show it. However, the rest of the flock seems in good health, so the men feel sure it was some type of weed that did the damage.

FARMERS TO GET MORE FOR MILK SOLD IN AUGUST

Milk producers supplying the Chicago area under the federal marketing order will receive a blend price of $2.19 a hundredweight [46.5 quarts] for all milk delivered during August, A. W. Colebank, acting marketing administrator, said yesterday.

This is a 5 cent increase over the July blend price, and a 46 cent increase over the blend price for August, 1940. The blend price for last month is estimated to be about 9 cents a hundredweight more than the average price paid by condensaries in this area for August milk.

The blend price for August was computed on butter and cheese prices. This method of computation, however, was changed under an amendment to the marketing order approved by the government Sept. 6. The September blend price will be based on the prices being paid by condenseries for their milk. This was done, it was said, to give the producers higher returns and to prevent a shortage of fluid milk in the Chicago area. Such a shortage was envisaged as a result of the higher prices offered by the condenseries. The condensery price has increased because of government shipments of condensed milk to Great Britain under the lease-lend act.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BRITAIN'S OLDEST MAN DIES AT 112; COVERED 3 WARS AS A WRITER

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Britain's oldest man—Alfred Charles Arnold, 112—died today in Liverpool. Arnold, an orphan, first was an operatic singer, a contemporary of Jenny Lind, the Swedish "Nightingale."

Later he took up journalism, touring the world for many newspapers; he was war correspondent in three wars. He spoke French, German, Dutch, Spanish, and Portuguese.

Arnold had lived in a London hospital, but he was removed to Liverpool when Nazi air raiders began assaulting London. He celebrated his 112th birthday two months ago. A student of Yogi, Arnold urged "moderation in all things."

WOMAN KILLED; EX-PARTNER IN BUSINESS HELD

Lewistown, Ill., Sept. 15 (AP).—Mrs. Louis Paul, 58 years old, was shot to death today in front of her home near Bushnell and Sheriff B. E. Cook said Charles Williams, 51, of Avon, a former business partner of her husband, had admitted the slaying.

Cook said that Williams was found in a corn field near Bryant. He had stabbed himself twice, the sheriff said, but the wounds were superficial.

Williams' statement, according to Sheriff Cook, set forth that he found Mrs. Paul at her home and "gave her a chance to come with me. She tried to talk me out of it but I just naturally blowed her head off."

THRIFTY COUPLE PUT 9,000 DIMES AWAY—FOR THIEF

Five years ago Harold Hill, 225 West 59th place, a city electrician, and his wife began saving dimes. Every time they came into possession of a 10 cent coin they tossed it into a miniature safe.

The accumulation grew thru the years until it totaled 9,000 dimes—or $900. The Hills agreed that when they had saved $1,000 in dimes they would deposit it in a bank.

Recently they left the miniature safe with Mrs. Hill's sister, Mrs. Alma Anderson, 5925 Princeton avenue. She hid it in a trunk. Yesterday thieves broke into her apartment, opened the trunk, opened the safe and took the 9,000 dimes.

Joseph Hogan, 26, a salesman who lived at 8508 Carpenter street, died yesterday in the Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when his car struck a safety island at 84th street and Ashland avenue.

James Leonard Ely, 53, a stationary engineer, died Sunday in Valparaiso, Ind., of injuries caused by an automobile collision there on Friday. He lived at 1432 Carmen avenue.

Stanley Cilkowski, 60, of 8913 Muskegon avenue, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad track foreman, died yesterday in the South Chicago hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by an automobile at 90th street and South Chicago avenue. The driver was Martie Greenston, 49, of 4201 Ellis avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 662 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 458 were killed in Chicago, where 17,682 were injured in the same period.

MEXICO PUSHES PAN-AMERICAN HIGHWAY PLAN

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 15 (AP).—Undersecretary of Communications Vincente Cortes Herrera today addressed the American highway and Inter-American Travel congresses. Hundreds of delegates from the United States, Latin America and Canada heard him declare that Mexicans will never be satisfied until the Pan-American highway is completed.

The Pan-American network of highways, Cortes Herrera added, must eventually link the most remote regions of this hemisphere.

The congresses opened their sessions with a joint ceremony in the national palace of fine arts after welcoming addresses by Cortes Herrera and Prof. Rafael Medina Betancourt of the immigration department. Interior Minister Miguel Aleman represented President Avila Camacho.

FIVE CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYES FIRED BY STATE COMMISSION

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15 (AP).—The Illinois civil service commission today upheld charges of undue political activity against five state civil service employés, the first group to be dismissed since Gov. Dwight H. Green recently announced similar charges were being prepared against several thousand employés claimed to have been active in recent Democratic election campaigns.

At the same time the civil service commission ordered two other suspended employés reinstated. They were Bernice E. Herreid, Decatur, and Edna Bonwell, Lewiston, both public health nurses employed by the health department.

The five dismissed on political activity charges were: Mrs. Jessie Hirshfield, woman attendant at the Joliet prison; Edgar Williford, Decatur, field agent of the division of parolees' supervision; Charles E. Traylor, Springfield, sales tax division clerk; Sadie H. Gray, Anna, hospital attendant, and Edna Kelly, Springfield, clerk in the division of vital statistics.

For $265, He Now Has Only 12 Pieces of Glass to Show

Twelve sparkling, tiny pieces of glass were all Max Fox had to show last night for $265. Fox, owner of a grocery at 4700 Drexel boulevard, met up yesterday with three strangers, one of whom said he was a refugee. The refugee produced the pieces of glass which he said were diamonds worth $600 each. He'd sell them at a loss because he needed the money, he said. Fox bought them for $265.

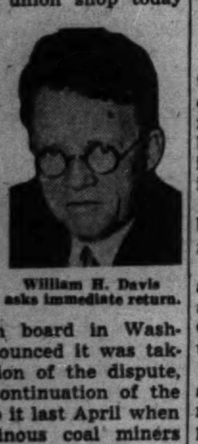
STRIKE CLOSES COAL MINES OF STEEL MAKERS

CIO Calls 40,000 Out for Union Shop.



William H. Davis asks immediate return.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP). — A CIO strike for a union shop today closed more than 30 "captive" mines by seven big steel companies, cutting off coal supplies to mills which have been running full blast producing steel for tanks, ships, guns, and other war materials.

A few hours later the National Defense Mediation board in Washington, D. C., announced it was taking over jurisdiction of the dispute, considering it a continuation of the dispute certified to it last April when all of the bituminous coal miners were on strike.

The captive mines, which produce coal exclusively for their parent companies and not for the open market, had been permitted to reopen by the union pending completion of a new contract after an agreement was reached with the commercial mine operators.

Asks Resumption of Work.

William H. Davis, chairman of the mediation board, asked John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers [CIO], and presidents of the various companies to have work resumed immediately. He said the board would consider the dispute in conjunction with mediation of a disagreement between operators and the union in Alabama.

It was announced that several of the biggest figures in the steel industry had been summoned to a mediation board hearing in Washington on Wednesday. They included Tom M. Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel corporation of Cleveland, O.; Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel corporation, Bethlehem, Pa.; Benjamin Fairless, president of United States Steel corporation, New York City, and Ernest T. Weir, chairman of Weirton Steel company, Weirton, W. Va.

A board spokesman said hearings last week on the captive mines in Alabama had shown it was necessary to call the steel executives themselves.

Termed Matter of Policy.

"It became evident to the board that the position of the steel companies on the union shop question was a matter of policy," he said, "and that the only persons competent to negotiate were the persons who made the policy."

Unofficially the operators said they would be willing to have work resumed during the negotiations.

Since many mills have sufficient coal reserves for only three to six weeks' operation, a prolonged strike might seriously hamper arms production. Normal coal stocks were sharply curtailed by the April mine shutdown and by capacity mill operations.

U. M. W. officials who called the strike after the collapse of union shop negotiations, reported that more than 40,000 miners had halted work, including 20,000 in western Pennsylvania, 12,000 in West Virginia, 4,300 in Kentucky and an unestimated number in Tennessee.

[Unaffected by the strike, operations were continued at mines near Danville, Ill., operated by the United States Coal and Coke company, subsidiary of United States Steel.]

Seven Companies Involved.

Coal from the captive mines is used solely by the parent corporation, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Weirton, Wheeling, Crucible and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Unaffected by the strike were the commercial mines, which sell their output on the open market, and captive mines operated by railroads, utilities and the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, which have signed contracts granting the union shop.

In Washington, Lewis told reporters he hoped the strike could be confined to the companies which own the struck pits in five states, but pointedly indicated that the UMW had strike power it could use on a bigger scale.

Lewis recalled that the 1941 Appalachian contract negotiated by the union and the commercial operators gave the union the right to strike

Drive to Avert National Rail Strike Begins in Chicago Today

The first of a series of public hearings in an attempt to head off the threatened nation-wide railroad strike will begin before the President's emergency fact finding commission today in Kimball hall, Wayne L. Morse, chairman of the commission, announced yesterday.

The commission chose Chicago as the place for the hearings after a conference in the Palmer House. Morse said the commission might hold executive sessions in Washington, D. C., later if it required access to files of the Interstate Commerce commission and other government departments, but he expressed doubt that this step would be necessary.

Decide on Procedure.

The next question to be decided by the commission will be one of procedure—the order in which testimony from the unions and the carriers will be heard and the order in which the issues of wage increases and changes in working rules are to be studied.

Morse said these questions would be settled in time for the hearing to get under way on schedule.

Each side in the controversy will be asked to make an opening statement and outline what is proposes to prove. Counsel for the unions will be called upon first, Morse said.

Late yesterday counsel for the roads and the unions presented oral arguments before the commission on legal points relating to inclusion of express companies in the fact finding study.

The commission will conduct hearings from 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. daily except Sunday, Morse announced. In addition the commission will hold executive sessions each night except Sunday in an effort to speed up the proceedings.

"We expect to be here about a month," Morse said last night.

Morse also announced that the commission will move its headquarters today to the Stevens hotel from the Palmer House.

Groups Postpone Strikes.

The nonoperating and operating groups both had ordered strikes and then announced indefinite postponements. The strike orders, which were issued after the national mediation board had failed to settle the wage dispute, affect about 1,200,000 men. The roads rejected the union's demand for wage boosts. The nonoperating unions asked increases of 30 cents an hour; the operating brotherhoods a 30 per cent boost.

The fact finding commission has 30 days in which to make its study and report to President Roosevelt. Under the law, the unions then must wait another 30 days before putting the strike into effect.

SPEEDY ACCORD SOUGHT.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, arrived in Chicago yesterday to meet with the fact finding commission appointed by President Roosevelt to hear evidence in connection with union requests for pay increases. He asserted that "the character and capacity of the men who compose the commission are evidence of the recognition of the need for quick and reasonable settlement of this vital matter."

ROOSEVELT SAID:

(Jan 3, 1936)

"Peace is threatened by those who seek selfish power. The world has witnessed similar eras—as in the days when petty kings and feudal barons were changing the map of Europe every fortnight, or when great emperors and great kings were engaged in a mad scramble for colonial empire.

"We hope we are not again at the threshold of such an era. But if face it we must, then the United States and the rest of the Americas can play but one role:

"Thru a well ordered neutrality to do naught to encourage the contest, thru adequate defense to save ourselves from embroilment and attack, and thru example and all legitimate encouragement to persuade other nations to return to the ways of peace and good will."

SEEK 1½ BILLION DOLLAR BOOST IN RFC BORROWING

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—The administration moved today to increase the borrowing power of the Reconstruction Finance corporation by 1½ billion dollars in anticipation of a further stepping up of the arms program.

Chairman Henry B. Steagall [D., Ala], of the house banking committee, who introduced a bill to authorize the increase, said hearings would be held tomorrow with Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, as the first witness.

"The defense program is tremendous and expanding," Steagall said, "and the RFC wants to be prepared to meet any contingency."

The bill would also exempt from customs duties materials purchased in connection with the arms program which the federal loan administrator certifies are "strategic or critical."

Pipe Line Carrying Gas to Chicago Mills Broken

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation last night reported that a flood in Nebraska had broken pipe lines carrying natural gas to the Chicago mills. The break will not reduce ingot production and is expected to be repaired by tomorrow, officials said. Only the 89th street plant will be effected.

THREE RAILROADS TO REDUCE TRAIN RUNS TO FLORIDA

Beginning Dec. 17 three railroads will cut down their daily train departures from Chicago to Florida from eleven to four in order to conserve transportation facilities, it was learned yesterday. The reduction is expected to free more trains for possible troop and other armament program uses.

Coöperating in the plan are the Pennsylvania, Illinois Central, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois lines. Duplicating and overlapping runs will be eliminated. Under the arrangement agreed upon there will be two forenoon departures, one evening departure, and a near-midnight departure.

Each of the roads will run a midnight departure each night, but will rotate services on the three other runs. For example, the Pennsylvania will run a 9 a. m. train one day, the Illinois Central will run a 9 a. m. train the next day, and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois a 9 a. m. train the third day, and so on. Tickets will be interchangeable. The three roads adopted the coöperative rotating plan last December with the Southwind, City of Miami, and Dixie Flagler, coach trains. The plan was so successful it was continued thru the summer, and forms the foundation upon which the new schedules this winter are to be based.

FINAL VERSION OF CORPORATE TAX INDICATED

House Group Agrees to Senate Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—The conference report of the senate and house conferees on the new tax bill disclosed today that the house members had agreed generally to senate revisions in corporation taxes. This made it likely that the final version of the act will provide the following:

Incorporation of the 10 per cent "defense tax" in the regular corporation tax rates.

In the case of corporations having net incomes of $25,000 or less, the rates under existing law [including the defense tax] are graduated as follows: 14.85 per cent on normal tax net income not in excess of $5,000; 16.5 per cent on the portion of such net incomes of $25,000 or less the 000; and 18.7 per cent on the excess over $20,000. The senate integrated the defense tax to make the rates 15, 17, and 19 per cent respectively.

Offer Alternate Methods.

For corporations with net income above $25,000 the alternative rate is the lesser amount of 24 per cent of the total net income or $4,250 plus 37 per cent of the net income in excess of $25,000. The defense tax is also integrated with the normal taxes on resident foreign corporations and on mutual investment companies and with the surtax on corporations improperly accumulating surplus.

A corporate surtax is also imposed on all corporations, including insurance companies and excepting nonresident foreign corporations and mutual investment companies, at the rate of 6 per cent on the first $25,000 of surtax net income and 7 per cent on the remainder.

"Corporation surtax net income" is defined as net income minus the credit for dividends received. The dividends received credit is limited to 85 per cent of the net income.

Hits Interest Exemptions.

No credit for interest on partially tax exempt government obligations is allowable in computing surtax net income. The main purpose of the surtax is to levy on income from partially tax exempt obligations.

The present bill also eliminates the house proposed special excess profits tax of 10 per cent in certain cases where the invested capital credit is used. Both the senate and house agreed to return to the 1918 rule that income taxes, both in the base period and in the taxable year, cannot be deducted in computing the excess profits tax. The deduction is allowable, however, in computing both the normal tax and the surtax. Under existing law deduction of income tax has been allowed in computing the excess profits tax.

Boost Excess Profit Rates.

The excess profits tax rates are raised by 10 percentage points over the existing rates, making the new rates 35 to 60 per cent of what are considered "excess profits" under alternative methods of computation.

The rate of the capital stock tax is increased from $1.10 to $1.25 per $1,000 of adjusted declared value. Declaration of capital stock value is permitted annually instead of every three years in recognition of the probable effect of priorities on business and the difficulty of estimating future income.

The issuing discount on certain short-term federal, state and local government obligations issued on or after March 1, 1941, cannot be deemed to accrue until such obligations are paid at maturity, sold, or otherwise disposed of. This means capital gain or loss on such obligations is determined only in the taxable year in which it s disposed of. The amendment is applicable to taxable years ending after Feb. 28, 1941.

Let 35 Million Order for 14 Cargo Vessels

A $35,208,000 contract for construction of 14 cargo vessels of a modified C-2 type has been awarded to the Gulf Shipbuilding corporation, Mobile, Ala., the Maritime commission announced yesterday at Washington.

First of the new vessels, which will cost $2,520,000 each, will be delivered Sept. 1, 1942, and the last on Dec. 31, 1943. The C-2 model has an overall length of 459 feet, a breadth of 63 feet and weight of 8,656 tons.

The new vessels are to be part of the additional 566 merchant ships sought by the commission under its expanded construction program.

Gets Brazil Oven Job.

The Koppers company reported at Pittsburgh it has received a 3 million dollar contract for construction of a complete by-product coke plant for the Brazilian National Steel company at Volta Redonda, near Rio de Janeiro. The plant will include 55 Becker type coke ovens.

The war department announced Defense Plant corporation lease agreements have been signed with the Weatherhead company, Cleveland, $1,018,200 for facilities to manufacture aircraft fittings, and with the Holley Carburetor company, Detroit, $661,415 for additional facilities to manufacture aircraft carburetors.

Army Orders Clothing.

Among other contracts announced by the war department were: William G. Leininger Knitting company, Mohnton, Pa., $479,704, wool socks; Progressive Coat and Apron Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, $407,725, trousers; International Shoe company, St. Louis, $337,221, boots.

Among rearmament awards to Chicago companies were the following: General Electric X-ray corporation, X-ray equipment, $128,783, and Guiberson Diesel Engine company, parts for tanks, $19,183.

The Louisville and Nashville railroad announced the purchase of eight new Diesel-electric passenger locomotives—first of the sort ever to be used by the road—and 14 new steam freight engines. The total cost of both types is approximately $5,500,000.

FILLING STATION GROUP URGES CURFEW ON GAS

A resolution asking a 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. gasoline sales curfew in the midwest states was passed yesterday by the board of directors of the Gasoline Retailers Association of Metropolitan Chicago and a copy mailed to B. L. Majewski, Chicago, chairman of Oil Coördinator Harold L. Ickes' midwest district petroleum marketing committee.

The resolution asked the curfew, not because of any oil shortage in the area, but from the standpoint of economy. Association officials declared the action would also save electric power and materials for armament production.

PRICE OF ANTHRACITE RAISED IN DEFIANCE TO HENDERSON'S BAN

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP).—In defiance of a price-freezing order by Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, Pennsylvania anthracite producers today boosted prices 15 cents a ton at the mine.

The eight major hard coal producers notified Henderson last Friday that they could not accede to his order fixing prices at the Aug. 15 level. They said the price increase was necessary to meet wage advances granted miners in the present union-management contract.

Anthracite is primarily used for domestic purposes.

Declare U. S. Pork Figures Conceal Facts

The department of agriculture figures released last week, showing that the United States had the largest reserve supply of pork and pork products since 1934, did not tell the full story of the actual situation, Chicago meat packing officials asserted yesterday.

Packers said the government actually controls almost a fourth of these reserves. These holdings, they said, are not available for American consumption. They estimated that more than 100 million pounds of the reserves would go to England and other countries receiving lease-lend aid.

The department's figures showed 482,992,000 pounds of pork in storage, of which federal agencies owned 12,938,000 pounds.

The meat experts asserted that while these storage stocks are the largest since 1934, they are still more than 25 per cent below the five-year 1929 to 1933 average—called a representative period by the meat industry.

They said that since 1934 reserves have fluctuated violently as the administration experimented killing off little pigs, crop control and price control. Meantime the farmers had to contend with several drouth years that caused additional artificial marketing situations, packers said.

Of total pork reserves of 482,992,000 pounds, they estimated between 90 and 100 million pounds has been contracted for by the government with lease-lend funds. It owns the 12,938,000 pounds shown in the report. Currently it is buying 20 to 30 per cent of pork production. Recent purchases have run from 13 to 15 million pounds weekly.

Will Speed Up Buying.

Beginning Nov. 1 as the fall hog marketing gets under way, the department has announced it will step up its purchases considerably. It has already bought close to 183 million pounds of fresh and frozen pork and more than 110 million pounds of canned pork, costing altogether more than $90,000,000, it has been estimated.

The direct result of these government purchases has been a 78 per cent increase in live hog prices since this same time last year, the packers said. The average price paid for hogs in Chicago yesterday was $11.15 a hundred pounds. A year ago the average was $6.25.

Pork production this year is expected to be 12 per cent larger than in 1940 and the department has asked for a 25 per cent increase over the 1936-1940 average.

KNOWLSON WILL BE OPM DEPUTY PRIORITIES HEAD

The job with the Office of Production Management which James Knowlson, president of Stewart-Warner corporation, Chicago, is slated to get is that of deputy director of OPM's priorities division, an OPM official disclosed yesterday in Washington, D. C.

The official said Knowlson, not yet formally appointed, would take the job at the personal request of Donald M. Nelson, another Chicagoan who is the new director of the priorities division. The "salary" will be $1 a year. Knowlson will succeed Thomas B. McCabe, president and chairman of Scott Paper company.

McCabe held the post under E. R. Stettinius Jr., Nelson's predecessor who is the new lease-lend administrator. Stettinius asked McCabe to become his lease-lend assistant, and it was reported McCabe will accept.

OPM FORECASTS 1942 SHORTAGE OF PAPER GOODS

Sees Potential Lack of 5 Million Tons.

A potential shortage of 5 million tons of paper products in 1942 was reported yesterday by Norbert A. McKenna, chief of the pulp and paper section of the Office of Production Management. His estimate was based on a demand and supply analysis made at the direction of the Supply Allocations and Priorities board.

He presented the analysis at the general industry meeting at the opening of the three day fall convention of the National Paper Trade association of the United States in the Stevens hotel. Officials of the paper merchant group asserted that attendance of more than 400 members was the largest since the days when NRA regulations were an industry problem.

Admits It's Just a Guess.

McKenna said that total demand from both government and private sources next year was estimated at 26 million tons of paper products and that the industry can produce 21 million tons, including Canadian newsprint and using all available capacity.

He said it was difficult to forecast military demand, but that the estimate included in total demand was computed by projecting current military consumption by multiplying it one and a half times. The factor of 1½ times was used, he explained, because arms spending is now at the rate of one billion dollars a month and is expected to rise to 1½ billions by the middle of next year.

To overcome the anticipated shortage in paper goods of all kinds, McKenna urged the paper industry to standardize its products, conserve supplies, and reduce the amount of pulp going into the same amount of paper.

Calls Government Wasteful.

In reply to a question from the audience as to whether the army and navy are disturbing the paper market, McKenna said it was true that these services "frequently buy too much." He also agreed with another comment that the government wastes paper. He said that the government "was, is, and will be the most profligate user of everything."

McKenna is vice president and a director of the United States Plywood corporation. He was formerly a general partner in Eastman, Dillon & Co., New York security house.

As the first step in his program for self-rule of the paper industry he appointed a 10 man advisory committee to offer his OPM section rules of practice for the paper merchant group.

Warns of Burocratic Rule.

"Industries have been aborted and distorted by priorities," McKenna said. "We see priorities unemployment spreading in the country. The paper industry has a chance to avoid this. You can adjust yourself to the preparation for war with a minimum of disturbance. Our OPM section is dedicated to save the 60,000 proprietorships and the 800,000 jobs in the paper industry.

"We desire to leave the administration of industry to itself and keep government interference at a minimum. Business can do the job better than government. The alternative is allocations, priorities, and burocratic control."

At a meeting of the National Paper Box Manufacturers association at the Drake hotel, McKenna told the set-up paper box manufacturers they would have to cut their use of paper box board 35 per cent.

PROVIDING INVESTMENT CAPITAL To The Pacific Coast States

SINCE the days of the colorful Forty-Niners, the Pacific Coast States have drawn heavily—both in population and financial resources—from older sections to the east, for development of their natural advantages.

To recognized attractions of climate, soil and location of these States has come, in recent years, recognition of their great industrial potentialities—to meet their own expanding needs and those of new world markets to which they are a natural gateway.

In this development, calling for greatly expanded transportation, utilities, manufacturing plants and municipal facilities, the investment banker has rendered a necessary and useful service.

WOBBLY STOCK LIST ENDS DULL DAY ABOUT EVEN

Prices Mixed as Volume Slips Under 500,000.

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—An assortment of specialties managed to hold gains of fractions to around a point in today's stock market, but numerous leaders finished with minus signs. Weakness in commodities slowed buying.

Of 692 issues traded, 248 were up, 223 down and 221 unchanged. Transfers of 463,850 shares compared with 519,170 last Friday.

While international developments were without any especially depressing effect marketwise, brokers said, many customers remained aloof pending shifts at Washington expected with the reassembling of congress. The business outlook remained moderately encouraging.

Western Union edged into new high ground for 1941, along with Postal Telegraph preferred, on the report a senate committee had tentatively recommended the merger of these communications systems.

Food Stocks Advance.

Wilson & Co. and California Packing also made new tops for the year and Cudahy and Armour tilted forward on the belief that mounting food prices might help these concerns. Deere established a new peak and International Harvester and Oliver Farm improved. Heavier armament requirements bolstered such aircrafts as Douglas, Glenn Martin, Sperry and Aviation corporation.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors and Chrysler were unchanged. A trifle lower were United States Rubber, Anaconda, Consolidated Edison, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, General Electric and International Nickel. Du Pont and Eastman Kodak lost a point or so each.

CHICAGO PRICES FIRM.

Prices were irregularly higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 20,000 shares. Of 93 issues traded, 39 advanced, 19 declined, and 35 closed unchanged.

New 1941 highs were reached by Serrick corporation, up ⅛ to ⅝, and Midland Utilities 7 per cent prior lien, up ⅝ to 17⅝. Volume leaders were Aviation corporation, 1,650 shares, unchanged at 4¼; Libby, McNeill & Libby, 1,500 shares, up ⅛ to 5⅝; Armour & Co., 1,500 shares, up ⅛ to 4⅝; Commonwealth Edison, 850 shares, up ⅛ to 25⅝, and Standard Dredging common, 750 shares, off ⅛ to 2⅝.

Commodities

Cotton futures fell 90 cents to $1.05 a bale yesterday. Current high prices were said to have increased the volume of selling in the south, and indications were that mills would await the effect on futures of hedging in volume before adding to raw supplies.

Cottonseed oil closed 0.10 to 0.11 cent a pound lower. Liquidation dominated world sugar futures and closing prices were 0.005 to 0.02½ cent a pound lower. Domestic sugar was moderately higher.

Trading in rubber futures was resumed yesterday after a suspension since Aug. 13. Dealings on the commodity exchange were resumed for the purpose of liquidating open contracts.

STATE CHAMBER ASKS PRIORITIES 'RULE OF REASON'

Warns of Bankruptcy in Lend-Lease Policies.

Use of the "rule of reason" in administering priorities was demanded by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce yesterday in an editorial in the October issue of its publication, Illinois Journal of Commerce. Altho there is no lack of unity in the United States as to the necessity for preparedness, there is "a lack of unity of opinion as to what constitutes national defense and as to ways and means to create it," according to Carlton G. Ferris, executive vice president of the chamber, and author of the editorial.

"The question of priorities involves the future welfare of industry in the entire country," the editorial declared.

Fears Upsetting Economy.

"Adoption of any policy which does not involve some rule of reason will throw our domestic economy out of balance, with resulting losses not only to manufacturers, employés, and stockholders, but to every distributor, retailer, wholesaler, every type of government which relies on taxes for its support, and to every citizen."

The editorial asserted "there is no need for imposing priorities based on the theory of unlimited capacity production two or three years from now." This was not done in the last war, and "common sense would seem to indicate that the imposition of priorities should be reasonably progressive and adjusted to current conditions," the editorial continued.

"Situation Demands Protest."

The publication urged "every citizen" to express his views on this subject to his senator and representative in the belief that no legislator "can stand up under a degree of protest that apparently this situation demands."

The editorial fired a broadside at administration lease-lend policies, asserting:

"Our people are beginning to realize that if this policy is persisted in on an all-out basis, it may eventuate not only in total bankruptcy but the destruction of the type of government under which we have lived. As a result many of our citizens are wondering whether the cure is not worse than the disease."

CANDY KITCHEN BUILDING BOUGHT BY MRS. SNYDER

Mrs. Ora Snyder yesterday bought the seven story building at 119-21 North Wabash avenue which her candy store and kitchens have occupied for 19 years. According to revenue stamps on the deed filed at the recorder's office the price paid the George Watson estate was $175,000. The sale was negotiated by Dibblee & Manierre.

The property, 24 by 163, has a fully assessed 1939 quadrennial valuation of $192,087. Originally an office building, it was entirely remodeled when Mrs. Snyder occupied it in 1922. Five years ago she installed an air conditioning system. Today she employs 300 in her candy kitchens. She also occupies under lease an entire upper floor in the Ontra building adjoining at 123-25 North Wabash.

FOREIGN ISSUES RISE IN UNEVEN BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—(AP)—Except for a small group of strong foreign dollar issues, price changes in today's bond market were small and the trend mixed.

Trading was at the slowest pace since June 2 at $4,282,700, par value, compared with $5,411,450 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 10 foreign issues attained a new 1941 high of 50.5, up .7 of a point. It was the fourth time in a week this group had pushed into new high levels.

United States Governments lost a little ground on both the stock exchange and over the counter.

RAW SILK.

Has the OPM relaxed its order which froze raw silk stocks? We are silk processors and are now out of thrown silk which we had on hand when the order came thru.

Answer: Raw silk which had been taken out of original bales before midnight, Aug. 2 has been released for immediate processing, under a modification of the silk freezing order issued last week by Donald M. Nelson, priorities director.

As prescribed in the order, the owner of the silk must request the release of the silk from Frank Walton, chief of the textile branch, Office of Production Management, Social Security building, Washington, D. C.

"We hereby request the release from priority order M-22 of [quantity] pounds of raw silk which we own and which is held in our plant opened and awaiting shipment. We certify that this raw silk was taken out of original bales prior to Aug. 2, 1941, and has already been reported to OPM on form PD No. 78 under the heading "broken bales" as being held subject to its order. Further we certify this quantity is not in excess of our average normal quantity which we open and get ready for processing at one time."

The modification of the original freezing order was made, according to Nelson, because of the arrival of additional silk which had been in transit when the order was imposed. He explained that it is difficult to repack silk into bales and be certain of its desirability for military uses.

Raw silk in original bales will not be released except for sale to the Defense Supplies corporation or on military orders. However, the OPM is considering the release of low grades or special grades not suitable for military needs.

RAYON POOL RELEASED.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—The Office of Production Management announced plans today for release to manufacturers of the pool of rayon yarn which it built up to relieve cases of undue hardship resulting from the stoppage order on the processing of raw silk. The silk substitution section of OPM announced that manufacturers who can prove they are entitled to relief from this source will now be able to receive rayon yarn. It was emphasized, however, that manufacturers who are able to get their fair proportion of rayon thru regular trade channels would not be permitted to share in the pool.

PRIORITIES EXPLANATION.

Are copies available of talks and explanations given by priorities officials before business or other groups?

Answer: Transcripts of the lectures by priorities officials are not always published. However, you may obtain a copy of the recent conference of priorities officials and trade magazine and newspaper writers by inquiring at the Division of Information, Room 5525, Social Security building, Washington, D. C.

MINE REVOLT GROWS

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP).—While Mayor James P. Costello stood ready to declare a state of emergency should violence threaten, rank and file United Mine Workers of America in revolt against increased dues spread their work stoppage today to two more collieries. About 16,000 hard coal miners have joined in the movement or have been forced into idleness since the protest started last Tuesday.

The action has halted operations at every colliery in this area. Two major ones attempted to reopen today but a motorcade from Panther Valley rolled thru the section and not enough men showed up to permit operation. It marked the third time the insurgents have defied orders from their district union officials.

CIO Calls Steel Strike.

Watervliet, N. Y., Sept. 15 (AP).—The CIO called a strike at the Allegheny Ludlum Steel company plant today, protesting dismissal of three union members. Union spokesmen said 300 to 500 of the company's 1,000 employés joined in a walkout. A company representative estimated that 90 per cent of its production was for armaments.

Act in Bendix Dispute.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15 (AP).—The national defense mediation board took jurisdiction today over a threatened strike involving 7,000 employés of the Bendix Aviation corporation at South Bend, Ind., and asked that no interruption in production take place pending hearings starting Sept. 22.

The strike was set for tomorrow by the CIO United Auto Workers. The main issue, a board spokesman said, was the alleged replacement by the company of male workers with women at lower pay rates.

End 36 Day Strike.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 15 (AP).—A 36 day strike at the L. O. Koven & Brother, Inc., boiler works, which has navy contracts, ended today with signing of a working agreement by the company and an AFL union calling for a wage increase of 5 cents an hour.

5,000 Girls Uncle Jimmy's 'Guests' on His Birthday

More than 5,000 girls in some 200 cities yesterday participated in the celebration of the 85th birthday of "Uncle Jimmy" Tyson, first bookkeeper and auditor of the Walgreen company, now retired. For the 10th consecutive year, "Uncle Jimmy" invited all Walgreen girl employés from coast to coast to have luncheon at his expense. At his first birthday party in 1932, 50 girls attended.

ROLLER BEARINGS.

I'd like a report on Timken Roller Bearing. Have sales and profits expanded with national rearmament? Is there any connection with Timken-Detroit Axle?—A. J. C.

Answer: The Timken Roller Bearing company is the country's major manufacturer of tapered roller bearings and related parts. A large part of output is taken by the automotive industry, but railroads, the paper and steel industries and manufacturers of machine tools, industrial machinery and agricultural implements also use this company's bearings extensively. A rock bit used in building and mining also is an important phase of manufacture.

The company was incorporated in Ohio in 1904 as the Timken Roller Bearing Axle company and the present title was adopted in 1909. At that time, the axle business was taken over by the Timken-Detroit Axle company, which was formed to handle that business. There is now no direct corporate connection between the two companies.

Plants are at Canton, Gambrinus, Columbus, Wooster, and Mount Vernon, Ohio. The main office is at Canton.

In 1940 Timken began work on precision parts for airplane engines and for gun mounts on ships and tanks as part of its participation in the national arms program. In June this year the company announced additional projects which would increase its expansion program to about $6,000,000. It also was announced earlier that plants were operating at maximum or near maximum levels. Timken can produce a large part of the steel for its products.

Profit for the first half of 1941 dipped to $4,653,635, equal to $1.93 a common share, from $4,996,546, or $2.07, in the 1940 period. Federal income and excess profits tax provisions and a reserve to cover possible tax increases for the first six months of this year amounted to nearly $8,250,000, compared with estimated taxes of $7,977,815 for all of last year.

After a loss in 1932, net income climbed steadily to $10,837,366 in 1937, dropped sharply to $1,427,903 the next year, then regained to $7,287,911 in 1939. Last year's profit was $8,995,211. Sales have recovered from the 1938 slump, rising from $24,457,766 in that year to $40,056,511 in 1939 and $59,067,026 in 1940.

Capitalization consists of 2,415,380 shares of no par common stock outstanding. Dividends have been paid regularly for many years, with $2 paid so far in 1941. At the end of last year, total assets were more than $56,375,000 and net working capital more than $27,000,000.

URGES MARKETS BE KEPT INTACT AS PRICE MEDIUM

O'Brien Offers Post-War Grain Export Plan.

Toledo, O., Sept. 15 (AP).—Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, urged today that grain marketing practices developed thru the years, including the futures market, should be retained and strengthened to guard against the evils of price fixing.

In a speech before the convention of the Grain and Feed Dealer's National association here, O'Brien outlined a plan for movement abroad of domestic surpluses "when peace comes" thru a system of direct compensation to exporters for losses they would sustain by buying crops from United States farmers at American prices and selling them abroad at low world prices. This compensation, he said, could come from custom receipts.

Favors Reciprocal Trade.

"I believe that in return to the countries who purchase our export commodities we should permit them to export to us certain items which would allow them to secure the exchange to meet their payments for our commodities. Such a plan would go a long way in retaining world peace and in adjusting farm income to well over what it is now."

"The government has had temporarily to assume a rôle of speculator and investor in grains and in some other farm products," he said, "in order to bring about improved farmer income.

"Primarily, this has caused the lack of liquidity in our markets. It has forced out of business many of our firms and members.

Markets Face Destruction.

"But I do not want to be misunderstood. For I believe that the 85 per cent nonrecourse loan has been a Godsend to our farmers in this emergency, with the loss of export markets thru war and with enormous surpluses at hand.

"The cruel fact, nevertheless, remains, that the futures markets stand on the brink of destruction, not by reason of any desire of the government or farm leaders, but simply as a consequence of the turn of events."

O'Brien said that to continue holding grain surpluses, increasing them, struggling to prevent them from destroying the whole price structure is, in a sense, "only delaying the fatal day."

SOY BEAN PRICES EASE AS RECORD HARVEST NEARS

Liquidation and stop loss sales orders started the soy bean market on the downgrade yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Prices declined about 4 cents before short covering and scattered buying was able to stem the downward movement. The market failed to show the activity which has prevailed recently, closing at losses of 3⅛ to 3¼ cents, with December at $1.85.

The shadow of the approaching harvest of the new soy bean crop was said to have fallen over the market. Reports from central Illinois said that the new crop is maturing rapidly, with some fields about ready for harvest.

Trading in wheat futures was light, with futures finishing unchanged to ⅜ cent lower. Corn declined ⅝ to ⅞ cent, with September closing at 5¼ cents under December, while No. 2 yellow in the spot market sold at 3 to 3½ cents under September price. Oats were unchanged to ⅜ cent lower, and rye was ⅛ to ¾ cent lower.
